Hello, everybody, happy Tuesday evening. Hope everybody is doing well. Good morning if you're in the UK or across the dateline over there. Your plus six GMT, all that action. Hope you're all doing great. Thank you everybody who's been tuning in to the many shows I've been appearing on promoting my new frequency music, things like that shameless self promotion or Christopher Jordan.com. Because if you all don't know I'm shameless as it is. Welcome to the show, as always, everybody, always glad to have you here. Get ready this week and next week. We are live here in studio just about the entirety of August and the first part of September. We are in pre recorded fashion folks, if you stop by curious realm.com At the bottom of our website is actually our calendar and you can see our upcoming events. August is stacked full. We start off with the International remote viewing Association and remote row Institute conference. Coming up, that's going to be fantastic. We are a sponsor of that. We're also a sponsor of Texas UFO con, coming up August 19, the MUFON symposium in Cincinnati, we are a sponsor of as well, and paranormal roundtables. Second Annual dog man cryptid conference, we are the AV sponsor of that, and we will be up there in Dallas for that. So all of those the next many, many Tuesday nights will all be pre recorded episodes, they will all be content coming to you from those events, the way that we always do. We'll be talking with the researchers, authors, presenters, things like that next week, actually very, very honored to have Mindy top best on at the beginning of the show. She is the State Director for MUFON. In Oklahoma, I had a chance to meet her at MUFON con in Denver last year, her new book, dying to meet them is about near death, experience her near death experience, how it works and how it ties in with UFO UAP experience, all of that kind of stuff. She's also one of the many members of the MUFON experienter resource team as well as self talk. So it is a double MUFON doubleheader next week to kind of help promote that upcoming conference a little bit. We will be talking about, of course seves book you have the right to talk to aliens, and what the experienter response team is all about what how we how we should react to experiencers how should we how we should interact with experiencers and, and open conversation with them. Because much like anybody who's been through any traumatic experience, like Believe it or not, folks, even though you're like, hey, I want to see a UFO. Feel free to read any of these books on my shelves back here. Most of those experiences do not begin well. They do not begin with feelings of great intention. They do not begin with feelings of oh wow, these guys are here to help me out. Many times they are followed by feelings of feared dread in your attic or basement to quote to quote Ghostbusters, but it all sincerity. They are traumatic events. They can be very traumatic events. I know my personal experience with shadow people was very traumatic for me like being grabbed by a shadow person and not not knowing that or understanding it or being able to move or respond. It was one of the most frightening experiences of my life. And even to think about it now like to this day. I do not sleep with an open with an open closet door. Like it won't happen. It won't happen doors in my room have to be closed. I won't I won't be like nope, nope. No portal for shadows. Thank you. That's that's where my mentality is on it, you know, and we have to remember that sometimes people have had traumatic experiences that they are just now becoming comfortable to talk about. That's what our first part of the episode is tonight. On Hold is our good friend Mike turbot, we will be going over the recent UAP whistleblower panel and conference with David Grolsch and David Favre and graves And the the it was it was the Oversight Committee. So the people really, really involved with the purse strings of stuff. So it was great to hear them. We'll be talking about a lot of the response to that tonight, breaking down a lot of what was said during that. So get ready for some clips, folks with our good friend Mike Thurber. Always great to talk to somebody in the world of intelligencia. Whenever you hear some of these responses. In the second part of the episode, get ready for a good friend, Kathleen ball. Her new book, a grail Quest has just hit the shelves, talking about her discovery of a Templar cave in Brazil. And her her official Grail quest that that sent her on, and how that has led to a world of research and a world of amazing things for her, including this book, which is great. So congratulations, Kathleen on that. Before we start up with Mike Tober. Folks, let's check out a little bit of the news of the week we haven't had news of the week and a longtime news of the week is of course, brought to you by the curious room Facebook group stop on by join the group join the conversation. At a phys.org evidence the oral stories of Australia's first nations might be 10,000 years old. That goes all the way back to last ice age and yes, the aborigine people are claimed to have some of the most unbroken oral tradition in the history of humanity. At of news for San Antonio San Antonio's Natural Bridge cavern, those first ever underground life concert and its newly discovered ballroom there is a huge new location that they found there on that premises at a phys.org thermal imaging innovations allow AI to see through pitch darkness like broad daylight and out of CBS News, dead body found in barrel at Malibu Beach. That is just some of the news that is fit to print folks stuff on by joining the conversation. They're on Facebook with the curious realm. While you're online, checking that out, of course, stop on bi curious realm.com That's where you can find all of the episodes. That's where you can follow us on all the forms of social media. We have all the links right there. That's where you can go and check out our videos page and subscribe to five by five News on YouTube and find their stuff on Facebook as well. We have all of our guests YouTube embedded right there for you to easily find so welcome back to the show. Mike tuber How you doing bud?

07:39

You're fine, sir, was that buddy and Malibu's that found anywhere near Charles James house

07:47

I think the Vatican assassin himself is a little more slide than that. Tigers blood man keeps you sharp you know, he's one that I miss. It's kind of like a good Florida man story. I miss a good Charlie Sheen headline. You know, he's kind of disappeared into celebrity obscurity. And I always loved his career. He had some great work. It was fantastic. But, man, there were just some wild headlines that like that whole Vatican assassin interviewer was like, What is this man? If you ever watched the interview with Kanye West, or Yeezy rather, on on Infowars with Alex Jones, that was like, What am I witnessing? Right now? Like I was just stymied, I was stymied, I don't watch Alex much anymore but there was there when I saw that one. I was like, Oh man, I'm tuning into that today. I gotta I gotta see that it was like whoa, whoa. What is what is going on here?

 09:06

You are watching your back there now worry.

 09:09

No, no, no. Nothing that kind of way. It was more one of those. I'm glad I ain't glad I ain't on that switchboard right now. But And oddly enough that was our conversation whenever I got you on the phone earlier was you you are always getting into the thick of something it's it's pretty wild your you cannot publicly discuss are pretty phenomenal. Mike let's just searcher and this is why I can I can relate a little bit. This is true.

 09:39

 09:43

None of this is true. It's all made up.

 09:45

And it's alright. Man, kind of wished this last weekend was kind of made up but you know, it'll come out sometime down the road. But when it does, you know we can refer back to this but what a bizarre Just periods or events that occurred in this particular month and with the particular subject matters just Yeah. Well to get off that relative, of course, because people hate to hear about things they can't hear about. Yeah, yeah. That's it. Well, it. Let's let that be our Springboard mic. Because once again, we heard quite a few times in the coverage that happened. of the hearing that I can't discuss that. I can discuss that in a closed door. One of the reasons I love having you on as a not only do you live in the world of intelligencia, do you do you live in the world of of a subcontract and coach contractor?

 10:11

 10:45

What I'm saying is not is not entirely correct. It's very close, I will admit that I have a lot more respect for dress after the VIP hearings, and I did probably get for it. Now he handled himself and some of the things you mentioned are 11:03

my confidence in him is 72%. Greater than it was and it was already a good like 80%.

11:10

Yeah. And my mind and my feelings are similar in that I believe that he won, I believe he's telling the truth. I don't I don't think there's there's too much in him that came out that was lies. The problem is, is that I don't know whether or not he was told the truth. So that brings on another part of the mix in the classic? Well, none of the none of the stories come from him directly witnessing these events or anything of the sort. So how can we trust that? Well, you don't necessarily have to trust that you have to trust the process. And that's what he did. He's going through the process the proper way, by filing the IG IC report with the Inspector General, the the internet community, Inspector General of the intelligence community, and as you spot is doing the proper stuff. So the other thing is, is that the senators always tend to ask questions, I think to get more of a, of a soundbite on that night's news than they do because they know he can't answer some of these questions. And it's like, why waste the time asking him questions that you know, he can't answer. And he in some of those questions, when he alluded to being able to talk to them openly in a skiff, that's not necessarily true. If you're in a program, and you haven't been authorized to share information that's in that program with anyone outside the program, because it's compartmentalized and stop sacred or as you know, Sei or SAP program, then you have an obligation to maintain national security. And that doesn't matter if you're gonna skip or not, you know, the people across to me have to be cleared, and have a need to know that information. But at the same time, we have a Senate that we have new laws in place, new whistleblower protection laws in place are, you know, they're, they're kind of mixing in several things that could be argued back and forth as to what he can talk about what he can't talk about. So I, I'm gonna keep an open mind to this. And you know, there are some holes in his story, obviously. And when you have the DoD come out, there are holes in every story. Oh, of course, there are holes in every story. And before we get started tonight, folks, I want to I want to caveat something because No, no, we didn't hear where the bodies were buried. No, we didn't. And they copy out of that at the beginning. Like if you're expecting to hear about the little green men today, you may be mistaken. This isn't the hearing for you. What they're talking about is the money and where the money leads us to the compartmentalised programs, where the money leads us to the closed doors to the doors that closed in the faces of the senators that were in this hearing, who were investigating it as well as grush, who grush rather who became a whistleblower and despite what anybody may think, let me explain to you exactly what that means. That means the end of any career or pension proven otherwise. Pretty much end end gone. 30 years of your life gone, dude. Good luck picking up a contract outside doing what you do or doing what you've been doing. Nope, ain't gonna happen. You have just become anathema. If none of this comes true. If none of this comes to light if it's proven that you're lying, anything like that, like you are officially and legally dumb for and even at the end of the hearing, which we won't get to tonight. We'll have many many clips, but one of my favorites was when they said that they were perfectly willing to enact the home Next, believe it's the Holman Act. Which basically says if you don't if you are a compartmentalised contractor, if you're a contractor, if you get money from the Senate checkbook, and you are involved in this and you do not come forward, when asked, you can consider yourself fired. The money's gone. Yep. Doesn't matter if you're involved or not, the money's gone, like person shut. And that that was phenomenal to see. That was amazing. Now, some of the things that we are going to get into tonight are a little bit of the obfuscation. That has happened. A few sightings that weren't necessarily put out hugely in the public. Things like that, and, and knowledge of programs and technologies. You know, there was there was a big use of the word non biological.

