Coming from the city of the weird exploring topics from the esoteric and unexplored, two dimensions unknown, shining a light of truth on the darkest corners of our reality. Welcome to the curious realm Well, hello, everybody and welcome to episode 44 of curious realm, Chris Jordan here coming at you in live tonight. Sorry about the pre recorded episode last week, folks. On occasion I am at a town for work doing corporate events or out visiting clients or out actively recording stuff on location at festivals. This last week, I was actively preparing to I had just had oral surgery on Monday. So get the pre record because I knew my mouth would be like Phantom of the Opera swollen for three days, which it was and then Saturday, I moved. So welcome to the whole new studio. Yeah. That's what I'm looking for. Right there is my applause. Yes, the whole new studio everybody. Welcome. We have the knowledge vault here behind us full of all the guest books hundreds and hundreds of books. With that is Jesse James. And the last Templar treasure. That is our first guest this evening, Daniel J. Duke will be joining us after the top of the show tidbits to talk about how he came to find out that he was a long lost relative of the famous outlaw, Jesse James. And not only that, but Jesse James did not die. According to his research the way that history tells us that he did. In addition to that he may have had connections with people that knew where the Templar treasure was. So we will be getting into those topics in the first segment. Then after our commercial break, we will be coming back for our second segment, which is always our pre recorded guest. We do that so that you get a little bit of different stuff. Not everybody is available to make it on a Tuesday night, especially as it goes late for the East Coast. In addition to that, it's hard for me to technically make the juggle in between things. So make sure that everything gets pulled up properly. As I like to tell people all the time in the live event world. Yes, we can pull rabbits out of hats all day. But eventually, either the rabbit or the hat will not work. And hopefully it's the hat when you're in front of the children. So with all the technical issues, we have gone to pre recorded guests in the second segment, our second segment will be the great and amazing Dr. Robert Duncan. Tonight, talking about the recent revelations in the world of Havana syndrome, the CIA doctor that has actively come down with symptoms of the syndrome that he was researching. He is now officially the first civilian casualty until this point, everybody with official Havana syndrome, as it is now known has been us ambassadors. There was some scuttlebutt originally about maybe some of their kids or relatives who had come to visit them had experienced things, but not into the realm of soft tissue brain damage, like the actual sufferers of Havana syndrome have experienced and of course, as the eyes across the globe, targeted individuals, folks, T eyes. People who say that they are targeted by mass stalking means digital electronics, satellite weaponry, microwave weaponry, which we now know actively exist for years, much like hypersonic technology. The government was like, oh, no, no, no, no, no, we don't we don't play with things like that. We don't nope, sorry. We have them. They're there. They actively exist. And now because of things like Havana syndrome, they have to actively admit that they exist. So interesting little tidbit there. We will be getting into a lot of targeting technologies, including technologies of being able to program dreams communicate with dreamers. What is the next subliminal image that you'll see? Is it actively on a TV commercial? Or embedded in a podcast you're listening to by curious realm? Or or you know, is it in your dream so we'll be talking about that with the amazing Robert Duncan, author of How to tame a demon in the second part. Right now let's head on over to the Facebook group. And check out our News of the Week News of the Week is of course, always brought to you by the Facebook group. Curious realms stop on by joining the conversation. Over 1000 members there we post articles, we have conversations about them. It's fantastic. I'd have daily started at UK quote virtual children to replace real kids by 2015. And, quote, help with overpopulation. out of finance.yahoo.com want fries with that robot makes french fries faster and better than human beings do? That one's pretty, pretty wild, to go and watch that video at a space.com Super Earths are far more common and more habitable than Earth. astronomers are finding finding more of the billions of them out there. There's an actual picture of the studio. That is the knowledge vault is it was completed the other day out of collider.com actor Bruce Willis becomes the first celebrity to sell his rights to deep fake firm now, now granted, a he has come out and said I didn't do that. I don't know what you're talking about. But here recently, the great and amazing James Earl Jones sold the rights to his voice as Darth Vader to an AI firm into Disney. So until the end of time and Star Wars as we know it, James Earl Jones will always be the voice of Darth Vader where whether he is alive on earth or not. That, that that's some pretty wild stuff when you think about it, you know, and to we said for a long time, probably even back when we were doing some beer. That's that's over five years ago now. That the Adobe software that if you had 20 minutes uninterrupted of somebody speaking, you would you would be able to type anything on a keyboard and it would just say in their voice that a it was going to be deep fakes be it would change contracts in Hollywood as we know it. Because at that point, I get guaranteed every single actor out there has gone and done ADR you know, like after edit restorations where you go in and you overdub your own lines over the scene, because they're street level noises going on things like that. So all the major actors have at least 20 minutes of their voice recorded. And and for at that point, you could literally go out and go you know what I want James Cagney to to appear in my movie for 20 minutes. And you write his script and you put it through the software and James Cagney is now a voice actor in your movie. It's It's pretty wild technology. It's out there. It has become incredibly easy to find go out and watch the videos of the Adobe premieres that came out not Adobe Premiere, but the premieres of this software about five years ago. Wild stuff so that is the news of the week folks brought to you by Facebook while you are online on Facebook. Make sure of course to stop on by the curious Rome website. Curious Rome is where you can find all of the episodes that's where you can tune in live. Little bit of an issue with my live connection this evening. So no live stream to the website tonight. However, make sure to stop by and get our free app for Android make sure to stop on by and check out our events list coming up soon we will be out at Texas Bigfoot conference that's going to be super fun cannot wait for that we should have Craig wall heater on next week hopefully to to discuss that more this week. We are glad to bring on the amazing Daniel J. Duke Daniel J. Duke is a researcher and author as well as long lost relative of Jesse James, welcome to the show. Daniel, how are you doing today?

M Mike Truber 09:45
I'm doing great and thanks for having me on.

C Chris Jordan 09:47
Hey man, thanks so much for coming on. When you're when Michelle or mutual acquaintance got a hold of me about this topic. I was like wow, um, I definitely need to have him on we have a lot paranormal stuff on things like that that lost history to me is one of the most fascinating aspects of paranormal research any any research into the esoteric and in literal lost histories that are out there?

M Mike Truber 10:21
It's definitely yeah it's never boring it's a it's an amazing topic and there's a lot well there's so many rabbit holes just once I got into this that you could you could go down a million different paths. Oh man, the rabbit holes of the the Knights of the Golden Circle to begin with is my numbing my numbing. If you think that the rabbit holes of masonry or anything like that are wild stuff and fun to read, folks, check out the Knights of the Golden Circle sometime who Jesse James was definitely a part of like that. That is a part of history. That's that's not even up up to debate as obviously his death is now to to the kerfuffle apparently of a lot of historians with your research, which is why I wanted to have you on. Well, let's, let's go ahead and start cracking the nut here. Daniel, how did how did you come to find out that you were actively related to Jesse James?

C Chris Jordan 10:32

M Mike Truber 11:28
Story? Well, it was passed to me from my late mother. And it was passed to her from you know, every when she was a kid, every every birthday party and family get together holidays. They would everybody talked about it, you know, the older relatives would, would let you know, they'd start talking about they called him grandpa. It was my mother's great grandfather. And he they would all say that he didn't die as history said he did that Jesse moved to Texas changed his name, and lives to be an old man. He died in 1943 at the

i 12:02
age of 97. And you know, so you grew up,

M Mike Truber 12:07
my late mother growing up hearing that story, I grew up hearing the story. And when she my late mother grew up hearing that story. I grew up hearing the story. And mom, when she when my sister and I got into college, she finally had enough time to start well to research and she wanted to know, the history books had one thing her family said another and she wanted to know which story was right. So she she started doing a genealogy going through family photographs, and my sister and I helped her. We, we got the photographs. And we all agree that our photographs look just like Jesse and his in some of his family members. So but we didn't want to go on just our word. So my mom took the family photographs, along with it accepted, historically accepted photographs through the Texas Department of Public Safety, which is you know, the state police in Texas, and to their their headquarters in Austin. It was their forensic lab. And they they verified they, you know, they had their photographic Forensic analysts who verified the photos. They also use computers and all the weapons, the technology available to them. They use that they verified that our photos matched the historically accepted. And then they went, we went past that. My mom took it to the Austin Police Department, their photographic, photographic Forensic analysts verified the same thing. And the third one was a company called visio Onyx chain, they ended up called out by another company, but they were world leaders in facial recognition technology. And they also verified you know, so it's three different groups of verified our photos matched. And there were highly respected, highly qualified experts in their fields. So mom was excited. She took the story to Texas Monthly, they wrote an article about it, and that brought all kinds of stuff before Texas Monthly, actually, she told them, she called the James farming Museum in Missouri, and they didn't want to hear anything about it. We thought they'd be excited to know that Jesse didn't die, Black History stated. And that's the last thing they wanted to hear. So they I think they there was there seemed to be a feeling on their side. And that's just our impression, but I can't speak for them, but they seem to feel like it was feeling something away from them. And they they and at the time they were making about 7 million a year and tourist dollars in a small poor County in Missouri. And I can you know, we have a feeling money and a lot to do with that. But what was an interesting reaction,

Chris Jordan 14:41

you know, hey, we were having the conversation before the show, my friend but my family is for and there is a landmark at Fred's lounge in Mamou, Louisiana, and Bubba. Fred's is open other than Mardi Gras and the week before Mardi Gras, it is open One day a week on Saturday. That's it. They do this. Yep. butts to elbows. Wow, my friends mines to walk into this tiny little bar that's literally labeled with a plaque from the state of Louisiana as the home of Cajun music. This is where caging Wow started. So it's starting at 8am. It's all you hear is bikes, just lines of bikers coming in. And you can literally pass your order in your cache to the bar and you're drinking your change comes back to you. Because you can't get to the bar. It's so packed. So really cool. Imagine if Lafayette came up and said none and an owl Jean Jean the feet over over here and Lafayette you know, he was the one that came up with Cajun music. I didn't know that you No, no, no, no, I'm saying imagine if that was the case. So that's kind of this. Right now, here's this tiny town that there's literally a business whose whole business is based on the fact that they are the home of Cajun music. So if somebody else comes along, challenges that and well, I live in right now.

16:14

Chris Jordan 16:17

You know, yeah, that that plant would have to go away that that that right to claim would have to go away. So yeah, like you said, more than a little bit of money was riding on this, especially when you're talking about a small town where people are coming to pay homage to Jesse James, because he's still very much a folk hero in America and history. So, you know, much, much more than stopping to see the ball of twine on the side of the road. People I'm sure are going to the home or the death side of Jesse James every year.

Mike Truber 16:54

That's true, you know, and the death, the death site is the one that would have, it would have hurt. Yeah, just because they get just as many visitors, you know, usually people who from around the world go to James farm where he grew up, and then they go right up the road to where he was allegedly killed. Yeah. And that's the one that would have hurt.

Chris Jordan 17:15

Well, and now, now that you know, you, you found out that you are related to Jesse James, this has been forensic ly shown from photographs of your family and photographs of Jesse. And you've come to this story. How did he fake his death?

Mike Truber 17:37

Well, it wasn't on purpose. He tried to fake it. So a lot of people don't realize and in a couple of years before that he'd tried purposely tried to fake his death. And it didn't it didn't go through. He had one of the gang members, George Shepherd. What, you know, they've worked out a deal George George wrote in the town in Oklahoma and said that he'd shot Jesse in the back of the head, and he was there to collect his reward. Well, they wanted a bot. And that's where the plan fell apart on his first attempt, and that was in 1879. So they couldn't find the body and the plan just fell apart. And then there were news reports, we, you know, a week or two later, they're varying. Somewhere A week later, somewhere Several weeks later from around the country that Jesse had been spotted here or there, you know, things like that, and that just kind of the whole thing fell apart. So in 1882 They're in this one, the way he had a cousin named would hide it was his first cousin and would hide historically, ever in historical records and sources from there, the James family had, that he had for a strong resemblance to Jesse. And even he also was part of the gang he wouldn't he would. He wasn't a lot of the robbery. Well, people and that goes back to a lot of people, even the Pinkertons who were supposedly the best detective agency at the time in America who were after Jesse they didn't have an accurate description of it. So they were just going on word of mouth and description if you ever if you ever read through the old papers on descriptions of Jesse, they vary widely. I mean, some say he was an average height some say some describe him as a man of color man with a fine build, you know, in all kinds of some said he had darker hair. Some said he had Sandy here, but anyway would hide for a strong reason was to Jessie. He was in he was involved in a race kind of like a love triangle between it was well, I'm starting to try I'm fighting not to go down some rabbit holes there. But anyway, he was involved in a love triangle with Bob and Charlie Ford sister, whose name was Martha Bolton. Martha had a cabin would hate would show up and you know a check up with her for a few days, and then go on his way. Well, Martha had a farmhand named Jim who she also was, you know, they they had I guess they they slept together shackled up or something but Jim and would ended up in a fight it turned into a gunfight would have shot him before man killed them. And in that fight, would height was one of Trump's two that say he was running up the stairs and either Bob or Charlie shot would heighten it hit him in the back of the head. So that was the end of Ward Heights is a allegedly buried him in a shallow grave it was during the winter when the ground was frozen. And shortly after that, and that's that's his death is he was the one whose body was passed off as Jesse shortly after that, I think they gave him time to thaw out and they turned to the body they use their the coroner's inquest that they had during, you know, shortly after the alleged killing of Jesse, the lady V. Mills, who was also a cousin of Jesse, who was allegedly his wife, who'd had children allegedly with Jesse didn't know the age of Jesse James or whether or not he had a finger missing or not. But she could, she could identify every piece of jewelry she'd ever had by memory, you know, down to the fine detail, but she didn't know any details about Jesse during the inquest. And I thought that was interesting, you know, just she didn't know how old he was or whether he had a finger missing or not. And people said, Well, that's because she was upset. Well, if she was that upset, she wouldn't remember at all, every detail of all her pieces of jewelry. Then you know when Jessie's mom was called in to identify the body. They brought her from from Kearney, Missouri, up to St. Joseph. And she walked in and said, Gentlemen, you're mistaken. That's not my son. And somebody. She was walked outside by one of the women at the house. And when she came back in she was, according to sources, very theatrical and dramatic, damning them all the hell for killing her son and, you know, just going on and on and on. But at the at the funeral, where it was buried at the James farm. In Kearney. A few days later, Jesse's aunt leaned over and there was a lot of people that are reporters, people from all over the country. His aunt leaned over and was heard that say, that's not the Jessie I knew. And Jessie's mom, Shuster and said, That's my rabbit's foot. I mean, there's a lot more to it. But there and we, this is the cool part. Another The second book that I co authored with my my sister Teresa. We, my sister had discovered a photo. And it definitely it shows Jesse at his own funerals then with his mother's Eropa. And that that just blew our late mother. I wish she could have seen it because she thought we'd always heard rumors that Jesse attended his own funeral. And I thought that that would be amazing. If there were a photo, we knew there were journalists there. Someone took a picture. And the photos available. It's in our second book, and you can find it online. It shows Jesse standing right next to his mom, looking at the guy in the casket, who was his cousin would Hi. What is

Mike Truber 23:28

the whole thing? It's just much the every step of this research for the last 25 years from the treasures there Jesse photos we've found, and connections we've had is just mind blowing. And I hope it didn't run off too long and get get away from

C Chris Jordan 23:45

Oh, absolutely. That was that was a more than apt to answer to the question my friend. Because, you know, it's interesting, because there was more than one person like, like, for instance, Billy the Kid was was rumored to have, you know, it was brushy Bill Roberts.

i 24:08

Yeah, was

C Chris Jordan 24:12

that Yep, another person. That's just it. Many of them fled to Texas, Texas at the time was still Mexican outpost.

M Mike Truber 24:21

Yeah, well, at that time, it was yeah, it was it was Texas at that time. But a lot of it was still wildland wild country, and a lot of outlaws and people looking for a new start came to Texas, especially a lot of like around Jesse where he lived in Blevins, Texas. That whole area was pretty much not not everybody but a lot of them in around him more filmer cuadrilles gorillas from the Civil War.

C Chris Jordan 24:49

Well, and let's start exploring that real quick because it was during the Civil War that Jesse became connected with the Knights of the Golden circle.

M Mike Truber 25:02

That's what a lot of people say that they can find the proof. Yeah, you're right. Yeah. That makes perfect sense. I mean, the Knights of the Golden Circle, they have a lot of people call them the KGC. Yeah, they were, they were kind of like a spy organization during the during the Civil War. They were they sided with the South American Confederate spy organization. John Wilkes Booth was allegedly tied in with that, you know, and well, no, he did. They, they were very secretive. They were a spy organization. And then it said, according to all the stories that after the Civil War, they weren't satisfied. They wanted. They wanted to get as much gold and wealth as they could to help fund a second Civil War, which got reminds me of rival football teams, you know, when you lose, you want nothing more than another shot at it. Yeah. And that that's how I guess a lot of those guys. I think it goes,

C Chris Jordan 26:06

you keep going?

M Mike Truber 26:08

Oh, I think it goes beyond that. It's, it's more, I do believe there was a nice golden circle. And I believe they probably paid some treasures. Oh, yeah. Treasures.

C Chris Jordan 26:20

There's no doubt of the existence of the Knights of the Golden Circle.

M Mike Truber 26:24

And exactly. That is a historic fact. Now, granted, it's always been said that Jesse James was a high ranking member, and had worked by the end of the Civil War, with his work in the guerrilla raids, and leading the guerrilla troops for the Confederacy, which truly frontline like, like beyond the frontline, the equivalent

C Chris Jordan 26:28

 26:51

Montrose guerrillas,

C Chris Jordan 26:52

they were a lot of forces man.

 26:55

Yes, exactly.

C Chris Jordan 26:57

They went in, they sabotage supply lines, they hijacked things, they brought the booty back home, melted, the the union gold down, put Confederate stamps on it, all that stuff. So was your right, there's no doubt that they existed. The only I can't, there's no proof start. So was your right, there's no doubt that they existed. The only thing, there's no proof that I've seen or that I know of that. That can there's no proof that Jesse was actually a member. I don't doubt that he was I just haven't found the proof. And that goes along with Albert Pike, who was also allegedly high ranking, nice and golden circle. There's no proof that shows he was so I'm careful about that. I don't doubt that they were. But I also, I just haven't Well,

 Chris Jordan 27:45
definitely, definitely fact that Albert Pike was high ranking in the Masons at

 Mike Truber 27:52
the time. Yes, yes. And Jesse was also a free man

 Chris Jordan 27:55
he was he was most of the members of the Knights of the Golden Circle were Masonic. And, you know, it's really interesting, because, especially with the fact that their mission was to specifically take this booty gold from the union, and take it down south to Mexico, and build a new army. So tears would logically be a perfect launching point for that.

 Mike Truber 28:24
That's true, it goes, I am also, there's a part of me that wonders if they, if the natural Golden Circle weren't used by some of those men. But I mean, at the end of the war, it's natural. There's a lot of people who would want to fight again, you know, they wanted a second chance. So you use that as a, as a means of gaining more wealth for a different purpose by a different group. And I don't know if that happened, but it's always been. I've wondered if some of the men in the Freemasons didn't just take advantage of that, you know, help get help gain as much wealth as they could flip it away?

 Chris Jordan 29:06
Absolutely. There were people that played both sides. actually played both sides of the American Revolution.

 29:16
That's true

 Chris Jordan 29:17
actively financially played both sides of most wars going on. I literally lack with our business actively financially played both sides of most wars going on. Literally, jack with our business. Yeah. And when you think about it, especially when you're thinking about the act of war going on the technology at the time, and all of this gold that they are trying to literally stash to mount a second offensive later. It makes sense to go to take that gold and take it to the furthest outreaches that you can places places where telegraph is not there yet, because it After that point, it's much easier to conscript people because they heard a war is over yet. The news hadn't reached that small one red light, no red light town at that point that hey, the war is over, because there were skirmishes going on for at least a year or so. After after the Oh yeah, treaty was signed, because yeah, they were still depending on Pony Express man. There was telegraph some places but not everywhere.

M

Mike Truber 30:33

That's true. Well, that's also a part of why. Well, like quadrilles gorillas, for example, Jessie was one of them. He was part of that the quadrilles gorillas, they, they were very good at what they did during the war. They they killed a lot of people. It was small numbers versus huge numbers. And they always came out on top. They, it was there were very few small battles that they had to retreat from, but they were very good. Like you mentioned, they were like special force forces of their day. But after the Civil War, they were the only the gorillas weren't granted amnesty, like the normal Confederate soldiers were and they were outlawed on a down and killed if they were called if they turned themselves in. In fact, Jesse Jesse tried to tried to surrender at the end of the war. And he was shot through through the long sword, you know, and he got away and then somehow he lived. So he made it and he it took him years to recover. They said even well, many years later, he was still he would have to take his bandage off and like it Lance, the it was a festering sore that the lancet and squeezed the pus out. It sounds horrible. But that that was interesting.

C

Chris Jordan 31:52

No quarter by the union that was held on the raiders and gorillas of the Confederacy was literally no different than the no quarter that was held on escaped slaves, or freed black men who had gone to fight in the union. And were wearing union blues like the Massachusetts 54th. Stuff like that. If they were seen or caught, embattled, they were just killed on site. Yeah, there was there was no question. There was no cork. Same thing with the with the white union officers that led them. Yeah, it was a flag of No Quarter at that point. We see you in it. You're dead. We sat in the Union was the same way with the bushwhackers. It was it was the fact of we catch you. You're dead.

M

Mike Truber 32:44

Yep. That's true. And even even controls gorillas, there were a lot of stories from former gorillas that you know, back in the day who had dirt and went interviewed would state that, you know, when when one of their comrades was wounded and he could he couldn't ride. They they put him out of his misery right there to keep from to keep him from talking. You know, if he were tortured, captured and tortured.

C

Chris Jordan 33:00

C Chris Jordan 33:00
Exactly, exactly. So

M Mike Truber 33:11
it was a rough game. They fought a lot a lot. They fought rough.