13:27

 16:02

Right. And I'm glad to use that. Because that that kind of keeps that window open. You didn't say extraterrestrials. You didn't use the NHI terms that must either it was definitely asked one time NHI was asked once. Yep, 16:19

 16:14

yep. And that when he said that, biologics, were found that does keep that window very wide. Yeah. You know, when you say something's non human will anything that's not a human is non human. So adult.

 16:36

Yeah, they landed. Spaceman. We sent up the Dog Star. Yeah. So yeah, yeah, I get it. And I think that's a good way to cover the bases and what have you. He's obviously the the interview that he had with, with cold heart. And this hearing, he's had a lot of either coaching, or some sort of prepping for how to handle speaking in public. So you can, you can definitely tell a difference. And then, and I don't fault that I don't I don't have an issue with I've never had training, obviously, no proper training, as far as far as being able to speak to the public. But you know, when, when it is that drastic, then you have to wonder, okay, is this the same type of coaching? He's going to have for his testimony to the IG? And what have you down the road? If so, that's fine. As long as what he's saying is truthful, as far as he knows it, then that's cool. I still want I know, you do too, I still want whatever he's saying to to be true. You know, and 17:57

 16:46

11 17:52

I do not doubt what he testified to last week is true whatsoever. Okay, so whoever doubted that we have retrieval, that we have recovered technology or anything like that. And once again, the leaving that door open is very, very important for a scientific viewpoint, you know, we do not know. Now, granted, one of the things that was asked, and we'll get into it, and you'll hear the question asked is How long has the government been in contact? And he said, since 1939. So once again, if you've got friends that do not believe in UFOs, UAPs, great, doesn't matter. Take the conversation of alien life, take the conversation of extra dimensional life. Because once again, it just means extra terrestrial, not of this earth. And it's not from a parallel Earth doesn't mean that it's not from an Earth in the future, or in the past, that has been affected by actions here. So that quantifiably, according to all physics going on right now could be in the realm of possibility. So to just say, it's a biological entity from another planet is very short minded.

19:11

Yeah, I foresee a lot of new new terms coming out to the Specify an entity that comes from our own future an entity that comes through a dimension entities that come via other media, you know, so yeah, there's going to be some new terms introduced so we're gonna have to get used to that here. Well, over the years again, if you don't if you don't believe in those things, fine. Once again, my question is, do you believe in a Senate oversight committee? Do you believe in the need for one Do you believe in the Pentagon Papers, which told us what actively led to Vietnam and the horrors and the the money trail, the black money trail, things like that, things things like Air America, which led directly to the To the ways and means by which Iran Contra was carried out, if you don't like your government taking part and things like that, and you want the people involved, held accountable, fired, put in prison, things like that. Now, imagine that on a scale this large. Yeah. 39

19:33

20:22

Yeah. And the problem with finding any of these is it's so well hidden inside these budgets, it's usually in the black budgets, black budgets, have, you know, several layers to them that different layers of Senators can see and not see, of course, you have the Oversight Committee, you know, the, you know, for the Department of Defense and spending and all that, you know, I get it, they they can see multiple levels deep, but even they're not privy to very specific items, you know, that that are on the drawing board, you know, so, and we don't find out until later in course, hindsight is, you know, obviously, very good. But in this regard, I can, I can see some of it, but there's, you know, if we're pushing for transparency on this subject, if the government still doesn't think that we're ready, you know, that that that horse has been dead for a long, long Yeah, yeah. I mean, I've already used the glue from that horse on all kinds of different stuff.

1

And the thing is, the body's ready to pop. Yeah, Mike. Yeah, just like any just like any whale that flaps up on the ocean shore.

21:32

The bodies are deployed, you get a certain amount of time before that thing goes pop. And 21:41

21:36

when it does,

21:42

and like Steve Bassett said on this show a few weeks ago from the Disclosure Project, we are he said by the end of summer, he expected he expected a big D disclosure moment.

21:55

Yeah. Me personally, I pushed it out a little bit, but gotta hope he's right.

22:02

Depends on when you stop wearing white Mike, you know, yeah, that's true. When summer officially ends and fall begins, you know what I mean? We don't have a we don't have a groundhog to tell us that one. It's just it's a color.

22:20

Yeah. I did have Bill Murray come around. He just tells me when you suddenly look around, you're like, oh, wait a minute. I look like I'm behind the times what's happening? Yeah. But But in all sincerity. That is that is a short timeline. And that's what I said. I was like that is that is remarkable to hear. And it is pretty much the I would have to say he is the authority when it comes to DC disclosure. He started the Disclosure Project. He was really the first one to say I am officially a disclosure lobbyist. That's what I do is lobby people like Senator Harry Reid. That kind of thing. There's gonna be a layered rollout or does he think it's just gonna be somebody dropping the bomb?

22:24

23:07

He thinks he thinks it will. What's happening right now is basically going to Tetris things to the point of there's no option but a bomb drop. Gotcha. And that's kind of what we've been saying, Mike is, is the fact of things are things are coming to a head where you're gonna have to admit your technology there that you have access to it and that you've had it for a long, long time.

23:34

Yeah. And so someone's gonna walk out the door with irrefutable evidence that says, Okay, enough is enough. Okay, we've been dragged through this, we've been riding this roller coaster long enough. We keep getting Promises, promises and Promises, promises. And then is this this climatic and anticlimactic roller coaster? I've got to stop. And the only way I can see it stopping is for somebody coming out and saying, okay, at the risk of everything, here it is, and just do it.

24:03

And that's what's happening. Like, just to loop it back before we start up with these clips. That's exactly what's happening. Mike right now we have three people. And there was a huge it was it was a long enough round of applause that when I was watching it on YouTube, it it cut to commercial when I was watching the replay today and taking notes of it because I recorded the whole thing. And then went back and watch the same feed today to make sure that like what I'd recorded was still there. All that kind of stuff. So yes, the Associated Press, nothing has been cut out, folks. It is still 100% Raw. But the applause for the three gentlemen. You know, graves grush and favor. was like a minute, minute and a half long. It was huge and honestly any of those guys, I spoke privately with an individual that I know who was who was a electronic intercept operator. Let's just say that. And he shared with me a couple of articles that he had been Deep Throat on. Because he was like, Well, you know, maybe someday I can share my things will be clear enough that I can share my experiences because of how buried they are within the unlit onion layer of compartmentalization. And maybe we're there maybe we weren't there, those kinds of things.

25:33

Yeah. We are in days and times and, and methods and tactics and stuff like that.

 25:39

He would, he would risk everything. Yeah, he would risk everything, like I told them a I don't want you to risk what you feel is your duty. If you feel that telling somebody that would betrayed the trust of the oath that you took, by all means, do not tell me Jack, please lead us, which leads us to grush with all of the things he said, being approved by dotser. Yeah, so you've got to, you've got to really wonder, wow, okay, he basically just stated some of the things that he stated in the interview with Coltart and to say that that was approved, especially as his opening statement or whatever, that was actually approved by Dr. And you have to wonder, you know, somebody sitting in dotser, when they're reading this, this information, as he's gonna put it out, there has to be some questions. They're saying, okay, he admitted, the things that I would say, are truly top secret that we actually have crashed retrieve retrievals. And we have biologics, and we have people that have have been in his position and are no longer with us, you know, things of that nature. And that just becomes a huge issue. For me, when I hear doctors are approving it, because that doctor will approve something, if it says, If it said, in its factual, it's already been public knowledge or something that they're allowed to release. And they also were things that they believe are fiction, like some of the some of the stories that come out, like Kevin De story, you know, his book that he wrote, and some other stuff that would cover some military, you know, tactics and things of that nature, but not to the point where they actually revealed a specific date and time or certain events or whatever, I get it. But it just for anybody that doesn't notice the Defense Office of pre publication and Security Review is what doctors stand for. And they are tasked to take anything from someone who has a top secret or secret security clearance and any information that they're going to devote to the public. They want to see that first. And it's basically pre publication if you're writing a book, or pre publication, if you're going to be speaking or something of that nature. Yeah.

 25:58

 28:02

guests that have had to submit their manuscripts. Yes,

 28:07

yes. Exactly. So with me, I'm just I'm just real careful about some of the things I say to some of the knowledge I've acquired. We're not necessarily through, you know, the the specific channels that you would think that the information would normally be disseminated. And so whenever you get information, and you know, I've been I've been called on it and McMillan himself has like, tried to read up comment called the task on me about having top secret security information. And then he found out within a few days, exactly how that was acquired. He hasn't said a word since. So you have to understand that there. The government can bring someone in to any of the any program that they feel that that person has an expertise in and bring them up to speed on a need to know basis, then maybe that the whole project or whatever, but at least the part that they need to give information on and do that. So growth is probably operating somewhat in that capacity. And so some of the information that he's been supplied, obviously didn't go through dotser. So the testimony that he's acquired from the 40 or so plus people that he's talked to, is not people that submitted it to doctors, he they he straight up got top secret information. And he hasn't disseminated that would mean he's saying within the realm of the law, even though he retains it illegal to give that information it's not illegal to receive it.

29:38

Yeah. illegal to have it in your brain. Yeah, to be transmitted.

29:44

Yeah, so either transmit or order hold possession of like pieces of paper like to put the heart files exactly next to my Corvette.

29:58

30:01

Yeah, I did do that's that's where I kept mine the toilet closet, you know, the good night the bedroom next to the golf course at the resort that I own all three of them so much because one of the one of the first things that came about the first 30 minutes or so was pleasantries, but one of the first things that came out was a very interesting description from graves about a curious craft that many, many people have talked about the black cube. Let's hear this if classification practices keep crucial information hidden. Since 2021. All UAP videos are classified as secret or above. This level of secrecy not only impedes our understanding, but fueled speculation and mistrust. In 2014, I was an F 18 Foxtrot pilot in the Navy fighter attack Squadron 11, the red rippers and I was stationed at NAS Oceana in Virginia Beach. After upgrades were made to our jets radar systems, we began detecting unknown objects operating in our airspace. At first, we assumed their radar errors, but soon we began to correlate the radar tracks with multiple onboard sensors, including infrared systems eventually through visual ID. During a training mission in morning area, whiskey 7210 miles off the coast of Virginia Beach to fit and Super Hornets were split by UAP. The object described as a dark gray or a black cube inside of a clear sphere came within 50 feet of the lead aircraft and was estimated to be five to 15 feet in diameter. The mission commander terminated the flight immediately and returned base. Our squadron submitted a safety report but there was no official acknowledgement of the incident and no further mechanism to report the sightings.

30:13

30:44

 31:53

Now that of course is part of the problem right there Mike is no official way to report sightings things like that now this was this is a remarkable and like he said they they spotted it they were really up close with it. Within 50 yards that's I mean a half mile Yeah, I did a lot of miles is considered a close call, folks. Just so you know. Like if you hear about like two airlines, two airliners, having a close call and mid air like that's like a half mile away. We're talking 50 feet.

 32:28

Here's a here's some information on that. And I did a very deep dive into those three videos. And this particular video rang out something to me that that I was already kind of aware of. One of the things that they said you'll remember them saying, look at the DSA, there's a whole fleet of things like that. One of the questions posed to Ryan Graves was, of all the objects that had been seen daily for the over the two and a half years that he claimed they were seeing basically daily, what objects had the pilot seen with their own eyes. And what he stated was the only object that was seen with the pilots own eyes was the cube in the sphere. And that bells and whistles went off in my head, I think Tyler and Ray had the bells and whistles off and down that same rabbit hole. But I actually contacted the company that that works with that technology that can create those objects on the screen. And there's there's two schools of thought here. Let's let's just assume for a moment that we're going to hear a alternate story as to what he was looking at that might make sense. That object that he described is perfect description of a radar reflector. And the radar reflectors have been around since the 30s and 40s. And they even use them over and Cuba to make it appear as though there was hundreds of of aircraft heading into Cuba and they could turn on the aircraft or an off the aircraft and make the aircraft move at any speed back then. So there's we're talking back in the 50s in this particular instance. Now the technology is called DRF. FM is digital radio frequency modulation. And in this type of technology is a I'm looking at UFO it's we're just technology is simply a device that receives a radar signal and takes that signal, processes it and sends it back out and modifies it to be whatever it wants it to be. And this technology has been around for a while. So I'm not talking about anything that's super classified either either. But anyone listening to this all you have to do is search Navy contract with mercury systems and go ers.

 34:49

I've got Dr. FM up on screen right now as we're talking.

 34:53

Here you go. So I contacted Mercury systems I contacted them and talk to them about this particular information. And here's what basically came out about it. The Mercury systems was being tested by the Roosevelt carrier group during this time. So the these, this technology was being tested at that time now, whether or not it was exactly what graves witnessed. I can't say because I don't have the data. But what I can say is that everything that he stated in these stages at the pilot status is almost perfectly indicative of what you would expect from the RFM technology, you would see fleets of them on your radar, they would do maneuvers, that could be anything they can make, they can make it go at any speed, they want it to go. And that's as explained to me by the people, or by the actually the president of nurture systems. So I ended up talking to him. And I said, and I asked him point blank, I said, Could this account for some of the things that we have seen in these Navy videos that were recently released? And he says he can't get into that? He can't, he can't discuss anything specific to that. And I said, Well, based on our conversation today, I feel like that may be the case. And it would be a very oversimplified explanation for what's happening. And it would be very disappointing for a lot of people, but at the same time, at least, it would cover that base. And he said, he said, I would, if I were you, I would go down that road. And that basically gave me the answer I needed to have on that. So that that kind of like, you know, take that particular, you know, siding, and kinda like, Oh, darn it, I hate to say this. So I brought it up the graves several times, and he ignored it basically blocked me after a certain point and I wasn't being mean or anything like that. I just simply asked him point blank, hey, is this technology a possibility? He's yet growlers flying around it was that we're doing it and so that that that to me kind of turned me off to that you know, it's like alright, well, I guess we'll we'll table that one for now and carry on with with the other two videos and see if we can figure out what those were and that's that's essentially what I did. But yeah, as he sat there and he discussed that human the spear which has been so hyped up for so long, and there is a very plausible explanation from it for the for the size of it the fact that it was in the in the winds except, you know, he states that it was going against for category four hurricane winds I don't have that data so I can't refute that or do but I can say Kevin days data actually did acknowledge that and you know, so here's what here's a piece of information no one probably probably is very much aware of what I'm about to say he has been verified by all the game and give his name is Edward Teach at Edwards Air Force Base, control the weather station there at Armstrong, and come to find out that the upgrades of the radar that they've had for years and years and years now, each time someone upgraded the radar, you noticed that they were seeing new objects on the screen. And these objects as much as people would hate to have to hear ended up being balloons, which could be seen for the first time.

 38:15

Like I've literally got the echo Max EMA. Oh three I am 24 inch inflatable radar reflector, and soulless life raft. Now. It's walmart.com. Dude, are you serious, not even joking. Come in their image of this clear balloon with this silver cube of aluminum inside of it.

 38:46

And those are used for multiple reasons.

 38:49

But this is this is used for like, Hey, we're having a problem. We're gonna float this balloon up with a little helium tank from our boat that stranded out in the middle of the ocean. You know, things like that, so that whenever the a wack or whatever is looking for you, bam, they've got a reflective radar signal that, hey, we've got something way out there far beyond where they could see you. Yeah. So there are numerous uses for these things. But once again, something that can be utterly explained when you're talking about a

 39:22

Yeah, can they bounce our signals off of the radar reflectors to make it, you know, to give an appearance of multiple targets? And that's kind of where that comes from. And then that's where you start seeing the bleed and stuff like this.

 39:39

That's what the dT d RFM. Does, which we were just showing from Mercury technologies on screen just a second ago. Yeah. Going through every bit if you read if you read actually what it says the RFM does. I think a lot of people who've never heard of this will go wow, that makes a whole lot of sense. It's basically the beginnings of the technology. The that they have for the infrared laser pods for the for the F 18. It basically helps mimic things so that while they're trying to jam you, you're basically sending out a fake object, they are now thinking that they need to jam.

 39:49

 39:57

 40:16

Yeah, they think it's real. So it's there to confuse jamming technologies, things like that. And weapon systems that are made to target. Yeah, check no, they can also make the the signature of the radar just like when you're underwater and you have a sonar signature, we can tell which submarine does what because of, of the screw noise and stuff like this in the air, you can actually tell a signature of a plane based on the radar signature. And that comes back to you. And they can generally figure out what kind of plane it is. And in this, in this case, these these planes have been categorized and in the DRF N modules that mercury system makes can mimic any plane in the world. And they can also mimic things that don't necessarily exist like UFOs if they want to and make them travel at any speed. And he said, I said right here at the bottom of their product page for electronic attack training solutions, quote or radar technology incorporates advanced DRM subsystems, and a library of validated jamming and deception threats for accurate and scalable training. There you go. And once again, the big buzzword going on before this hearing. And during the hearing was our training ranges. Yep. Our training ranges are in threat. Yeah, not just not just public aircraft because that was in there too. But our training ranges are in threat.

 40:19

 40:28

41:47

Right. And you'll see that most of the sightings have been during during training exercises and sightings have occurred right after most of the sightings occurred right after a major upgrade. The Nimitz was upgraded. Yep. And in November, well, November 14 of 2004 is when the sighting was but keep in mind that the week leading up to the sighting of the Nimitz event, and and Kevin De stated this point blank he said he had been seeing them for about about two weeks. Well, almost exactly. For about two weeks. They were launching multiple balloons from San Nicolas Island, Vandenberg Air Force Base and also from point Magoo. They they launched two balloons from San Nicolas to Berlin some point Magoo, one balloon from Vandenberg Air Force Base. That's five, when Kevin Day was asked how many of these groups and formations What did he see him and he said they were in groups of five, the longest thing I had the problem with, was that when he says formation, I'm thinking of formation of planes is something you could visually see right next to each other, you know, within hundreds of feet of each other, maybe a quarter of a mile or something like that. And I asked him that, what kicked it over for me was I said, Kevin said, when you watch these, these blips, he said were information, how, how was how far apart were they? And he said, over 10 miles. I said over 10 miles, and it meant bells and whistles went off my eyes, okay. And then and that's, that's the distance between San Nicobar Islands, Vandenberg Air Force, base, and points of view. So these objects were seeing in the air from 100 to 120, knots tracking south at 20,000 feet, I see exact altitude and the exact speed of the wind that day, which is in which he didn't have that information. Keep in mind, too, Kevin didn't even know that his radar had been improved. He didn't, he didn't know that there was radar, he had been basically replacing it with all the software and hardware. And the reason why I didn't know because he didn't have the clearance and how to discuss that with me. He said he didn't have the top secret clearance, he had a just a regular security clearance, and he didn't have the ability to even know that his radar had been upgraded. And that that might be the reason why we can now see these new objects that they hadn't seen before. But imagine seeing a whole bunch of objects. And keep in mind 1900 to 2000 some odd balloons are launched every single day. And new radar systems were as soon as they were able to come online, they were picking these things up. Same thing with the Roseville their radar system had just been upgraded. Same thing with the FAA team, their radar system, the the APG 79 was was an upgrade, and they can now see objects that it couldn't see before. So now that we got the patent for the for the radar reflector that you're talking about that is a cube inside of the sphere. I've got that patent up right now that's from 1949. And when you're when you're talking about that folks from 1949, mind you, this is 1949 technology, nevermind where we've come with vulcanization all kinds of things. Upper wind velocities, eight elevations, from 30,000 to four 40,000 yards here to for unattainable may be recorded by the use of the present invention. So that's that's where they were in 1949. With these was actually filed in 45, approved in 49.