C Chris Jordan 33:16
It was it was literally a daily amount of action. It wasn't like many other forces where it was camp and wait, or hike and camp and then go fight. It was it was like the Texas the the Texas frontier battles and stuff. It was

M Mike Truber 33:37
24/7 Yep, we got wild. What was on there was something about the KGC I was gonna say but they you know, they a lot of people allege that Albert Pike was high up in a Jesse was high up in several other quite a few other people. But there's just I haven't I have yet to find any proof that they were actually a part of it at all. That said it doesn't mean they weren't. It's just that group was so secretive. It's hard to find anything.

C Chris Jordan 34:06
Yeah, yeah, quite literally. It's it. You know, it's kind of like Masonic tradition there there's some things that have made it out. You know, kind of like it if you look around you can you can find like the the rites of initiation for the Knights of Columbus like I'm a fourth degree Knights of Columbus. You can you can find those books of the rites of initiation and what's sad and everything else.

M Mike Truber 34:34
That's true date and Knights of Columbus is the Catholic secret society Correct? Well, you see society with secrets. You know the password to get in really what it truly is, is a Catholic men service organization. We march in parades. We are heavily the people Sorry folks. You can blame Bingo Night and fish riots until the Knights of Columbus petitioned Congress, the pledge of the United States did not say under God. That was put in Wow, that was put in by an act of Congress by lobbying by the Knights of Columbus. So that that was not originally part of the pledge of the United States, the Knights of Columbus lobbied to have that added. That's one of the many things that's out there as trivia. They are also the largest giver to Special Olympics worldwide. They also pay for all of the Pope's audio video video. So when you see the papal mass being broadcast for Easter Sunday, that's the Knights of Columbus that do that. Wow.

Yeah, yeah, there's it but it's just a social service organization. That's all it is. We sit around. We sit around on a Tuesday night, and we talk about parish business. And what are we going to do for the bizarre this year? You know, we're going to do the first we're gonna do the beer booth else. We didn't drink beer all day. All right, well, cool. About the over under 10. Well, we got to have an over under table like the Knights of Columbus. Welcome to it, folks. Aside from that, when you get to the fourth degree, and learn new passwords and and maybe get a little jewel around your chest, you know, you get a cape and a ship. Oh, and I don't think they do the sword anymore. In the Chappelle was the Shippo with the feathers is now a Baray. If I'm not mistaken for the fourth degree, not that active right now. But that that's an example of a secret society just kind of peeled open or hacked open like an onion real quick. And that's the thing is that, you know, and we, we get into it a little bit about the masons in the next segment, because there's there's a cadre of people that say that their targeting comes from masons, and it's like, I'm sure that there are Masons that maybe are involved, but is it the Masons, like or is that part of their Wednesday night meeting? I doubt it. So, yeah, once again, Masons would say the same thing. They are an esoteric society with secrets. They are there. They are there for those that are seeking a knowledge beyond their own. And a pattern beyond their own. So it's interesting and when you go through and back here on the in the knowledge vault is actually one of the books of Albert Pike, about medicine, MRI, and the research the research into this. I wrote this first book, The night I can't even think right now the treasure my first book, The treasure. There's so many books I've been writing lately in other titles, going over titles drives me crazy, but it was the last treasure Well, Jesse James in the last in blood treasure. Anyway, after I wrote that, all the the esoteric information, just the paths it took me down in getting trying to figure that all out. It amazed me Kabbalah, there was Christian Kabbalah, Jewish Kabbalah, Kabbalah in some cases, there's some of course, there's some some topics I didn't feel comfortable even going down. And that that I purchased, I actually believe some of that was placed there to this confused mind of some secrets. Absolute absolutely nothing that Yes. And if you don't know what you're looking for, then you know, you can, and I can see how it can easily throw people off.

Mike Truber 37:37

C

Chris Jordan 38:47

It's, there's a part in masonry. And I want to say I want to say it's like the 31st or 32nd degree, it's right as you get up to the point of enlightened elder in the degrees, where a lot of people leave before the 32nd before the 33rd degree because when they find out these truths, and the fact that all of these degrees between 13 and that we're about you remembering what the hell Thirteen's about. Yeah. So yeah, well, after I wrote the first book, it led me to join the local Lodge, the blue Lodge, and then so I became a mason Master Mason. Then I went to the Scottish Rite, where I'm a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Freemason. Wow, good for you, man. Good for you.

Mike Truber 39:25

C Chris Jordan 39:40

i 39:44
been interesting. Oh, oh.

C Chris Jordan 39:47
It is an amazing journey. And I do not know a mason that doesn't love their life as a Mason.

M Mike Truber 39:55
I love a lot of fun. And in the charities also Like you mentioned, the cherry, the meats, we don't sit there on Tuesday night or the Saturday nights thinking, Oh, we're going to take over this week.

C Chris Jordan 40:09
So we're Maldives, right? Okay, fantastic.

i 40:16
Bring this Monday.

C Chris Jordan 40:20
No, no, that's not what's happening. And it can, it can get a little rich. And

M Mike Truber 40:29
I remember talking about some of it, but we had a, we had a conversation about some of the conspiracy theories out there. You know, somebody brought it up. We were laughing. And one of the guys came out and he said, he said, My God, I wish we had parties like that. You know, we're just around the

C Chris Jordan 40:53
partiers and we don't have

M

Mike Truber 40:58

it's funny, I don't know where some of the conspiracy theories about that. I haven't seen that yet. So I'm sure there's plenty. Plenty that come out about the Knights of Columbus as well, I'm sure. Oh, yeah, absolutely. And, you know, like, Hey, I'm a Shriners kid. Like, I spent time at Shriners Hospital when I was a kid. So, you know, that was that was a regular trip for me every few times a year. So wow, I think things like that are possible because of groups like the Masons. Yeah, those funny little fez hats do great things. They really, really do. They do and, but at the same time, they do lead to the rabbit holes of things like connection with the Knights Templar. And even the fact that Jesse James, was a mason connection with the Knights Templar, as well as Knight of the Golden Circle connection with the Knights Templar. Let's, let's start getting into the Templar treasure a little bit.

C

Chris Jordan 41:13

M

Well, when the best way for me to get into that, starting out where i, where i entered, the picture was helping mom, you know, and my mom, my sister, and I helping our our late mother research. Along with photos and other items, we have, like Jesse's diary. We, there was another item passed down through the family, and it was a treasure map. And I would try it, you know, who wouldn't love to find the treasure? So, but the thing, the problem with that map, even though there was code encoded riding on it, and some of that eventually, it wasn't horrible. It wasn't terribly hard to figure out some of it. And we finally figured out decoded his map. And it was, you know, several 100 and silver here greenbacks here. But but it never said, and there was golden mentioned. But it never never gave any topographical landmarks or anything, it was just a geometric design, with little descriptions on different circles that he'd written on this design. And I thought, What the heck, you know, how can you? How do we even know where to start? Because he doesn't give any directions, no coordinates, nothing. So it went from that we were researching, researching a nice golden circle. And if you've researched them, and I'm sure you have, you know about that the Knights of the Golden Circle treasure template. Well, the template that template, I don't believe was created by Knights of the Golden Circle. I think it was Masonic. I'm very convinced it was Masonic. In it, that template is basically one sale. If you add if you lay those out on a map, just add the templates next to each other creates a grid system. And it's tilted in certain degrees like seven degrees off of north from where I started, it was in this trying to not get too far ahead of myself in trying to figure out how that template worked with Jesse's you know, my up in Blevins, Texas, I was trying to figure out how you would work a job if you don't have a scale. It's kind of hard to figure out what what you know where, how big is how big is the template? There it was. There were a lot of questions. Well, former Texas Attorney General, former Texas Attorney General Wagner car, we are late. He was a former Attorney General when we met him and he now he's passed since but he sent his he was interested in Jesse and the treasures as well. And he sent his driver out to pick my mother and I up and take us to several locations where large treasures where we had been recovered. And according to Wagner Carr, the Texas Rangers oversaw the recovery of those treasures. Yeah, so Wow, this is wild, but it's also gave me locations on the map where where I could work with a template, but not enough. The third one came from a man named Georgia roaming. He was a former World War Two vet, he was a 32nd degree Freemason. And when he was kin, he knew when he was a young boy, in New Jersey, when Jesse was an old man, it was right before. Shortly. Well, a few years before George went to war, during World War Two. Jesse had hired George and swore him to an oath to help him move 700 bars of gold about 20 miles away from his house. In Georgia, I drew the map out for my mother and I on where they buried it. And so we went looking, it's on Fort Hood, military reservation. So you know, when we found out it's on the forehead property, we just stopped. We're not crossing that line. That would probably get you put that no telling what would happen to you. So yeah, we just, we went back to talk to George and said, Yeah, it's on the military reservation now. And he just, he just kind of smiled and shook his head.

But it's, it's, it's the benefit that I got out of that.

Mike Truber 46:13

I connected that that was the final key, I needed to figure out the dimensions of the template. And after years, a lot more research, I found out that template is just one, it comes in three sizes. So there's a large, medium and small. And each one fits. Fit, they all fit together. But it's representative of this. That's where you get into Kabbalah. I wanted to see why they all fit like that. And who did it what the the dimensions they think the numbers, the distances, everything involved, seemed esoteric. And that's what led me to Kabbalah. And that's where I found a lot of the answers.

Chris Jordan 46:52

You know what's interesting, because I've actually got the, the template of the eight pointed star, that's what you're talking about. Correct?

Mike Truber 47:03

With a little b and a little what a lot of people call bird track channel, there's a little it looks like a bird's track. On the template, there's Yeah, yeah, those are actually the corners. Yeah, and those everything on there does with Kabbalah. There's astrological symbolism involved in that there's, it's representative of the tree of life in the grid system itself with it. It's like a veil. There's three, three tents, the template comes in three sizes, the way it works, it's a grid system. And it's representative of the, they call it the veil of net the veils of negative existence is three veils that go in combat, or they, they, they come along with the capitalistic tree of life. And that's another template that runs from Williamsburg, Virginia, to Victoria Peak New Mexico, and finally figured that out. And I thought, Oh, my God, this is wow. And then I started wondering how it just it all fit together. Perfect.

Chris Jordan 48:11

Yeah, and no, I'm gonna, I'm gonna help you to something that I don't know if you're aware of or not. But there is. And if you, if you literally Google John Coltrane, illustration of musical or not. But there is. And if you, if you literally Google John Coltrane. Illustration of musical theory. You'll see, you'll see a hauntingly similar image. I'm gonna pop it up on screen right now for our listeners, and so that I can tab between the two. And you can see what they look like. Because they're eerily similar. While while this is a eight pointed star, the other goes into pentagonal holes, and references points of the musical scale. And when you see these different layers on top of each other, and how they overlap, it's very much the same way. And especially when you start talking about Knights Templar, that kind of stuff. They definitely had a knowledge of Cymatics. They, they had knowledge of frequencies and their effects. And to start looking at, to start looking at this eight point ID so because I've seen it before, but just just recently, I was drawn with a friend while on the road, and we were talking about just Wild Music Theory things and I was like, oh, yeah, and it just popped in my head the image of John Coltrane's map and I was like, oh, have you seen this? And as I saw this image, pop up on screen, I was like, wow, those two are eerily similar.

M

Mike Truber 50:02

That is, I'm looking at it right now. It's very interesting.