44:31

45:19

Back then there were just radar reflectors, and now with it with the D RFM, which basically takes a signal processes and I asked them, I asked them, the president of mercury systems, I said, how, how exactly does this process work? He says, Well, we've had to have chips that were fast enough to do this, because we have to receive the signal which is coming from us at the speed of light, and process it and send it back out within 1,000,000,000th of a second and get it back out. So there's no delay. And he said, here's what we do to change the speed, we asked, we put a Doppler delay inside the signal to make that object appear to go at any speed, we want it to go. And I said, when you say any speed, with 25,000 miles an hour be a speed you could do is that that's well within our range. Sure, as I said, Wow, okay. And that was just an eye opener for me, you know, but it's hard to, you know, to go in into that whole subject mix and try to not have a bias anymore after after knowing this knowledge.

46:26

Well, you know, granted, that is once again, for some of these sightings, some of these things, not all of them. For certain and and this year, it's it's interesting to number one seed, the seed, the pertinence with which our senate is actually listening to this now, it's fantastic to see it happening. Right now, we're actually going to hear about the multi decade crash retrieval program. From David gross, this is his testimony on the multi decade crash retrieval program, and what it has been doing.

47:11

At the time, due to my extensive executive level intelligence support duties, I was cleared to literally all relevant departments, and in a position of extreme trust, both in my military and civilian capacities. I was informed in the course of my official duties of a multi decade UAP crash retrieval and reverse engineering program to which I was denied access to those additional readathons. When I requested it. I made the decision based on the data I collected to report this information to my superior superiors and multiple inspectors general, and in effect becoming a whistleblower. As you know, I've suffered retaliation for my decision. But I am hopeful that my actions will ultimately lead to a positive outcome of increased transparency. Thank you. And I'm happy to answer your questions.

48:06

Thank you. Commander four four? Yeah. So thank you. It's pretty remarkable to hear these

I thank you, Commander Ravor Ravor? Yeah. So thank you, it's pretty remarkable to hear them talking about this kind of stuff on the floors of Congress.

48:18

Yeah. Yeah, absolutely.

48:21

A lot of these things.

48:23

Yeah. And that's important. And I think going forward that, you know, you know, I may sound like a negative, Nancy, in some regards with some of this stuff. But in reality, I am, I am a poster of this, I want everything to be on the table, I just want whatever is going to be on the table to be real and factual. And that and that's it. So we can weed through some of the goofy stuff we've had to go through and get down to the meat of what he's discussing what he's bringing to the table, because we don't know, everything he knows, we don't know, all of the people that he's talked to, I know some of the people that he's talked to, but we don't know, all of the people that he's talked to, and gotten information from, you know, some of these, there's, we've heard you and I both have her deathbed confessions. And, and if you had a question that, you know, it's like somebody, you know, so scared to reveal something during their life, that they're literally waiting till they're on their deathbed to offer up information. And how can you question that, you know, it's like, wow, this is amazing. And the circumstances surrounding it are also incredible. So, I just, you know, what, that is that Kirkpatrick and Susan golf, they they come out with these statements after the fact after this meeting, and, and, and you sit back and you go, Okay, well, here he is. And he's putting his career on the line, which which is careers over. Yeah. And as far as far as anyone is concerned, unless everything just pops up and, you know, somebody says, yeah, he's right. Okay, we're done. But they're not doing that and that and that becomes an issue for me that You know, it's kind of scary to bring information forward. And, and I get it, I get it, because I've been in it, and I understand it from that level, there's sometimes you'll say something, and then you'll go, I've got to hope nobody heard that. But at the same time, you want to show this information, there's a driving force and all of us that when we see something that's so extraordinary, there's so that has meaning for all of mankind, to hold that information back is more of a crime than to give the information. Absolutely. That's the way I see it. I think, everybody I think most of most of the listeners will agree, I may not agree with some of the things that I say about about some of these UFOs and what there might be, but at the same time, you know, there's a lot of there's there's a lot more out there that we don't know. And then the important thing is is making certain that what does come to the table so we don't have egg on our face. When we're presenting evidence. We say okay, here's our here's our UFO of the day. You know, we've looked at it and we can't figure out what it is. And we don't want them to be able to come back and say it's not what we think it might be. We want that final footage we want that final evidence the the body the biologics or whatever it is to be tangible. And a scientists study it and go, Wow, this is actually not from here because the radioisotopes do not match anything in our solar system. And this thing was was alive at the time these radioisotopes were absorbed into the body. So it ain't from here. That's what I want to hear well, and let's at least get into some of the capabilities of these craft and what they are. This is at about 57 minutes. This is about a two and a half hour. I recommend anybody go watch the whole two and a half hour hearing. There's a good 2030 minutes of pleasantries at the beginning. There's one person representative Fox who just shot her Her time was a vapid waste. They were all given five minutes. And she basically just went off on a political diatribe about drones. And it was like, wow, wow. Like you just asked a man about deep dark money trails. And then and then as he's answering what, hold on, because we got to talk about Chinese balloons.

51:37

52:27

Yeah, and wasted that opportunity.

52:31

The internet works.

52:34

Where's Al Gore when you need it?

52:36

Man, come on. You here's where we start getting into a few of the capabilities of these craft folks.

52:49

That's on any justified

52:53

Mr. fiver? I noticed that the tic tac video. It's tic tac like the candy. Not tic tock like the communist app? That's correct. Yes, sir. I just don't like that. Because my daughter corrected me on that and call me totally call us calls out his daughter in the middle of a national conference. There you go. But now would love to like talk. Today is the day of many first It's a miracle that we're having this, this meeting and it's also a miracle that my wife has put up with me for nine years today. Today is my anniversary. So I want to tell my wife happy anniversary and that I love her very much.

53:11

53:16

53:33

I'm sorry, folks that that this was dialed right up to the cliff say this nine years have been the best two years of her life. Thank you. Mr. favor. What what astonished you most about the the flight capabilities of these tic tac very brief? The performance, absolute performance, it was in your you're not aware of any other objects that anybody in the world has in this world that has those capabilities?

53:35

54:01

No, I think it's far beyond actually our material science that we currently possess.

54:08

Or any other reconnaissance platforms have tracked or recorded the tic tac maneuvers, maybe the NORAD system or any of the others. I am not. Okay. Mr. grush. Thank you.

54:19

So yeah, there you have an actual one of the one of the top 20 pilots in the country at one point basically attesting to the fact that like, yeah, we age and they're, they're pretty well versed, just so you know, like combat pilots are pretty well versed on what the enemy has, what their capabilities are, what maneuvers their craft can and can't do to be able to take advantage of things in a dogfight. All kinds of stuff. So yeah, yeah, let's just say that they're read onto that. And so for him to say like, No, I am not familiar with anything that could do with that. was capable of doing.

55:03

One thing is important to look at is the physics of all of this is something that's not understood by by many, um, as to how the crafts can make these maneuvers and still stay intact and stuff like this. If the if the object is operating inside of its own own warp bubble or its own distortion field, it can produce these effects because the person inside will not be experiencing the Geez, that that you would think that they would be experiencing so that just simply qualifies for that. Well,

 55:36

I was interesting to hear even the two pilots respond to their questions about making these making these maneuvers and going these speeds without the presence of a sonic boom. They're like, right, we don't know we were inside of jet aircraft. They're really really loud. Yep. We were pushing the speed of sound. So we'd have been relatively like with ourselves. Yeah, but everybody on this group would have heard it. Yeah, yeah. Anything hitting that, you know, they would have some sort of reference to that. But if the objects are going past the speed of sound, and you're not getting a sonic boom, one or two things are happening. Either a the object is operating inside of its own warp bubble, or to the object is operating like the x 59, which is a low sonic boom, which in that particular case is a plane that looks a lot like the Concorde, but doesn't make the sound that the Concorde does. And it's been likened to what a door, someone closing a door from across the street. That's how loud it would be. And knowing you wouldn't really even notice that. So, you know, but the the shapes of this aircraft, the shape of the tic tac would not allow for that.

 56:03

 56:51

Beyond a certain airspeed. Not not really a desirable, fully desirable airframe.

 57:01

Yeah, exactly. Exactly. I mean, you're basically talking about a 40 foot long flying propane tank is essentially what it would look like. And, yeah, it's not going to be conducive. It's definitely going to make some sonic booms that type shape. Yeah. But yeah, yeah. Up next should be the clip where they ask actually, if anybody's ever been hurt, in the process of hiding this on these?

 57:18

 57:28

Yeah, I have to be careful what I say in detail, because there is an open whistleblower reprisal investigation on my behalf. And I don't want to compromise that investigation by providing anything that may help provide somebody information, but it was very brutal and very unfortunate, some of the tactics they use to hurt me both professionally and personally, to be quite frank. Yeah.

 57:54

It's very unfortunate. As I say, when you're over the target, that's when they do the most fire fire. And so do you have any personal knowledge of people have been harmed or injured in efforts to cover up or conceal these extraterrestrial technology?

 58:06

Yes. Personally,

 58:10

have you heard anyone been murdered? That you would that you know of? or have heard of, I guess

 58:16

I have to be careful asking that question. I directed people with that knowledge to the appropriate authorities, maybe in a if we could get it get in a confidential area of Skiff. We can talk about that. But unfortunately, we were denied access to the skiff. And that's very unfortunate in this scenario.

 58:21

 58:37

So yeah. When it comes to whether or not anybody's ever been murdered, yeah, like personally injured, reputations tarnished, careers destroyed. Yes. And absolutely. group said, when it comes to winning, if anybody has been physically injured or killed or murdered. We want to hear we once again hear that basically, I can neither confirm nor deny.

 59:10

Yeah, and 59:13

he's been murdered in the handling of this.

59:16

Right now just everybody has a skiff Is that what it stands for is Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility is essentially it's either a room or a building. And yeah, it's a quiet room. And one of the one of the ones I was in was just a 40 foot container like shipping container that was converted into into a skiff. And yeah, I went to there's one there's one over here at JSOC over in, in Tampa. So we'll just say that that's one of them is that that facility is set up so that it's just like the NSA building or something like that when you go in the windows are coded. With with a coating that doesn't allow signals to come in or go out so your cell phone Yeah, yeah.

1:00:05

And even a vibration dampening material on the windows to keep lasers from being able to listen. All that stuff. Yeah, vibration dampening, coating, all that kind of stuff.

1:00:17

Yeah. And actually has a laser to deflection. So if somebody fired a laser for like a laser microphone, is that the like? Yeah, it's a prismatic effect. It's kind of it's kind of neat to see. So if you ever if you ever in the Baltimore, Fort Meade area and you want to have some fun, aim a laser at the NSA facility and see what happened. No, don't do that.

1:00:39

No, no, no. We do not condone that

1:00:45

phone. No.

1:00:46

Good. God don't know unless we challenge. The new NSA tick tock challenge.

1:00:56

Yeah, that would be a good one. But there's there's a lot of things that that there's a lot of things he said that they wanted to discuss on a skip. And I can see the reason why the the, what he didn't say is the reason why they were denied that and it was because some of the subject matter. And I have to be I have to be careful about this yet, because it might reveal some of the information I'm aware of. But let me say this the correct way. The information that he has, cannot be discussed, even in a skiff because the information that he has is currently a part of what would be considered litigation, would it be like him going to court? That's one of the reasons. The other reason? Because there's three reasons. The second reason is because some of the information is considered classified and compartmentalized at the SEI level, which is secret compartmentalized information. So you have top secret, and when you have Sei, or SAP those programs are there's no there's no such thing as above top secret. Anybody says it's above top secret, there's no such thing, but there are and he got into that group covered that. That's actually one of the clips that I have notated is the fact that according to all classifications and the way that things are nothing is above top secret, there is nothing about top secret.

 1:02:11

 1:02:29

Yeah, there's only three levels of classification. And that is true there is there's no you know, 26 levels, and there's no whatever you but here's here's some names thrown around, you'll hear you know, that kind of thing done in IT and security clearances like Yankee white and things like that a lot people are Yankee white, what does that well, that's that's your clients, you get whenever you're actually directly involved with the President and in a courier, like a liaison, like the job that I'm familiar with, would have that classification, if they're distributing the national security policies to the president or the daily briefing and things of that nature. So that happens in he says he was involved in GA, which I think I even sent you may have sent you that email I asked from NC. That was alert, hopefully read that. But you know, there are, there are things that can't be saying can't be said. And the third reason is simply because there are certain people that could not go in the skiff for certain reasons that he had asked that those people be allowed to be in the skiff to ask questions. And that's one of the that's part of the third reason, there's more to that. So that's why, but but there will be some openness, and he will be able to discuss this. I think as soon as they get past certain points inside that investigation from the IC. IG I see. Yeah, that's important. So I'm dying to see that. I can't wait for that. Yeah,

 1:04:08

I can't wait until the inspector general report is actually released on this. And we see what is verified what's not, and I don't think anything there is not verified. Period. Yeah. Period, once again, even even the testimonies that he got from people. They like their testimonies. What are you going to do? Like they signed an affidavit that's between the person has not to him? That's right. All he did. David and take the report. Yeah. And the fact that I had people who signed affidavit saying that they saw this, right, that's that is what's happening never has. David groove said that he saw bodies that he saw craft that he saw reversed engineered materials or technologies, right. What he has said that he has been into direct contact with contractors who have in that he has seen the money trails that lead to the programs that they said. And when he confronted those contractors, they shut the door in his face. Yeah. Which is why he put out his whistleblower form.

1:05:17

All right, because that

1:05:19

was going to come out.

1:05:21

One of the locations where you where he was asked about the locations of where these objects may be. Yeah, I can tell you that for everyone's first thought would go to areas that you want. And that is not exactly like

1:05:33

No, no, like, we could say area 51. But we all already know it's not there. And wherever you say it is guaranteed the moving trucks are moving up right after you say here on this camera. Like, straight up, a senator said that, like everybody got to Dayton, Ohio as quickly as possible. Yeah. Right, Pat AFRL. Want to see it before they move it in or just wait outside until they there? So let's get into a little bit more of this. This is from Luna, Miss Luna, who questions him? Regarding na Chais or non human intelligences?

1:05:54

1:06:07

1:06:19

Yeah, yeah.

1:06:20

Reverse Engineering. Personally,

1:06:26

I just want everyone to note that he's coming forward in fear of his life. To put in perspective, if they were really not scared about this information coming out, why would someone be they were really not scared about this information coming out, why would someone be intimidated like that? To your knowledge, our NHI is working with adversarial foreign governments in either technology exchange programs or back engineering programs. I don't have data on that. I'm not sure. Have you heard or you had people come forward to present that evidence?

 1:06:52

Not that particular evidence that you just espoused?

 1:06:55

Okay, on the 19th of April, Dr. Kirkpatrick, head of Arrow had said that he did not find any evidence of UAPs. You also stated that you had in your interview that you briefed him on information that you are uncovering, but that he did not follow up with you. Were the items that you divulge to him pertinent to national security?

 1:07:15

Yes, him and I had a classified conversation in April 2022. Before he took over arrow in July to 2022. And I provided him some concerns I had, do you know why he might not have followed up with you?

 1:07:26

 1:07:31

I unfortunately cannot read his mind. I wish he did. I was I was happy to give sage counsel to him on where to look when he took the helm of Arrow.

 1:07:40

Okay, and then my last question for you before I move to Mr. Graves, is you received prior approval from the Defense Department to speak on certain issues? Correct?

 1:07:49

Correct through dotser, DOD pre publication and Security Review. And there's that dotser That you were mentioning and things like that, where he got permission to speak about certain things, but not everything. Yeah, and the dots are processes, real straightforward. I mean, it and you got to be careful, too. I'm trying to think of how to work some of this stuff. And that's why you'll see him hesitate. He has he has certain people certain information where he will hesitate. And it's not because you're trying to gather your thoughts, you're trying to make certain that you stay within the realm of what could be said or what's factual or not. And dotser Whenever you're going to make a written statement, or you're writing a book or something like that, you have to submit like the final, you have to submit a copy to them securely, meaning that it doesn't go through your publication processes, this has to go to them before it goes anywhere. And then they approve it or tell you how to change something or you can make you can fictionalized some of it and what have you. But the problem was some of the people that had their stuff go through doctor is that when it comes out it it comes out and and yeah, but essentially, and, and you're sitting there you're like okay, well, well now it's it's basically nothing like it was before. So I can tell you, this person who use that system in a way that was magical. That I believe was was a wonderful thing. It's Kevin De he wrote a fictional story about the entire Nimitz event. And I can't remember the title of the book or whatever. But if you look up Kevin De you'll see it's probably the only book he's written.

 1:07:53

 1:08:05

 1:09:38

Got it on my shelf back there and I cannot I cannot recall what it is offhand.

 1:09:44

Okay. You have to have a copy of it. So you know what I'm talking about. Yeah. And, and that that the way he did that was genius. I mean, pure, pure genius. You know, Kevin, Kevin has been probably has gone through a lot more than a lot of people were realize I mean he is let's just say he's been dragged along and a lot of people have not turned on him but basically

 1:10:11

Knology Yes, yes, anthology is what it is. That was that was one of the first many, many first books to come out. After the UFO UAP. And after, after everything basically came out in the first video, look at the publication date on that what they do is copyright or publication date, they haven't closed the browser.

 1:10:30

 1:10:35

1:10:38

No worries. You'll see something very interesting when you do that. But, you know, his testimony is extremely important in unraveling what the Nimitz event was. It's very important. And it's also one of the most confusing testimonies that's out there that people are, you know, they complete several of the stories together. But Kevin days testimony is extremely important. And I think if anyone watches the Nimitz encounters, which is the story that Dave Beatty put together, a documentary and I think that that pretty well covers a lot of a lot of this. And I view that as a go to documentary as far as what these these guys have said their witness testimony and stuff like this, because they've experienced something. Yeah. Yeah, it's important.

1:11:32

And she had a miss Luna had another fantastic question that came along. Talking about cease and desist is specifically with civilian companies. So let's hear that it was it was pretty revealing. Last is, you know, the video, much of the data that I would recommend be analyzed will consist of radar data that would provide precise kinematics on the object as well as the fleet of objects that were operating nearby.

1:11:47

1:11:59

In regards to the recording procedures that Mr. Garcia had addressed on as well as representative Burchett, with the FAA, to your understanding pilots that are seeing this commercial airline pilots, are they receiving cease and desist letters from corporations for coming forward with information in regards to safety for potential air airline passengers,

1:12:18

I have been made privy to conversations with commercial aviators who have received cease and desist orders.