C

Chris Jordan 50:05

Yeah, yeah. And to see this overlay of three forms of thought, like you were saying kind of a meld of Kabbalah and other things. What trail did that lead you down once you once you finally found that there was a Kabbalistic Kabbalistic Tree of Life represented across the map of America.

M

Mike Truber 50:32

What was it was several things that well, like just researching the treasure found that Victoria Peak in New Mexico, there were there's people who claimed Jessie was involved in burying that I don't believe he was involved in that. But I do believe the same group Freemason involved with Freemasonry. What, what were we I believe the same group was responsible for a lot of those treasures. But a lot of the treasures like Victoria Peak, for example, people claiming the KGC did that people claimed Jessie was a part of it, he may have been a part of it. If he they found treasures in there from the treasures that were listed as being found in Victorian peak, they ranged from from like old European coins and T eras, swords with jewels on them, like royal almost almost like royal jewels to Pony Express met mailbags. And then a lot of bars of gold there were supposedly 3 billion in gold found in Victoria Peak New Mexico, but a lot of that got covered up when White Sands Missile Range, White Sands Missile Range, the government kind of shot a little arrow out and encompassed in that area all of a sudden, so it was off limits to people is that treasure, in fact, was was mentioned in the Watergate hearings. You know, it's just it's interesting that you say that because that is that is the same thing with the suppose a treasure that was found in the Grand Canyon.

C

Chris Jordan 51:53

M

Mike Truber 52:04

Yeah, I've heard the story. I've heard a lot of stories about that winter, and it makes it I'm really curious about that. But they, they, what, what the background? I'm trying to remember, okay, that a lot of the treasures that were buried there and in other places predated the KGC. Provide it centuries in some cases. Oh, sure. So I thought, okay, if it wasn't a KGC you know, the next logical conclusion was the Masons. So I started researching more about that, everything I could about Albert Pike, Manley Palmer Hall, and Manley Palmer Hall, led me to his wife, Marie Bauer Hall, who wrote a book called Foundations on Earth, where she had decoded the writings of forensics or Francis Bacon. And that led her to Williamsburg, where she found anagrams on tombstones, and she claimed she decoded all this and it led her to the original foundations of the Williamsburg, Brooklyn parish church in Williamsburg, Virginia. And I thought, Okay, this is interesting. Nobody believed her. They mean people mocked her they scoffed at the idea. And they said, no, there weren't there was no earlier church. This is the the original foundation. She said, No, you're wrong. And she got permission to look for it. And she proved them wrong. Everybody who mocked her, you know, they were shocked. She she did she decoded the Annegret. You know, the anagrams written on the tombstones and hidden ciphers written in the works of Francis Bacon and found the original foundation. And so that shocked them but she went further to say, there was a chamber 22 feet beneath the original foundation that held treasures that were not only would affect the royal family, but also religious. Well, basically religious history and history as we know it. And I thought this goes far beyond an old the old west outlaw faking his death, it ties into a lot more than that. And that's, and that's that the one in Williamsburg, that's the head of the Tree of Life template. So, after reading all that, and I figured out the template, I wanted to know why and who, and I traced is kind of like doing a family tree only it's more of an organizational tree. And they led me back to So Francis Bacon. I thought, Okay, this was the guy who started this I'm finally satisfied. And a few days later, there was just nagging questions. And that led me to his mentor Johnny D. who was a famous capitalist. He was, yeah, a lot of people even a lot of things they kind of he had been compared to Merlin like Merlin of the King authors. He was a spy.

C

Chris Jordan 54:54

Yep, he was also a heavy heavy Alchemist.

M

Mike Truber 55:00

Yes, and he was he was also they call him the original double oh seven because an alchemical symbol he used to sign his letters with where it looked like two zeros in a second. In but and I thought, okay, you know this guy now so I started tracking back as far as I could, who was his mentor John Dee's mentor and then hit that man's mentor. And it led through well known names in history, all the way back through Jewish rabbis, and finally to a rabbi known as Raschi. And in that church, there's some of the rabbis, there was a man named pale Arisia, who in 1516, rewrote a book from a former of another rabbi, I think it was Abraham. I can't remember his name right now. But paleo ratio published this book, Johann rochlin, who was a friend of Martin Luther, I mean, it went, went off on a lot of trails through a lot of history. But Johan rochlin, was really interested in it. Let's see, in that book, that was published by pale rischio. I don't know if you're familiar with Scott Wolter in his footsteps in America on Earth is the show we had. Yep, the hook is very visible. In on the cover, it was a cabbalistic drawing of a rabbi pointing to the floor. And in that floor, the tiles in the floor make up a map of Europe in the new world. And the water between it, I thought this is while I took the tiles on the floor, superimpose them over a map from the same time period, a world a world map from that time, and it matched perfectly with the new world. And you know, as they knew, I thought this was wild. But I went past that. It went to the rabbi named rashy. And, and he was the favored court guest of here to champagne, one of the founders of the Knights Templar. And I thought, Oh, my God, this is insane. So, you know, I wanted to write the book, I fought with myself a lot. I thought, No, I'm not gonna write this, people will think I'm crazy. And I should just leave it alone. And I finally had wrote the book. And then it got published. But I didn't know until it came out. The current head of the Knights Templar embassy, Hogan wrote a glorious, glowing endorsement of that book, saying that I had cracked part of the code dealing with the Templars and the treasure from the temple in Jerusalem. And that was that just made my day? I would that kind of verification that the head of the group who was responsible for, you know, centuries earlier, saying that I cracked part of the code just just that that thrill.

C

Chris Jordan 57:43

Wow, that's relations pen, as well. And with that being said, one question I would have is, what what do you do now? Because, you know, it's one of those like, what, what do you do once you have the code?

Mike Truber 58:08

Yeah, well, I thought about it. And there was a lot of thinking deep, deep thinking, and just basically fighting with myself for a while. But I came to the conclusion that that treasure although the treasures of love to find one, I have to admit, I would still love to find one. But I don't think I would touch it, I think it belongs. And the reason is like, like Francis Bacon, for example, he wrote a book called The New Atlantis. And the new Atlantis is basically if, after reading it, I'm convinced it's a template for what America was meant to be. And that's what the treasures deal with, I think, will anytime you're going to start a nation you need, you need wealth, you need reserves of wealth, for future wars, expansion, growth, anything that that deals with running a nation. And I think that I think the treasures that were buried were originally meant to help grow to help start the country, cons as a country in times of need, and maybe use it in rainy day funds. So I it, there's so much history behind it and so much importance. I don't I would feel guilty if I if I took some for myself. And so what I did, when I came to that conclusion, and I know it sounds corny, you know, it belongs in a museum kind of statement. But I I went ahead and I made I made I copied the map and I sent it to 212 Timothy Hogan and one to another nother man who was in the Masons, the 33rd degree Mason who I really trusted. He's dead now but it wasn't over that he died of old age but I just felt it belonged. I knew they probably already knew about it, but I just just in case I wanted to give him my phone beans in that way it keeps me from it kind of keeps myself in check if that makes sense.

C

Chris Jordan 1:00:04

Sure, sure. Absolutely. Well, I mean, you know, you, you literally need that, especially whenever you are because when you state even even when studying the paranormal, we have this conversation regularly on this program, whether it's the paranormal, the esoteric, what have you, there is a knee jerk reaction that you have to get past and it's hard hurdle to get past. And it's a hurdle where yeah, you have to even doubt yourself and doubt the veracity of what you have in front of you. And like you said, either and trust it to somebody else to please check my work. Telling me

you know, exactly, because I worried but yeah,

 Chris Jordan 1:01:00
it's some point number one, you can you can become entirely too personally enveloped and involved, especially because, hey, it's your it's your family. You know, yeah. So.

 Mike Truber 1:01:14
So in the natural. Yeah, you're right. It's exactly right. And it's a natural tendency to put blinders on in the bias you've already built, whether consciously or subconsciously, there's a bias there and you need you need someone outside of that circle to check your work.

 Chris Jordan 1:01:35
Yeah, well, and you know, as we sit on the show all the time, UFO means just that doesn't mean alien doesn't mean extra terrestrial, it means it is an object flying through the air that we don't know what it is. Exactly, it does not mean that it's alien. It is, it is literally the definition of the word. It is yeah. Unidentified object that is flying through the air. That's what it is.

 1:02:04
So restroom view, you know,

 Chris Jordan 1:02:09
and you have to come at it from that point of view, and you have to, you have to look at it as dispassionate because this is science. This is research and unless it's repeatable, it's not provable, you know, so it's true. There's their strong belief like, Hey, I am I am a huge believer in the fact that yes, there is extraterrestrial life, I am probably, I'm probably in the area of 65%. With the fact that our government is not only knows about it, but has probably been in contact, probably best to 5% sold on that, as fact.

 Mike Truber 1:02:48

I always remind, and especially after all the research I've done, I keep, I've learned it is very important to remain open minded on things and don't close people. And this goes back to another topic. I was telling somebody at work earlier today. If you think it's a natural, it's natural, it's human nature for when you see things you can't people naturally categorize everything, you put in a little box in your mind, and it's neat and tidy. And when something jumps out of that box, there's that knee jerk reaction to either disbelieve it or feel fear. There's a lot of there's a range of emotions people feel, but if they can learn to look at an open mind and then get used to looking at thinking outside the box, things it opens up a lot a lot more to to a person

C

Chris Jordan 1:03:36

Absolutely you a point of datum that you add to a data set to make an educated decision. Is is just that. It is a point of datum. Except right don't accept that absorb it into your into your essay class, say if you want whatever or don't, but the fact is, here's a nugget and it does not exist. So you got to be willing to at least see the fact that it exists and that it's there and not deny that that's true. Even even the fact of just to loop this back around of finding out forensically that a you are related to Jesse James and that be you may well have proved that he did not die as History States.

M

Mike Truber 1:04:35

Yeah, going back on that part of it. We we have proven that the excavation they did in 1995 one that my late mother shot that full of holes No pun intended. They in the James Farmer museum wanted to prove once and for all that that was Jesse in the grave and in Kearney, Missouri. And so they they have hired, they wanted an excavation done with DNA testing and it sounds, you know, off the top. That sounds great. Everybody wanted that, you know, if it had been done right it could have, it could have gone a long way towards proving that he really didn't die. They wanted to prove that he did, but it would have answered questions for both sides. But what they did, they hired a law professor. And something of that magnitude when you're dealing with history. You don't hire a guy who's not an expert in the field you need. They hired a law professor James E stars, who was a law professor at Georgetown University. And that was his hobby, doing exclamations. It wasn't his profession. He didn't have a degree in it. He was just that was his hobby. So we dug people up and tried and tried to make a name for himself. So you know, he does this great. They get him permission. Yeah, so he did. That was his hobby. That's what he did. They hired him to do it, he comes out, makes a big show out of it. He digs up the alleged grave in Mount Olivet cemetery, and found a grave that had multiple bodies in it, there was female bones and male bones in this grave. So he couldn't and he couldn't even extract it. He claimed he couldn't extract DNA from any of those. So he, he went to the James Farmer Museum, they claimed to have sample Jessie's hair and one of Jesse's teeth. And that sounds simple enough on the on the surface, but researching that, those teeth in that head while the teeth for example, they kept in a tupperware bowl. In 1978, the curator of the museum just started digging up spots in the yard that was near where the original Grape was. And then he uncovered bones. There was a hug tooth, a dog's tooth, a human tooth, and several other animal bones. And he kept them all together in a tupperware bowl and pass them around the fringe stuff. So there's cross contamination right off the bat a little bit. Yeah, and then the guy they visit the museum and trusted the tip of the bone and the alleged tooth and the hair to where they put that in the hands of Oh God. Now I'm starting to forget names. A

Steven Caruso. He was at the time that the director of Clay County Department or the he was no, yeah, he was a director of the director of the Clay County Parks Department. And he had a friend he didn't like the way the exclamation was going. He's an attorney right now. And he told my mother, my late mother and I, the only person he said, the tooth, the hair that they tested that they thought was Jesse's. He didn't like the way it was going in. He's on film saying the exclamation was a tall jury sideshow. He didn't agree with it. He didn't like the way they were handling it. So Professor stars got a court order for him to turn over the hair in the piece. And he said I didn't agree with it. So I pulled he pulled the hair out of his friend's head, John Hartman, who is a claim the parks director, one of the parks director, he pulled the hair of John Hartman's head and submitted that and they use that hair in documentaries, trying to support that as part of their proof that that was Jesse in the grave, and that he died as history stated, which is completely false. It wasn't even the right hair they tested. And he told us that the toothache tested had similar origins. He wouldn't tell us what, where he got the tooth, but he just started laughing. And that's all he would say. So everything they did was a sham. And then they came out to the world saying we've proven by science that Jesse died is history said, and there's no proof at all. We've got, we we and Oh, the other thing they acted like, and they stated to the press and in documentaries, that they had to exhume the grave because there were no living relatives that would have the same mitochondrial DNA. Yet the whole time there was a lady named Sue Laura Hill, who everybody there's no disagreement. She is a direct descendant from Jesse's mother. So she would have had the same mitochondrial DNA and she was living in California at the time she was in her 90s. When my mother found out she contacted her and asked her if she would go to their tour doctor if they would, you know, draw some blood and submit it through strict chain of custody. We didn't get the blood. It was delivered to a DNI expert in San Antonio, who does work for the FBI and State and local police departments. That guy tested for Hills blood against my late mother's blood and said there's a definite relation. It showed a relation there was a definite relation and not but it to stand up in court he wants we would have to get permission to to retrieve DNA from the graves of mom's dad and then his mom and then The legend to the grave of Jesse and blevet go and test that against the ledger dividends that they had from from 1995 up in Missouri. But wow, what I'm getting that is we've got more proof than they've ever had. All they have is basically hearsay pile of books that they've written to back up their claim, but there's no real evidence well in you know, even speaking of real evidence, I'm gonna I'm gonna pop up the the funeral picture here. That's a pretty clear face on there. That is that is a pretty clear face on somebody who was shot. Pretty well point blank range with a 44 in the back of the head.

 1:10:51

Yeah, I don't know. It didn't blow. But it didn't blow.

 Chris Jordan 1:10:57

Open open casket.

1:11:00

Yeah. That's another thing

Chris Jordan 1:11:02

that like the mafia does to assure the fact that mom's gonna have a closed casket for you.

Mike Truber 1:11:08

Exactly. And there was a gun, a gun expert. Yes, it was the state police in New Mexico. A lady I can't remember her name. Right now she's a she's a firearms expert. They she reenacted that as best she could the way it was described the way the shooting was done. And she said, even you know, even if you loaded it with half the powder, in old black powder pistol, it would still have blown off a large portion of smoothbore.

Chris Jordan 1:11:36

Mike Truber 1:11:38

Yeah, they played Yeah, it was It wasn't everything about the way it was claimed to have gone down. It has been proven to be false the way historically, the traditionally accepted history, claimed it. And well. And the thing is, and we always had to keep reminding ourselves, it would make me mad, we'd get frustrated, my late mother would get mad and frustrated. But we would have to, we would always remind one another that he Jessie's the reason that that lie was put out there it was so he could fake his death. And he needed a good lie. And that was a very good lie at the time. Nobody had an accurate description of him. So all they needed was people to say yeah, that's Jesse. And the only people who can verify who it was, was their family and his close friends who were also gang members. So if they you know, and he trusted they all trusted each other more than anybody and I guess it was like well, you know the the word of a murderer Yeah, that's that's a word that you should just immediately trust. You know? Yeah. Oh, okay. Cool.

Chris Jordan 1:12:39

1:12:54

Yeah, exactly.

Chris Jordan 1:12:57

Like to have that a little bit more inquest.

M

Mike Truber 1:13:01

Well, later on when I just researching more into it, like his family connections, Jesse was cousins with Governor Clinton, who was governor of the governor of Missouri at that time. Oh, wow. He was also related to the sheriff Sheriff Timberlake, who was from Clay County, Missouri is which is where Jessie grew up. Timberlake would chase Jesse but never catch him. There was another Sheriff he was related to is Kourtney and Kourtney owned. There was a lot of sheriffs in that area and powerful people, law enforcement, a lot of different people who Jessie was directly related to and he was also related to LBJ district cousins without President LBJ and LBJ. I don't know if you've ever heard of Billy solace. Yep, he was a famous Texans con man. Some people say he killed people for LBJ. I don't know how true that is. There's no There's no proof. But he was also related to Billy Salles because I met Billy saw in person and an explanation of a grave and Granbury Texas years ago. And And the funny thing about that Wagner car always claimed he never he didn't know Billy so at all. Wagner car was at that exclamation to building solid Wagner we're back in the corner of the cemetery. Just laughing and talking and having a great time. And yet they didn't know one another. I thought that was really interesting. Wow. Wow. There's a lot of fun little that I that's kind of off the topic, but I don't know why it's it just it's been a wild ride. It's literally a prime example of the rabbit holes that you end up going down when when you're researching something like this because something turns up and sure enough, you know, the family tree pops up and whenever you're doing your family tree and that pops up and he's in there. Like, yeah, the others are gonna pop up to, you know, yeah. So

C

M

Mike Truber 1:15:06

it. Yeah, it's like multiple spider webs overlaying one another. And if you you touch one thread, it shakes all the others. And once you think you've solved it, it all it does uncover even more mysteries, and it's addictive. I wish I, I don't think the average human life is long enough. I wish I could live 1000 years at least just so I could have more time to research every part of this.

C

Chris Jordan 1:15:33

I'm the same way. Like, like I told the audience earlier, there's two bookshelves back here full of books, and I can't, I can't not read it. Like, when COVID started, my obsession was alchemical texts. I was just, I was downloading PDFs like crazy. And reading like, a couple of 100 page, alchemical codexes and things like that. Just a mere I know, I know what you mean, esoteric

1:15:58

C Chris Jordan 1:16:01

stuff that's like, what is this? This is just fascinating. And it's hard not to keep going, you know, but once again, to know that you have tempered yourself in your research, especially it being as close to home as it is. That's fantastic to hear. So, next next steps for you. What What can we see next? When is I guess you have a new book that just came out? Correct?

M Mike Truber 1:16:30

That's right. It was this one's titled and I believe that's the last Jesse book out. All right. I don't I don't, I can't see how it could go further. I never, I don't count it out. But the title of the third book is The Secret History of the Wild Wild West, and subtitles, outlaws secret societies in the hidden agenda of the elite. That's that's where I list a lot of the family trees time in Jesse to a lot of well known people he was also related to basically, who was one of the founders of the KGC. Oh, wow.

C Chris Jordan 1:17:08

Well, hence the reason for once again, is rumored rise to the cream of the crop to the top.

M Mike Truber 1:17:18

Yeah, exactly. I mean, you know, in my first book, I discount the KGC. Not completely, but quite a bit. In my mind, they played a very small role. And I still think they played a small role, but there was there was, there's bigger than I thought it was, and I think it was more Freemasonry and Rosicrucians and probably a lot of, well, throughout history, it was, I believe, mostly Freemasons. Rosicrucians. And there were a lot of capitalists, Christian Cole and Jewish capitalists.

C Chris Jordan 1:17:53

Yep. Yeah, absolutely. And that is that is an episode in and of itself that I would love to talk with you about. I want to thank you for your time tonight. This was a fantastic conversation.

 1:18:06

Both I had a lot of fun. Thanks for having me.

C Chris Jordan 1:18:09

And during the show. Hey, you're welcome back. Anytime you like I look forward to actually meeting you have coming in Marshall.

1:18:18

I do too. Before we let

Chris Jordan 1:18:21

you go, Daniel, it is it is time for shameless shameless self promotion. So let everybody know where they can go to buy your books. Let everybody know where they can go to follow you online social media, where they can go to get the latest and greatest blogs if you do that kind of thing. Get it give everybody where to go to keep up with you.

Mike Truber 1:18:44

Okay, my website is Dan duke author.com. My late mother's website is Jesse w james.com. You can find the books anywhere I'm also if you Google, Dan, Dan Duke or Daniel Duke and author you'll find me you'll be able to find my my Twitter, Facebook and Instagram accounts, my my publishers inner traditions, and I'm very grateful to them. And my books available basically anywhere books are sold. It's it's all over the world except for probably North Korea and a couple of other small places. But yeah, you can get it anywhere. And I don't need men to leave out my sister, my sister Teresa F. Duke is she she co authored the second book with me, which was the mysterious Life and Death of Jesse James.

Chris Jordan 1:19:34

Oh, wow. Well, once again, I want to thank you for your time tonight. I am glad that we finally got a chance to connect and get you on I want you back on again and again and again.

1:19:48

Good to be back.

Chris Jordan 1:19:50

This is a fascinating topic. And once again, the more you the more you dig the longer the rabbit hole gets. It's just absolutely so It is an honor to be on your show.

Mike Truber 1:20:00

Chris Jordan 1:20:02

Well, thank you, I will make sure to share links to everything whenever it goes out live to all platforms tomorrow. We were live to a couple tonight. But here in a little while during the pre recorded segment, I will be pushing it out to all audio platforms. So I'll be sharing links to that for you and everything else. Thanks. Take care of yourself. And we'll talk to you soon.

Mike Truber 1:20:28

Thanks, you too. And I enjoyed this greatly. Oh, and when you when you get to Marshall, let me know I might. My office, by the way is in the convention center. So pretty easy to find. All right. Well,

Chris Jordan 1:20:41

I'll find you trust me. All right. You take care of yourself. All right.

1:20:47

You're doing take care. All right.

Chris Jordan 1:20:49

Take care, man. What an amazing conversation. The book folks is Jesse James and the last Templar treasure. Go by I'm telling you right now. It is some of the most amazing reading that you can find. While you are online checking out all the amazing work of Daniel Duke. Make sure to stop on by curious round curious realm is the home for all episodes. That's where you can find the knowledge vol. This segment we are going to be getting into some fantastic conversations about targeting targeting technologies, different technologies that are out there that can manipulate brainwaves from a distance, and even cause harm from a distance. We'll be getting into that in just a second. I'd like to once again thank our awesome sponsor, the secret of everything Dr. Kimberly McGeorge, she is your number one source for alternative health, frequency healing and consciousness expansion exercises, make sure to stop by and check her out at secret of everything.com. Of course, our good friends at web works wireless as well. Web works wireless is your source for high speed internet. We have been using web works wireless since the beginning of curious realm. I am here to attest to the no data limits, no throttling, and no contracts. Quite literally, I put up gigabytes about 20 gigs worth of data a month through my web works wireless system. Never a problem anywhere across the country with my feeds, with uploads downloads, what have you stop on by and check them out. Web works wireless.com. Of course, while you're online, checking that out, make sure to stop on by Amazon and check out the books. How to tame a demon as well as project soul catcher. They are the work of our good friend and guest Dr. Robert Duncan. He also has a document here on our knowledge vault if you go to curious realm.com forward slash knowledge, you can go to declassified. And you can find some amazing work by Dr. Duncan as well. Welcome back to the show. Dr. Duncan, how are you doing?