1:12:24

So the American public should know that corporations are putting their own reputations on the face it not the line, but ahead of the safety of the American people. And I think would you agree with that statement yourself? Okay.

1:12:34

1:12:37

Once again, that's, that's pretty huge. pretty huge. That yeah, United Airlines, any, any major airline is more than willing to put your safety at risk to to bury or ridicule a pilot for reporting something.

1:12:56

Yeah. And here's what here's, here's what's even more interesting. If you call if you look up and say a number, like phone number, report UAP. That phone number, I think you know, what, range two, but that phone number rings to a certain Corporation in Nevada, Bigelow. And, and we've got Bigelow that might even answer this problem, Bobby. So we got Robert Bigelow has basically taken over the FAA UAP reporting hotline. And so when you call that number, that's where you're going to get you're going to get to the bass Corporation. And so Bigelow Aerospace is where that goes in that repository. And then of course, you've got MUFON, that gets information as well, I've, I've submitted my UFO sighting, which was last year to move on. Of course, they want me to be the biggest as all my listeners know, I'm a huge supporter of MUFON. I mean, I saw on this show sponsors their annual conference coming up. I am a big believer in the work of MUFON. And I know that many people in the community out there, the poor MUFON, things like that, I'm sorry, folks, but there is space inside of these phenomena for some of the really, really wild after effects of people's experiences. Let me just put it that way where they are frequency shifted, let's just say into other things. We'll get into some of that next week with self talk, that kind of stuff.

1:13:55

1:14:39

And as much as I'm an I'm a skeptic on the whole on a lot of the issues. I'm not a skeptic to the point where I don't believe in aliens and stuff like that, you know that? Oh, yeah. But as much as me being a skeptic I am or didn't that English didn't come out very good. I absolutely believe in the importance of move on. I believed in the importance of what he was supposedly what we were told it was going to b, which is an aerospace threat Identification Program. And the original thing was was to study things like drones and things that are coming into our airspace and categorizing these things so that pilots would know immediately what they are. That is all super important to me where it gets convoluted is where things like a kid who was wrapped up in OSS app, which actually ended up being a spin off a Skinwalker Ranch, and you're thinking, Wait, what,

1:15:27

I'm very happy to see what's happening with arrow and their recent, like the PowerPoint that the the good doctor puts on, where it actively shows all of the similarities. And these are the kinds of craft that we're talking about. And these are the these are the radiological anomalies, these are the radar anomalies, like they did, they've done some good Dangers ation very rapidly considering the the almost hodgepodge way in which some of this data was collected. Now granted, the one thing I will say forever in a day is that MUFON has been collecting things in the same fashion. And in the same way, a lot longer for decades, almost, I would love to what I would I one of the things I proposed a while back to a certain individual is that if we have exact data, like we have EXIF data metadata, or any data that that pinpoints a location, a geographic location at certain time, that that'd be cross reference to all of our databases of satellite imagery. And so we can go back and confirm, you know, these objects were that something was there, because some of the sizes of these things, if something's the size of a football field, you'll definitely see it even on a 30 centimeter resolution satellite, much less than two to five meter resolution on a case. But yeah, I think that that should be a program put into place, I would be more than happy to run that program. I have experience in tasking satellites.

1:16:08

1:17:02

They talked about the Vandenberg incident and the football field size craft that was seen by by Lockheed employees, them and the TAGO incident and Phoenix lights and all these different interests of day or night, you know, and, and I get some of the imagery that I'm familiar with. Yeah, Stevensville. And some of the imagery that I know can't be released, be even the Trump released one of the Iranian rocket loans. But you know, some of the resolution thing can't be released, but at least internal to the Department of Defense have a classified version of the program. I get it because we're having classified versions of the hearing. So if there's, if there has to be a classified version of Yeah, we found it and we ended up finding it with a keyhole with came Sirius Satellite one of the console that that's important and say, Yes, we have information. Unfortunately, this image was was captured by a satellite that we can't really tell you the image, but they can confirm whether or not something was there.

1:17:11

1:18:06

Yeah. That's exactly what what it's great to see the head of Arrow doing that. That was a lot of the conversation with with the NASA panel, whenever we covered that Mike was the fact of and I loved I loved the way that he just he laid it down straight up like, Hey, I got access to instruments you dream you had them in somebody's backyard in Poughkeepsie, that's illegal, and you don't want us to go through the legal measures to make it legal.

1:18:41

We're doing that a lot.

1:18:42

That would be bad. That would be bad. However, all of you agencies, NOAA, every one of you civilian agencies have satellites that are looking at the backyards in Poughkeepsie every day to look at average rainfall weather, like this is how we get all of our weather information. You can see 1.6 to 1.8 gigahertz. Hey, man, let's start sharing data.

1:19:09

Yeah, and maxar is building a lot of the current generations of satellites. Lockheed builds obviously the Hubble Telescope, which is quite clear that they built the, you know, the KH series of satellites. Yeah. NRO operates, you have you have you have all of these tools that are available to you. And yet, someone at some point in time would have to come forward and say that the back back in the day when when I could like log in and type up a satellite and say I want to you know, 15 degree oblique on a on a 10% or less cloudy day or cloudy night imagery of the 75 Miles was from blah, blah, blah, coordinates to blah blah, blah. And it may take a day or so to get that that data back but you got it back and you're just amazed at what you're looking at And I would love to go back and say, you know, now I have a new reason to do that. It's not because I'm trying to rescue people out of Afghanistan. Now at this point, I'm trying to find these objects. And, man, we should be able to do that. And if we have to do the resolve, which is where you think the resolution like 2.5 centimeters and bring it up to 30 centimeters, which is what's releasable for the public? Do that

1:20:21

Yeah. Yeah. Yeah, exactly. And and, you know, speaking of what's releasable to the public, what's not? The next question is a biggie. It's a big one, talking about non human origin craft, talking about if the programs that have access to them or the recovered technology are sanctioned or not. Let's, let's hear that. And the response to it came out of the bottom of it. But other than that, no, no windows, no seams, no nothing.

1:20:56

Mr. grush, as a result of your previous government work, have you met with people with direct knowledge or have direct knowledge yourself of non human origin craft?

1:21:04

Yes, I personally interviewed those individuals.

 1:21:07

Mr. Grush, as a result of your previous government work, have you met with people with direct knowledge or have direct knowledge yourself? About 80s advanced technologies that the US government has?

 1:21:19

Based on conventional advanced tech, I was briefed to the preponderance of the Defense Department's both space and aerospace department of programs. Yeah.

 1:21:30

Do you have knowledge or do you have reason to believe that there are programs in the advanced tech space that are unsanctioned?

 1:21:37

Yes, I do. Okay. Yeah.

 1:21:39

And when you say that they're above congressional oversight, what do you mean?

 1:21:45

complicated question. So there's, you know, some I would call it abuse here. So congressional oversight of conventional Special Special Access Programs, and I'll use title 10. So DoD as an example, right. So 10 US Code section 119, discusses congressional oversight of SAPs discusses the DEP sec, def 's ability to waive congressional reporting. However, the Gang of Eight is at least supposed to be notified if a you know wave or wave bigoted or acknowledge SAP is created. That's Public Law.

 1:22:15

FLSA that has I mean, I don't want to cut you off. But how does a program like that get funded?

 1:22:20

I will give you generalities. I can get very specific in a closed session. But Miss misappropriation of funds. And does that mean? Does that mean that there is money in the budget that is set to go to a program but it doesn't and it goes to something else? Yes. I have specific knowledge of that. Yep. Do you think US corporations are overseeing overcharging, for certain tech, they're selling to the US government and that additional money is going to programs?

1:22:28

1:22:34

1:22:35

1:22:44

Correct through something called Iran. Satellite imagery. Let's talk about satellite imagery, we have satellite, and that's where they start going into arrow and using the imagery from cross platforms like we were just talking about, but to hear him talk about that straight up. No, no bones about it like yep, I have specific knowledge of that. I have specific knowledge of the fact that there are non human craft. Right? The contractors have access to them, and that these programs are unsanctioned and see that information alone would be considered. Top secret, and, and for him to be able to say it openly and that can be approved by dotser. makes my head spin. I'm trying to figure out how in the world that happened, you know? Yeah, yeah. Yeah, I'm very much wanting to figure that one out.

1:22:53

1:23:21

1:23:43

You know, once again, I think I think it's to the fact Mike, that we're verging on technologies that and in the not just in the private sector, but in the military sector. And in in regular use. How many articles have I sent you in the last two weeks about room temperature? semiconductors? Oh, yeah. You know, um, this is this is stuff that has been science fantasy, when you're talking about fusion reactors, not fission. Right, that kind of stuff. It's, yeah, yeah. And we're talking, you know, even fission reactors big enough to that are about the size of your home car. That can fit into an F 18.

1:24:38

Yep. And we were talking about that for we've been talking about that for years. And so back to that lucky video that we touched on so yeah, yeah,

1:24:48

I mean, we've been we've been pounding that nail for at least a good five years. The skunk works. But but but that's just it, you know, these are like he said, they're, they're a specific tradecraft to flip flopping that money and making it disappear. And are they overcharging for technologies that they're selling and using that money to reverse engineer that stuff? Yes. And apparently. So it's it's pretty remarkable. And the next piece, the next piece is I think really one of the bombshells and once again, whether or not you believe in craft from another planet, time or place, or even dimension, whether or not you buy into any of that, folks, what do you think this is all smoke and mirrors? The question comes down to accountability, money. And do we hold people responsible? No different than Iran, Contra, Pentagon Papers, things like that. And to think of it in that way, and to think of this as an obfuscation of, I mean, think think of it in this way. Think of it if your employer or your employee was hiding this from you, for 50 plus years? How, how would you feel about it? Would you want them to answer for it? Because they're our employee? So let's hear let's hear about that real quick. This is about an hour and 25 minutes into things, folks. So we are not covering the whole thing. Sorry, please feel free to go watch it. It is available all over the place. But we are covering some key points and issues that were covered. And this is one of them when if the US government has had contact since when?