1:28:53

I'm doing great. Thank you for inviting me back. We always have great talks and we never know which vault door we're going to open.

Chris Jordan 1:29:04

Well well and that's that's what I love is that your your range of experience is so vast and when it comes to targeting targeting technologies when it comes to the algorithms to real time process, that kind of data and and even what it takes to be able to insert dreams and read dreams. You were right at the forefront of all that technology as it happens. So to be able to lean on you with topics like this, like Havana syndrome, things like that. I greatly thank you for your time anytime that you have time to come on. So.

1:29:49

Well. Thank you.

Chris Jordan 1:29:50

Well, speaking of let's let's get right into it not too long ago, actually had the opportunity to sponsor the international Remote Viewing Association. And I had a great conversation with John Brandenburg, specifically about the word demon and and demon Damon, however you want to say it, the one of the many words used for algorithms and things like that, that call home. Let's start getting into some of your work in how to tame a demon, a short and Practical Guide to organized intimidation, stalking, electronic torture, and mind control. Because it's a thick topic, whenever you mentioned Havana syndrome, which is, I guess what most common people would would know this as, at least as of right now was Havana syndrome. However, there have been people for decades, who are known as targeted individuals who claim to be targeted by microwave weaponry claimed to be targeted by electronic means. So let's start getting into a little bit of this.

1:31:09

All right, there's a big conspiracy around that because it has been going on for so long. And people been crying out for help and demonstrating in front of the White House and Capitol and writing their congress people. And to no avail. I personally went with the head of the LA FBI, spoke to 23 representatives, Congressman, and the Senate Intelligence Committee, and we got a lot of lip service that they you know, they were interested, we'd get back. MK Ultra, clearly never stopped testing on the worldwide public and last for many reasons. I mean, this is the next frontier of war. Without blood, silent war, people would get upset of the sea blood or explosions. And if you can destroy the enemy without any of that, you know, you're one step ahead. What have you have control of nuclear weapons, you can control the minds of those who have their fingers on it. So it's, it's a game changer, to say the least. But a van a syndrome popped up in the news? Oh, I don't know, a couple a few years ago. And because of the Havana, Cuba, diplomats were coming down with these weird symptoms. Now, which is funny, because we've been talking about these symptoms. For decades, I personally have been an activist for about 25 years. And only when Intel people, government officials, diplomats, if you want to call them but they're mostly spies were attacked, did it bring attention to the news? And they then named it on vana syndrome, but it's, it's happened in several embassies around the world. Not Oh, absolutely. And it's something also unfortunately, it is, I mean, it got recognition, that's good, that's a start. But the they're only compensating, not the public who complains about it, but just the diplomats, they're compensated, you know, their full pay in disability and whoever is behind it. Let's leave that as whoever at this point but only Russia and us and now China have the technology and a lot of people claim no rogue, rogue criminal organizations have been and this is worse than the atomic bomb we're not going to allow this technology nor do they have the capability to do it. Now you can build small microwave weapons to fry people's organs while they sleep their brains or hearts caused some cancer you know with X ray directed energy weapons the FBI bless the the group that was trying to build one but that's not the real topic. The real one is far worse and more devious. And and that is psychological manipulation of the mind to create Manchurian candidates to persuade voting. So you can't have a democracy. You can alter people's minds while they're sleeping, or while they're watching TV. Or at least watching TV you sure that's a He was propaganda, you know, form to control people. But we at least have our conscious brains that we can decide whether to accept the information or dig deep or something like that. But we can actually control the emotions the subconscious while a person dreams. And so when they wake, it percolates up to their conscious state. The brain is very complex, but we've deciphered it on the most part. But that back to bandit center. Just recently, there was a CNN report that was on television, I think it was this last Sunday, it's especially important, you it didn't really have much news to say other than a doctor who was investigating it, CIA doctor came down with the exact same symptoms, what he was trying to research. And so you know, that makes it newsworthy. But I'm going to be honest with you, I believe this is an Operation Northwoods because we're preparing for war with Russia, then with China, you know, conquer the world, the New World Order. And so in order to get a every move the public behind some common enemy, Operation Northwoods was about Cuba, ironically, a baking Cuba Jouban terrorists to attack the US. And it was a top secret document, but it got declassified. And if your listeners haven't read the document, who is looking up just to show you how devious gov

Oh, absolutely, I'm, I'm actively bringing it up on our knowledge vault as we speak, we have the Operation Northwoods documents, and not many people realize that within that was also included Operation Mockingbird, which was control of the media and putting putting out messages through the media, repeating messages through the media.

 1:37:30

And it's unfortunate that we humans are like back, we don't have a lot of time to do critical reasoning. And so we tend to take on the premiums that we're told either through Yeah, no tube or friends or whatever.

 Chris Jordan 1:37:47

Well, well, yeah. And I mean, it really is also that it's not hard to hijack the brain, as you were talking about earlier. Prime example. An audience you can get upset with me if you like the the cortisol, stimulation that happens to people who actively listen to four hours of Alex Jones. There there is a cortisol level that goes on. Whenever you listen to anything like that that inflames you be it listening to the news that you listen to, and only that strain of news. And not reading and hearing and filtering other sources. It really does create a cortisol junkie, and somebody that is easily manipulated. And once the cortisol level is up in the brain, as opposed to serotonin. That control is so much easier to maintain. The cycles of the brain get disturbed much easier, the sleep cycle gets disturbed much easier and completely right. And it even affects how well we remember something. And we can go on to a higher level and why are we always in a state of panic on the mainstream media? Why? Why is our government always promoting the next big terror from terrorists to you know, World War three to COVID to we always have to have a common enemies. President Reagan said in order to keep the population together, I'm fighting one enemies so a lot of these enemies are imaginary. And we create them but serotonin. Yes, that's, you want that. But I was an adrenaline junkie when I was young I, I did 23 Skydiving jumps. I don't know I love the thrill Oh, adrenaline it up all day long because adrenaline, you know, I mean, there's there's an association with fear there. But there's also exhilaration tied with that there is also utter enjoyment tied with that like this whole studio here behind me I was I was running on adrenaline all day long, wiring all this up and getting it done, because that's what I love, you know. And yeah, that's a serotonin up. Yeah, for me to go and read the news and read the news and read the news all day or listen to the news incessantly all day. It's hard and give it a shot, folks, I guarantee you number one turn on any radio station. Except for like public access, things like that, like Pacific or radio not going to happen. But if you turn on a top 40 station, guaranteed, you will hear about two hours of programming repeated all day long. The same songs over and over and over. These are the hits all day. And, for instance, back in the day when I produced for Alex, we had five monitors have news going on 24/7. And by the time anybody would show up at 9am, I showed up at about six and started recording things and stuff like that as they happen. But by the time nine or 10 came around, it was on repeat, unless there was a breaking news item happening, a major event or something like that, or the president broke in for an announcement or State of the Union or something like that. It was the same news stories all day long. Covered by different people putting out the same diet track.

Chris Jordan 1:40:15

1:42:11

That's an echo chamber. Yeah, it's controlled. And that's project Mockingbird, you were mentioning earlier.

Chris Jordan 1:42:20

Yeah. And I mean, it really does start there. Because once you've got control of the media, you you've once again got control of people's biology to begin with. Even Even if you start going into the flash frames of a television, you know, back in the day, and I'm sure much more in your day, doctor, but I remember hearing from from my mom, like back away from the television quit watching that things so much. It's gonna make you stupid, you know, called the idiot box for a reason. You know, and, and quite literally 30 frames per second, you know, one frame out of 30, you're not going to see it. And we have laws that are literally written to stop subliminal advertisement. Because it used to happen in film regularly back in the days of, you know, the news reels, stuff like that, you know, let's all go to the lobby in the middle of it. They'd flash drink Coke, stuff like that, and Coca Cola paid for that. And then it's like, Yo, wait a minute, you're manipulating people's brains here in this advertisement, and that's not okay. So we made laws for that. But for some reason for the technology that allows people to be able to target folks with microwave weaponry, the the technology to break into people's dreams, and basically hack in and either either record literally, they have recorded dream already, and then be able to play it back and be able to actively converse with somebody in a dream state. Like you got it a dreamer. Here's you this is this is within the last year and a half that it has been announced that that happened. I want to say it your alma mater of MIT.

Yeah. Now the technology is very old, unfortunately, but what I'd like is to encourage the civilian scientists to catch up. So then, maybe we can have a discussion in our country around the world. Is this really a path we want to take? But you know, first it has to be used for war. And it has to be used for interrogation. So the dream hacking was best described by a movie called inception, where you can literally pull out people's passwords and pull out their phones while they're sleeping. And because all our filters are now we're we're in a different reality state.

 Chris Jordan 1:45:30

Well, not only that, it's the fact of the amount of data that you could gather and garner from an individual, especially in the world of clandestine work. Mainly because the our dreams are an unfiltered tap into exactly what happened to us that day. We go through and we emotionally process all of the things that we just autonomically went through.

 1:46:00

Now what have you can alter those emotions and altered the dream slightly? Yeah. So let's say I wanted to, I'm not going to use any names, but you to vote a certain way. Well, I could put in your dream, you know, fear associated with that image. And that will percolate up to your consciousness, your awake state eventually. And so, democracy doesn't exist. In fact, with this technology, you want democracies in order to have technocrats. And it's your whatever term you want to use. But it's scary because this has been squelched so much in the media. And it's always coming out now. But people don't understand the technology or it's in disbelief. I have free will I have my own agenda? I can't be hypnotized or influenced. And they're wrong. They're just simply wrong. Yeah, yeah. And you know, you may not be susceptible to a stage hypnotist. Exact however, I assure you, given given enough subliminal message with binaural beat going on behind some music that plays in your office every day. I bet within a week I could have you craving pepperoni pizza twice. Guaranteed. It is it is not difficult. When you combine a couple of technologies like the Monroe Institute work with binaural beats and things like reverse speech and and other subliminal techniques.

 Chris Jordan 1:47:11

 1:47:57

So yeah, you get into the philosophical realm of what is a human being there is no firewall for the human mind, because we are learning creatures. And so what are you going to grow up in a sensory deprivation chamber? Yeah, no, it's part of our very nature to be in flux. So it's very difficult to think of what even a firewall would represent turning off your television. Okay, maybe but yeah, yeah. Well, you know, even even considering the statement that you just made a week crave to be influenced, you know, it really does speak a lot to the algorithms out there of Facebook, Twitter, all that kind of stuff. You know, we forget that Facebook and hey, I leverage Facebook man, like, like crazy. I leverage Facebook. I am I am hashtag shameless. Am I however, does a Harvard grad and I call them every name in the book. I've only been in Facebook, probably four or five guns.

Chris Jordan 1:48:30

1:49:05

Chris Jordan 1:49:16

Well, it you know, it's funny because people forget the fact that a they got a to Facebook got their initial round of funding from in Q tel. Yeah, which I'll pop up on the screen here in just a minute. But they are the financial arm of the CIA who actively goes out and looks for burgeoning technologies that can be used for CIA work, be it black hat, white hat, what what have you and not originally, Facebook was a project in the DoD called LifeLock. And then, then, then went once the technology we've worked on is kind of secure. We think we figured out how to use it, then it's funded by cue Intel or others, to be released into the civilian sector. Again, I worked on a project for the CIA, that was a predecessor to Google. And, again, that's another one that we have to make sure everything. We know all the possible outcomes will now with mind hacking, brain hacking, literally, phone calls from brain to brain at the speed of thought and transmitted at the speed of light. There are a whole bunch of issues, we got to work out and saw my next book, I talked about the details of the topologies. And not just the networks, that they're experimenting on with brain to brain to machines and bring different types of configurations. And that's, people think, oh, no, that's science fiction while you go to Duke University. They, they do physical, brain and plants with monkeys. And they can solve problems as a single mind in a hyper intelligence that a single month, you cannot do. So. You know, they're coming along and the universities but they're not allowed access to illegal human experimentation.

Chris Jordan 1:51:31

Once again, I mean, I've got up a bio site right now that that puts out technology like that, like I've got, I've got a muse band, Muse headband, I can I can actively see in live track all of my brainwaves?

 1:51:47

Yeah, yeah, I wrote a program that I could play a musical only eight on, you know, eight notes an octave. With my brain, just through this Neurofeedback system. Wow. But it's all a you know, I can play Mary out a little lamb.

 Chris Jordan 1:52:09

I need to talk, I need to talk to you about that and get a copy of that. Because I actively, I actively had a app for a little while that would turn my brainwaves into MIDI, and then it just crashed and stopped working. And I can't find another one anywhere. And it it blew my mind some of the music that I made, because I would I would actively do one blank track where it was just my brain doing its thing and all that, then I would on the second track. play that back through a visualization program and watch it and listen to it. And then record my brainwaves again, so the second track,

 1:52:53

I'd have done bidirectional feedback it was It was wild

 Chris Jordan 1:52:57

to see what music my brain would actively make as a result of watching the music.

 1:53:06

Now I call it the music of the mind. So imagine all your micro macro circuits and a big orchestra. And you could listen to it with feedback through your ears and see it through your eyes. You create some incredible stuff. But to go back to the dream recordings. Well, that's even more powerful, because you're using the cerebral cortex. Yep. And you're grabbing the the big picture. And people think, well, how can you grab audio? If it's less the brain operates at two kilohertz or less? It's because they have the cognitive model. If you have the Congo structured model, then you can send a type of encrypted data so to speak, that only will work for that person or for that species.

 Chris Jordan 1:54:01

Yeah. Yeah. Well, and much like hetero dieting and EG like Dr. Hall talks about regularly. That kind of technology. It's it's, it is no longer incredibly difficult. Yeah, it one point it took millions of dollars of technology to do such things and that is that is no longer the case.

1:54:27

And I want to add, so I think I coined the term EEG and heterodyning. But I don't want people to forget about mag which is Magneto and Cephalographing. They are in combination and I run neural network models to show how they give slightly different information but are both important, the magnetic fields as well as the electric field.

Chris Jordan 1:54:58

Yeah, well And that's just it because quite literally, our brain is a transducer so much, much like it can send a frequency it can receive a frequency. And you know, people think don't understand that our brains are a microchip itself it is. It's an electro magnetic system, and our consciousness and our mind is just the signal information, the software. And when they are troubled jumping between the objective realm, and the subjective experience of being human.

1:55:19

Chris Jordan 1:55:44

Well, and you know, even even to try and unweave, that matrix of being human not being human. For years, I followed the work of remote viewing, and the Stanford Research Institute, things like that. Recently, I had had the opportunity as a sponsor, the International remote viewing Association, what conference. And it was not until I attended and interviewed people and sat and had breakfast with folks like how put off John Brandenburg. Every single person involved with the beginnings of that science and say what you want folks, it is a science that is scientifically proven. Every single person has a PhD in like particle physics, things like that. And for them to literally accept the fact not only philosophically, but scientifically, yes, that we can exist in two places at the same time, that that we can literally gather information and data from a remote source.

1:57:04

So we are we are bathed. And in the Earth's magnetic field, that is the field as well as from ground to the ionosphere creates an electric field and most high energy physicists would say, that's all you need to turn the Earth into a gigantic MRI machine. And so you're you're they're totally right that this can be done. And in fact, Dr. Persinger, out of Canada before he died, he wrote a paper how to control 8 billion grants on earth or something like that. He sent me all his latest papers right before he died. And his his scientific language was odd, but he was definitely onto something. And so I felt very privileged that he did that for me,

Chris Jordan 1:59:01

 Chris Jordan 1:58:01

well in to see that kind of data, even yourself. at the advanced level that you're at, I understand a lot of these things in a very glazed over aspect and can connect dots in my brain between technologies and how they could work together and cross paths. That's all I can do. I literally just so you know, folks, all these books in the background, there's like another shelf just as big over on the other side. Sure, I've read them. I hold no degree man. Like my life was about learning.

 1:58:39

 Chris Jordan 1:58:41

A lot of people go to school for eight years, most of them are called doctors. However, the information is out there it is, it is now public knowledge. These things are all the things that I had been bringing up, MIT everything else that is that is within the last year. So this is all active research based on things that have been going on for decades.

 1:59:09

In fact, the US I get Department of Defense, you know, memos and newsletters and stuff from their banding companies from China that are working on brain technologies and mind control. So China's very big into it as well. Because this is the next frontier, the next network of hiving everyone's mind together into some kind of network or unit and that's my next book is called The birth of a new species. And it's the volume three of secrets of cyber and cybernetic warfare revealed, and it's very much what's going to happen now I'll look like a prophet but I'm actually speaking as a historian

 Chris Jordan 2:00:03

Even even speaking as a historian and that, right, there's there is once again, a panoply of stuff out there. And when when you look at not only the research that you have done the work that you have done that the algorithms that literally you helped write that were the foundation of so many things that are out there and use now.

 2:00:28

Yes, mine was, you know, and you're making me feel guilty mind don't feel

 Chris Jordan 2:00:34

it. i You did work, man. What what the monsters who paid you did with that work? Yeah, you know, like, like your names on a patent. That's it, it's not like you got paid like gobs of money from the patent? No, it's not, that's not what working in a lab is about just so you all know, like your name gets to go on a patent. But the lab that you work for makes all that money, you make your rate.

 2:01:04

Some of the agencies they don't allow,

 Chris Jordan 2:01:10

precisely because if you patent it, then you know, number one, now it's public, and they don't have a 10 year jump on it, which is what they want, at a minimum is a decade jump on the technology minimum, you know, so just so you know, anything that you see that flies overhead folks like that was at a minimum, develop 1015 years ago, most computers that you were pulling off the shelf, that technology is now 10 years old.

 2:01:44

So true.

 Chris Jordan 2:01:45

And and you know, the average consumer doesn't realize that, you know, and just just so you understand the web, I think it was 2012, that the head of Samsung came out and said, Yeah, yeah, there's microphones in your TV, and, and they're listening to you. That's how that's how we push, you know, ads in your local area for things that you like, you know, programmatic does make me giggle when the conspiracy theories ended up being true.

 2:02:16

 Chris Jordan 2:02:23

Sometimes life is stranger than fiction, you know, even be it's science fiction. And, on that note, to go back to the full on topic of targeted individuals, because we of course, have quite a few that listen to the show, and are involved in our online communities. And I pray for every one of these people, because their their life has been so interrupted. Yet at the same time, there there are some claims that are that are pretty large. And like you said to, yes, it may be in the hands of some specialized contractors, it may be in the hands of some other people who have done, quote, wet work or other black bag work for alphabet agencies. Granted, however, there's quite a contingent of folks. And I'm no expert, I don't know. But who claim Masonic involvement with the technology who claimed to be targeted by Masons claimed to be targeted by the New World Order, things like that.

2:03:41

I've been interviewed over probably about 2500 people. Wow. And I've heard every story you could possibly imagine of who they believe is behind it. And that's part of the psychological warfare. You don't want them to be able to point the finger. This country, this government, this agency, specifically. A lot of them say it's Satanists, or witches or demons, you know, from another round or things like that. And I believe, you know, I'm probably going to get a lot of slack for this, but ally is willing, you know, this, it's like allowing atomic weapons in the hands of civilians, we're not gonna allow it. Yeah, and that's my final stance on the issue. Then people will say, well, they put me on a list because they have military contacts, things like that, that I can't really comment on. i The only thing I've found in common is it tends to be the outline later. And now, all governments want to hurt or shepherd the people. I mean, government in Latin means governor to steer ment of the mind. So mine steering and mind control. So it, it surprises me when people think that some group, like Masons are behind it, and they have secret club, and they have these secret weapons, and they're targeting non Masons or get you know, yeah, it doesn't make any sense. Well, and

Chris Jordan 2:05:37

Same, same. And, you know, hey, I'm a fourth degree knight at Columbus, I'm sure some of the people, I'm sure some of the people involved with this scheme going on with all of this tech are Knights of Columbus, you know, but that doesn't mean that the Knights of Columbus are targeting you.

2:05:57

Exactly.

Chris Jordan 2:06:00

They don't necessarily shake hands in that in that logical step.

2:06:05

Yeah. Well, what do you think about? I get a lot of flack, because I don't, you know, I already went to Congress realize the legal system, legislature, its human laws are all just, yeah. And they, unless you have someone who can are willing to enforce it, the Constitution is what's supposed to be protecting these people. You don't need more locks. Torture is illegal. No matter how it's done psychologically, Muck through mind or perception anything? Yeah. So I don't think more laws are gonna help it might help bring awareness. But, you know, I think it's a public public awareness. And when happens to them and they reach the Pentagon document says, a revolution can happen. If something so atrocious, you know, we do reaches six to 8% of the population. So that gives them a lot of leeway, or human experimenters.

Chris Jordan 2:07:15

Chris Jordan 2:07:15

Well, in a, you know, they're there. As we discuss regularly with Dr. John Hall there, there is no law that prevents experiment experimentation on the public.

2:07:28

Well, it's simple, you know, the right to life, liberty and property.

Chris Jordan 2:07:33

Sure, sure. That's a great preamble and a beautiful statement, however. And when you marry that with the fact that America as of right now is one of the only countries that has zero definition of digital identity. Yeah, you know, like, all these cookies that you see pop up all these cookie trackers and stuff where it's like opt in. That's all the EU that made that happen that said, no, no, no, you have a digital ID, you have a digital footprint. That is yours. It is unique. And if you want people to get that, you need to opt in to sharing it. Yeah. And you have to be open with the fact that you were collecting data to push ads, and everything else. Yeah.