1:26:45

Directors I believed Mr. grush but if any of you all feel like you need to jump in, just jump right in and we're good. As a US government become aware of actual evidence of extraterrestrial otherwise unexplained forms of intelligence? And if so, when do you think this first occurred?

1:27:02

I like to use the term non human I don't like to denote origin keeps the aperture open both scientifically. Certainly, like I've just discussed publicly, previously 1930s. Okay.

1:27:18

That's a hot tater man. Yeah. That's a hot chain.

1:27:24

You have to wonder, you know, what was? What was the situation like in the in the 30s? What were they looking at then? And what are they looking at now? Because that predates many of the studies of of UAP UFOs. And you you're you'd have to look at it like Okay well where the studies of, of CIA, of OS. And you, you're, you'd have to look at it like, okay, well, where the term flying saucer hadn't even been coined yet.

 1:27:47

It's 1966. Exactly. The saucers was 1966, I want to say the actual incident in in Washington state from the pilot, Kevin Arnold was like 1958.

 1:28:01

I think it may be been right around the time of Roswell.

 1:28:04

They may have been 48. But yeah, but you know, a lot of that over over time, you know, several different entities inside the government would have studied that program, eventually, most of going to the Air Force, and the Navy taking over their air force and have it you know, more recently, but, you know, you've got these, these different agencies, different parts of the armed forces, that study that stuff. And then, of course, you have the FAA that has they're somewhat variation of it, because they have to report stuff as well. But any of this dating back to actual craft and entities, you know, that we have met with that, that makes that brings a whole new new perspective to this whole thing, you know, whether or not the government has met with him, I don't think that was part of the question and all actuality, what it really was was, is the US government aware of these intelligences and if so, since when? So, that means they recovered the first craft, we saw the first crash, what have you and this intelligence may again be a bio organic robot, it may be an intelligent craft that was sent as a probe, who knows but in a chai, non human intelligence is how it is being put. And I think rightfully so, once again, to assume that all or any are from a planet beyond is assumptive is assumptive. Until until we have all actuality in front of us, you know, and let's get the last few clips, go into top secret who classifies things and contractors, stuff like that. So let's go ahead and hear real quick about the the classification levels and how that comes about.

 1:28:10

 1:29:02

 1:30:16

Welcome to what level of security clearances required to fully access these programs.

1:30:24

Well, anybody who has and I say that because myself, Representative Gates and Representative Luna were basically turned away at one point at Eglin. So please go right ahead.

1:30:26

1:30:36

Certainly difference between member access and say, somebody like me, but anybody who has a, you know, top secret clearance and meets the eligibility criteria, the access adjudicating authority should be able to grant your misfortune of yield. So just to be put a fine point on that. There's nothing that you're aware of that's above Special Access Program classification. It's a misnomer that there's anything actually above top secret executive order 13 526 delineates the classification levels, right. But I draw upon that because we can have access to those programs. And so the notion that we're not being given that access sort of defies our typical muscle memory here in Congress, thank you misfortune. I'll go back to thank you, Mr. Gates.

1:30:48

1:31:16

1:31:18

I like the way you said that Pfizer, typical muscle memory here in Congress, you know, we're, we're used to actually being the ones in charge of these purse strings and where the money goes and comes from. And so yeah, it's strange for us not to not to have answers when we ask them, and to have literally closed in our face, when we come to ask them, they're getting closer to the truth, and the doors are starting to shut. You know, the Department of Defense has, has a big ego problem. And they have to remember that they are operated by the people by the government. And it doesn't go the other way around, I understand that matters of national security should be kept from certain entities, and whatever I get it, I fully get it. Absolutely. And you have to you have to keep the numbers down to a very low number. You can't have just everybody that has the top secret security clearance with sei capable capability going in and seeing these things. This doesn't work that way. So you have to keep the numbers small for reason. But you have to trust the person that did go see it and say, Okay, well, I went in there. And yes, I was satisfied that the answers to the questions that I had were answered and it will What questions did you ask? Well, I can't say that because the answer will be classified. The question is, yeah, if I if I told you the answer to the question that would tell you the question, which I told you, I couldn't tell you. Right. And that's perfectly understandable. But once again, when grush whose job it is, to get those answers, as the door slammed in his face, and then Congress, the the actual appropriations committee members, three of the Gang of Eight, you know, go to get the answers from the same people and they both have doors shut in their face, and he called them out. That's what I love about this. This senators He don't care dude, he called out his daughter for calling him a boomer. Like, Oh, where are you gonna mic drop me. All right. I got you hold on. You know, and he calls this out to like, it's great. It's fantastic to to hear him like, yeah, you know, headland Air Force Base. We we went to get answers. And they told us No. So what they tell you.

1:31:43

 1:32:43

 1:33:48

One thing that I learned about that one of the issues that they brought up, I can't say which one was it say that the the understanding of them being denied access was kind of misrepresented and that they requested information about a certain thing and was told no. And then, but the No, wasn't a no as in. No, we have this and we're not going to show it to you that no was we don't have this. And no, you can't have unfiltered access to this certain area of of our base. That was part of the issue of verse mayor of Eglin, very familiar with handle virtually all of these bases in that area. And there are certain things that go on there. That those aren't off limits to basically everyone, you know, so I think that part of that is Miss misrepresented or misunderstood and that they were told no, they can't have access to that area. And then they took it as No, they can't have access But no, it's just no one can have access to some of that area. So that was one of them. That doesn't account for all of them. But I know one of those that that kind of response.

 1:35:09

Yeah, yeah. And let's get into a little bit of who decides all of that, that access sort of defies our typical muscle memory here in Congress. Thank you, Mr. Chair, I yield back to thank you, Mr. Gates. Along those lines, titled 10, you might not know this or not, but that title 10, and title 50, Authorization, so they seem to say they're inefficient. So who gets to decide 10, and title 50. Authorization, as they seem to say they're inefficient. So who gets to decide this? In your opinion in the past?

 1:35:16

 1:35:22

 1:35:39

It's a group of career senior executive officials,

 1:35:43

okay, or the government officials?

 1:35:46

both in and out? Do what both in and out of government? And that's about as far as actually there. All right. Well, that's, it leads to my next question, which private corporations are directly involved in this program? How much taxpayer money has been invested in these programs to your knowledge? I've, uh, we know, we know we audit the Pentagon every year. And I've been here five years, and they failed the dead gun thing every year. Lose over a billion dollars a year, we think and that's told Department of Finance, maybe 60% of their assets are unaccounted for whatever the heck that means. In the public sector, you go to jail for that kind of crap. So tell me

 1:35:50

 1:36:26

Yeah, I know when I I'm gonna dollar off of my DTS travel voucher, I get hammered, but seems like it doesn't work the other way. You sell over six. If you sell over $600 worth of stuff on a bike. Now you get a call from the IRS. So please, what?

 1:36:32

 1:36:40

Yeah, I don't know the specific metrics towards the end of your question. The specific corporations I did provide to the committees in specific divisions, and I spent 11 and a half hours of both Intel committees. Okay.

 1:36:51

11 1:36:51

Is there been any visitor been an active US government disinformation campaign to deny the existence of Anadarko unidentified aerial phenomena? And if so, why?

1:37:03

I can't go beyond what I've already exposed publicly about that.

1:37:09

Then they asked him what he's espoused, and basically, exactly what he said earlier. And it's interesting to hear them go down that rabbit trail of conversation, like he said, If you were in the private sector, and this happened if you were unaccounted for 60%. You'd be audited?

1:37:32

Yeah, well, it will keep in mind, I think there's, there's, you know, keeping need, people need to know what title 10 and title 50 refer to? Oh, sure, please. So, title pin is more of a reference towards the military and how the military handles information, and the dissemination of it and the budgetary requirements and blah, blah, blah, it's a very broad thing that the military uses. The title 50 is more or less towards the intelligence agencies and how the intelligence agencies handle that and disseminate it and who they disseminate the information to and what have you. So you know, that that will probably give you an idea. Sometimes they'll they'll intertwine the two, when, when they're referring to the military, they'll talk about both because it's hard to tell where the military ends. And the civilian world begins, like NSA is not a civilian agency, it actually falls under the Department of Defense. Yep. Whereas CIA is a is a civilian agency, and does not fall under the Department of Defense. But as we all know, NSA and CIA work together hand in hand. In a lot of cases, NSA obviously concentrates on foreign gathering intelligence and foreign nations and stuff like that, whereas the CIA would handle the actual operations of going to those locations and putting agents there and gathering you know, human information, and so forth. And of course, everything else you've seen in movies. But the bigger picture here is the Senate has to have some sort of oversight and the title 10 and title 50 is supposed to give them some guide as to how to acquire that and how to work with through what's considered transparency whereas you may not you may not get that for specific reasons on title 10 requested on a title 50 You might so it's a lot of debate about that so you that's the whole show just in that alone Oh absolutely. Absolutely. And that's just it man the the acronyms get thick in this stuff whenever you're listening to it ag sack it's intense. It's alphabet soup folks, quite literally for those that are uninitiated that's one reason why I wanted to have you on even the concept of Skiff you know most people don't understand what that is that it's like a quiet room that you can go to some people. The last the last question we have came actually from Ocasio Cortez and I was I was pretty happy with her question. It came down to contractors and witnesses, a lot of these folks. Everybody said and repeated a lot of the same stuff. They echo chambered a lot of themselves. Once again, there were no green aliens trotted out. All right, sorry. But what did come out? answers that did come are big. They're friggin huge. And they they hold huge implications, huge implications. So let's hear this last question that we're going to cover anyway, I encourage everybody to go look this up on YouTube, associated presses who, who we were watching, that's always one of my go twos. And everything that they have there is still, like I said, I recorded it as it happened, and then and downloaded it. To have the whole thing and it's it's all there. So nothing has been edited to redacted. But let's hear this from Miss Ocasio Cortez real quick.