2:08:22

And I worked on a lot of biometric systems, you know, vascular signatures, retinal patterns, fingerprint, voice patterns and stuff like that. But even walking gates, which I thought was interesting, but really, they're going to push some sort of microchip onto people digital chaps. And everyone said, No, they'll never do that. I think it's closer than they think.

Chris Jordan 2:08:53

There there has been some incredible technology, even even what you're talking about right now, the new surveillance technology in China can recognize a person by their gait by their walk in and out of a crowd of 1000s.

2:09:13

Yeah, and even views Doppler radar. People have unique heartbeat signatures in greeting veterans, so you can get somewhat of a recognition system identification from that, but you combine all these different methods that I mentioned. It becomes incredibly accurate. So that's without a microchip. Now imagine if you could put or use the body's natural resonance signatures, bio magnetic and electrical signature, you got the you know who the person is, and that's, maybe that's good. Maybe that's bad. You can pick it up right here. Yeah, well, everybody, everybody's already carrying the device to do it.

Chris Jordan 2:10:01

 2:10:08

Yeah, that was the beginning. When you didn't your brain,

 Chris Jordan 2:10:14

you can put in voice stress analysis, you can put in all kinds of things. I remember a conference that I worked when I first moved to Austin. It was in 2012. It was a white hat hacking conference for put on by the University of Texas. I remember there was a lock picking demonstration. There was one guy that was the first time that I saw somebody live hack on stage. And he hacked in to a home computer via Bluetooth controlled light.

 2:10:47

Oh, my goodness. And

 Chris Jordan 2:10:50

it was this was like, in the early days of like, oh, I can change my lights with my phone, you know. And yeah, with that Wi Fi, and Bluetooth enabled, like he got into the actual computer on stage. That is, it was pretty incredible. And to see that done live was like, wow, I accidentally, and I, I'm not a white hat, hacker. I'm not a hacker at all. But I accidentally hacked into one of the top five banks in the world. I wrote to them, so I called them and wrote to them. And they immediately fix that and say, Thank You letter. My, I felt like kind of threatened. You don't fix this, I'm gonna release this.

 2:11:11

 Chris Jordan 2:11:44

I'm gonna let everybody know you're back.

 2:11:47

Right away. Sparkling butterfly security. And it was truly by accident that I discovered it.

 Chris Jordan 2:11:56

Well, and that kind of hack and work is done or regularly. Now. Mate used to be something that you know, every, you know, maybe 1000 coder was into my god, man. I've seen I've seen audio engineers, I know, hack into people's Wi Fi systems. Like, while they're engineering a show, just because like they're bored. And that's, you know, like, yeah, like, I like, I like finding people's Wi Fi hotspots on their phone and just cracking into them.

 2:12:33

And see, like, what the what the white people's doors and I found a door that wasn't blocked. So I walked into their house, and I just think that I'm not into the hacking thing. Yeah, I just think that's too much of an invasion of privacy. And you can you know, mess with people too badly. Yeah.

 Chris Jordan 2:13:02

Well, with that being said, and with the brain hacking being said and with with targeted individuals on the radar, and now in the public eye with Havana syndrome. What what can those that are targeted, those that are affected by Havana syndrome, do it now granted, those affected by Havana syndrome have been hit with the quote, immaculate concussion, they actively show soft tissue brain damage.

 2:13:36

And unfortunately, that can't.

 Chris Jordan 2:13:38

There is no repair for that, however, are these neuro weapons or think of it like Star Trek, there's a son, there's concussion, or there's a kill option, you know, it style and lethality is the military coughs. Unfortunately, those with the true concussion damage, it's going to continue and get worse. And so what can they do is hopefully, if there's civilian keep going on shows like yours or others. And Dr. Len bear is he got one of the first diagnosis of urbanna syndrome as a civilian and and, you know, he doesn't get compensation necessarily for it. But it's a it's a start for all the people that have been affected over, you know, decades and to get help. And the other problem is though, everyone got a million dollars for compensation. It would bankrupt the United States. So they that's why they've limited to just the people who are actively on duty, as you know, for the US government, but that's hardly fair. Yeah. two classes of citizens.

 2:13:42

 Chris Jordan 2:15:21

Well, well, yes. Yeah. And you know, once again, this doctor is now officially the first civilian everybody else has been. Now. Now granted, if I'm not mistaken, you whenever the whenever the panel happened in the in the, the the original stuff. If I'm not mistaken, there were stories of some of the ambassador's children who may have been affected. They were still looking into that, at that point. That would that was when it wasn't a panel, I guess it was more of a panel. It was done to Tsu right up the road. And here's the thing that bothers me. We've known about these weapons easily. Since 19, six, zero, we've been working on I've worked on on center center. And when abana center comes out, it takes years to go from crickets or causing it get through maybe a sonic weapon next year, and then maybe a microwave weapon the next year. They just didn't ask the right people. Yes, like they're they're delaying the game. They're purposely trying to, you know, confuse the situation. We already know what it is. Well, and once again, remember that timeline that we were talking about folks wanting to be a decade ahead of the game? Beginning in 2017, five years.

 Chris Jordan 2:16:48

 2:17:00

Yeah. By took my Yeah, my personal take on it is, I'd say Operation Northwoods. And Havana syndrome, and I put them together. And we're trying to create a pretext for war against the Russians. They must be.

 Chris Jordan 2:17:19

Yeah, yeah. Well, you know, even right here, I've got the, the Operation Northwoods document upright now for my knowledge of all facts. bearing on the problem number two, it is recognized that any action which becomes pretext for the US military intervention in Cuba, will lead to a political decision, which would then lead to military action, which is where the money happens. It always leads back to the money.

 2:17:50

Because we're worried economy and minute, we spent 10 times more. I mean, more than the next 10 countries combined. We were there were world peace. You know how many people would be unemployed and now?

 Chris Jordan 2:18:08

Yeah, yeah, well, and you know, my wife is not a conspiratorially minded person. She does not have that much deep faith in humanity. She doesn't think that that many people can get together in a room. Decide on something and just keep it secret. For like, decades.

2:18:30

Well, it's lots of you read the record. Right, please, sir. That's true. Just turn on your television. Now. They control that. Yeah.

Chris Jordan 2:18:42

Yeah, that that dialogue is just about fully controlled. And, you know, one of the things that I said whenever the laws went through in the FCC, the internet became under FCC control. And under SEC purview not control that purview. And I was like that that's a dangerous, legal precipice, because you have not gone through and rewritten the charter of the FCC. So all the what do you think about the Ministry of Truth?

2:19:17

Chris Jordan 2:19:22

I you know, that that already exists on the way out and I am, I am as purple as you can get, folks, I am not a red guy. I'm not a blue guy when it comes to politics. I think that they are all just as guilty and dirty as the next in the other. And but Obama on his way out in the National Defense Authorization Act, the last one that he signed, put forth funding for the Office of National Office of anti propaganda propaganda. Like so. So basically, you funded a propaganda office. Yeah, you can carbonatite propaganda propaganda if you want, I'm pretty sure. Pretty sure it's still propaganda.

2:20:08

And then the Patriot Act by Bush, Jr. Well,

Chris Jordan 2:20:12

and you know, when when you start talking about Operation Northwoods, that is that is, of course, the first thing that comes to mind. That is what a lot of people said, when it when it came to inside job with 911 was go back and look at Operation Northwoods. This is a means by which to continue the industrial military complex. And continue it in perpetuity, as long as the big T word is used.

Yeah, and that's right. So let's say hypothetically, we haven't one world government, one world order, we're still going to have outbreaks. And they're just going to call them terrorists rather than countries right? each other. And they're going to control every human to make sure they can't even form an opinion, or to form a group to even overthrow this global tyranny. And I'm very anti New World Order and I'll be honest, the back you know, I do see mankind eventually getting along, but not the way it's being rolled down.

 Chris Jordan 2:21:36

I, you know, when you when, when it comes to New World Order, I almost fall in my wife's camp of I don't think it would be that big. However, is there a cabal of people that are moving these things in the background? You're darn tootin? No, Klaus

 2:21:58

Schwab. Wow. Scientific buddy, you will own nothing and you will be happy. We'll use genetic engineering, we will alter your identity.

 Chris Jordan 2:22:11

Well, and don't when, when you talk about who's who's controlling what and who's controlling the dialogue, let's let's go back to that in Q tel, and, and Facebook. Because if you remember, folks, one of the first things that was like huge that happened with Facebook was in 2011. And that was the overthrow of Hosni Mubarak in Egypt. And that was literally started on a on a Facebook post. Where somebody was like, Hey, this is no, no, I'm done with this. And the Arab Spring began. And they were right there January 2011. And, you know, that guy that account was, that dude was never really found. You know, so yeah, like they literally used a social media platform to topple a government.

 2:23:21

No, no.

 Chris Jordan 2:23:27

You know, that the one thing that I say regularly on this show is the concept of 8020. less than 20% of the standing populace of the United States fought in the American Revolution. The other 80% were like you nutball stop. Enough. You're gonna burn us all. So A, it doesn't take convincing the greater percent of a population it doesn't it doesn't take and even when you're talking about a means of control, it doesn't take a mass number of people. It does not take an overwhelming majority. This is not a court case. Yeah, the Pentagon documents, if six to 8% people become aware of the revolution is quite possible. So doesn't even need to be 20%.

 2:24:17

 Chris Jordan 2:24:32

Yeah, and I mean, I just use the 20%. And I know the number was way less than 20. I want to say it was like 13 or something like that. I just use that as a general generalization of humanity, period. You know, out of every 100 people you talk to probably about 20 people will get the deeper concept of a conversation. You know, the other 20 Probably just waiting their turn to talk or waiting there. turned to try to convince you of a paradigm not to have the conversation in the parry thrust block that exists in a, an active debate, an open conversation, you know, an exchange of ideas. And yeah, to know that and to, to realize that I almost posted the other day. Hey, parents, try being honest with your kid let them know that you know whenever they're like I hate school, just be straight with them and go you know, unfortunately school is there to get you used to the tedium and monotony that exists eight hours a day during the work week at a job that you may hate you that's the truth. That is literally what school is there for. It is not there to educate until college level, high school level, it is not there for education. Like it is there literally to get you used to rope programming and to being able to just like a be follow instructions for eight hours.

 2:26:12

Well, Chris, I need to head out here. Oh,

 Chris Jordan 2:26:17

absolutely.

 2:26:20

Is that a Pac Man Machine behind you?

 Chris Jordan 2:26:23

No, no. That is my home studio of synthesizers. Video Effects. I posted that the other day and a buddy of mine was like, whoa, what arcade games are those? Like, they aren't arcade games, though. They look like them. I was like now I want arcade games, though. Well, I want to thank you for your time. As always, Doctor. It's always a great conversation. It's always enlightening to sit back and talk with you about these technologies. I always walk away with a new hope and a new founded way to look at this situation and the technologies at hand. So thank you so much.

 2:27:05

Yeah, well, thank you. I always enjoy our conversation. So please do hold the line real quick while we close things out while you are online checking out. Dr. Duncan's work, you can go to Amazon you can purchase how to tame a demon you can also purchase his other book, Project soul catcher, which I've got right here. I have both of them, actually. But stop by there, check that out. You can also go to the curious realm. website. You can go there you can hop by the store. And you can find Dr. Johnson's work there as well.

Chris Jordan 2:27:09