1:39:34

 1:41:25

Created in the 2020 NDAA. Correct. Yes. There have been some things that that have been mentioned here during this hearing that I wanted to pick up on. Mr. Graves you mentioned specifically during the answers one of your questions. You named Boeing contractors, being engaged in an incident regarding this red two, oh, football, football field wide. I was wondering if you could speak a little bit about the interaction, or Mr. grush, either of you the interactions between defense contractor companies and any UAP related programs or activities.

 1:41:59

So I'll just say that the information about the contractor themselves were provided by a witness and I have no particular detail in that relationship. Mr. Ghosh, the kind of general unclasp wave tops, certainly the contractors, you know, are the metal benders, so to speak, the ones actually doing specific performance on government contracts.

 1:42:09

 1:42:19

Are they required to issue any disclosure regarding UAP sightings? Or do they engage in any reporting around this in terms of the contractors? Not that I'm aware of?

 1:42:27

 1:42:29

They do not. Okay. Now, when it comes to notification that you had mentioned about I wrap program, I read programs. We have seen defense contractors abuse their contracts before through this committee. I have seen it personally. And I have also seen the notification requirements to Congress abused. I am wondering, one of the loopholes that we see in the law is that there is at least from my vantage point, is that, depending on what we're seeing is that there are no actual definitions or requirements for notification. Are there? What methods of notification did you observe? Like when they say they notified Congress? How did they do that? Do you have insight into that?

 1:43:18

For certain I read activities. And I can only think of ones conventional in nature. Sometimes they throw flow through certain out of say SAP programs that have Cognizant authority over the air force or something. And those are congressionally reported compartments. But I read it's literally internal to the contractors. So as long as it's money, either profits, private investment, or whatever, they want to put a finer point on it. When there is a requirement for any agency or company to notify or any agency to notify Congress. Do they contact the chairman of a committee? Do they get them on the phone specifically? Is this through an email to hypothetically a dead email box?

 1:43:44

 1:44:03

A lot of it comes through what they call the PPR periodic program review process. If it's as you know, a SAP or controlled access to Yeah, it's once again obfuscated processes, things like that, that everything goes through and runs through contractors, all that kind of stuff, along in tandem with going to congressional reporting.

 1:44:10

 1:44:28

Yeah, just so people know that Iran is just initials for independent research and development. That's That's what that stands for. And essentially, any organization that does any type of technological or deals with electronics or supplies or military or as a manufacturer or supplier of anything, whether it be software or hardware, they have their own independent research and development, and as such, is some of the profits that may come from their activities and dealing with government contracts is to spin off into their own Iread. To do to further develop those technologies. Sure. That's kind of what's happening now there is a sub company's subsidiaries things like Yeah, yeah, it's like the skunkworks division of Lockheed. You know, that's, that's a classic example of an Iran that has really, we've benefited from. So, you know, so you don't want to really knock that. But at the same time, if we send that if Lockheed requests a billion dollars to build a satellite, and they take $500 million of that billion dollars and send it to skunkworks, and says, Hey, make a UAV out of this, then that would be an issue. And I can see that. But But overall, I don't, I think what's happening is some of the profits that are being funneled off into these other programs, is probably for legitimate purposes to better advance, you know, future technology for our own use. So I get sure that argument will go because Congress would have a reason to ask that question. And I'm sure there's, there's obviously some misappropriations that's going on. Oh, and that happens in any corporation or any, any entity. And so there's appropriations are how we end up with Iran Contra there, how we end up with Pentagon Papers. And Intel? Yeah. Yeah, exactly. And we have to be careful. And it's good to see a bipartisan group of people holding these contractors accountable. And once again, to see them at the end of it, say like, we are willing to enact the home and act to hold back the money and close the purse. Right? Like you will lose your contract, we're here to tell you, if we come to your doorstep knocking for this information, and you deny us contract is gone. You're no longer a contractor. And that's that's great to hear. Because that means that they are demanding some accountability. With stuff, it's fantastic. And keep in mind our our our black budget back in, say around 2004. So doing all started with like nemetz, our black budget back then was around 50 to 60 billion. Last year, I believe it was probably somewhere in the neighborhood of 150 to almost 200 billion. So it has grown substantially. It definitely grew quite a bit after 911. And there we have a valid reason money funds shadow government. Well, you can think about it we have we have a black budget that's larger than then almost every other countries and higher tire. Yeah, exactly. Yeah. So just our blanket. So yeah, we've got a trillion dollars going into, essentially defense. And, you know, there there needs to be accountability, because there's a lot of opportunity for misappropriation, and, and I get it.

 1:45:13

1:45:17

1:46:15

1:47:09

1:47:35

1:47:39

1:48:02

Yeah, absolutely.

1:48:03

Absolutely. And Mike Pelfrey they do their job and get that done.

1:48:07

Oh, man, I want to thank you, as always for coming on, not just not just coming on. But coming on last minute notice. No problem. You were you were a Cape Cod piece for this show. For many, many years, my man, and you're a great friend to always be there. Even in our side conversations. I love you, man. Thanks so much for everything that you do. Just just out there in the world. Because it's it's insane. Some of the things that pop up on your doorstep. So Godspeed to you. Thanks so much for covering this as long as you did tonight. Before we let you go. Let everybody know where they can go to tune into more five by five news, where they can go to follow you where they can go to keep up. You're on that next. You're on my I couldn't even find my Twitter. I was like, Where did Twitter go? And then I remembered Oh, sure enough on my phone, there it was dx. And you can find me on Twitter, or x, formerly known as Twitter, whatever it's called. So anyway, so that's that's where you'll see current conversations and things that we're just up to the minute of discussions that are going on, you'll see me argue with people like Ryan Graves, and so forth on there and what have you so and that's, that's, that's where you're most important need to know at the moment, information is going to be on YouTube. That's where you'll see where we put up some of the information that we've compiled over time, and we're trying to present it in a more tangible form that's a little bit more observable than 140 characters or something. So those two places would be your primary locations also on Facebook. About five by five news in Google and you'll find you know, just about everything that we do, I don't think there's too many other five by five news is out there. But we could pretty much come to The top of that circle

1:48:55

1:50:03

Well Mike once again man, thanks so much for taking the time to come in really break down this panel. I greatly appreciate it stay in touch Be safe out there and everything that you're doing but all right. You got it, buddy. Appreciate it. Thank you. All right, take care man. I'll be sharing links and everything is always sounds good brother.

1:50:22

1:50:24

How does one get charged with one? And what answers come to you in life? Once you've found out that you're on one, we'll get into that and so much more with Kathleen ball right after this folks. Hello, everybody and welcome back from that commercial break. Thank you so much, Mike chirper of five by five news for always coming on his Come on. I would say him and Dr. John Hall could probably hop in a ring and duke it out for most most appeared guest on curious realm and dudes and beer combined. But I want to thank him for always coming on. There have been numerous times where I've called him literally hours beforehand, I had another guest promoted and life happens. And it's like hey, man, guest had to drop out. Can you hop on? He's always been there. And he's always there to cover these hard topics, like the recent congressional hearing from the whistleblowers. That was That was incredible stuff. And we are crossing into new worlds. Folks. Speaking of new worlds, there is a whole new world and a grail quest, the new book by our good friend Kathleen Martin, foreword by our other good friend who connected us with Kathleen Martin. Gretchen Cornwall, wrote the foreword to this. I have been ready for this to come out. Last time we had Kathleen on we were talking about the Knights Templar in Brazil, the Templars in Brazil documentary series that she'd done with Freddy Silva. And welcome back to the show, Kathleen ball. How are you doing?

1:53:24

Oh, thank you. It's great to be here, Chris. And I'm doing great. I'm doing really good. The book came out on the HP. And it's, it's doing really well. We've had a lot of sales and a lot of interest. And it's resulted in some opportunities that have opened up for me. That's fantastic. Yeah, so it's available on Amazon. It's the title is at Grail quest, discovery of the mysterious Knights Templar cave in Brazil. And it's basically what it is. It's the backstory of my discovery and several things that led up to that discovery. As many people know, you know, my life has been a quest. And I think anyone's life can be a quest, if you just get out there. And, you know, follow your bliss, as Joseph Campbell said, just keep getting out there, you know, just following what's in your heart. And I think your life just sort of turns into a quest, which is what's happened with me. And that's basically what what the book is about is about over circumstances and things that led up to this discovery. Some of them were mystical experiences. I met anon and Motzei you know, who led me to St. Boehm. There's just all sorts of things. They one of the representatives from the dungeon in dome gave me the keys to the dungeon so I could go in and photograph all the Templar glyphs that were in the dungeon that shot optimally and the other Templars that were held there, they etched into the side of the dungeon walls and that experience in 2009, I would not have recognized the Templar cross and the markings inside the cave.

1:55:18

For those who may not be familiar with you, you do have a PhD and it's interesting that you went from the world of

1:55:28

art

1:55:28

yes to studying the Knights Templar and and not like a cursory study of the Knights Templar. Like you're saying to the point that your studies led you on Expedition actively out to the Amazon to find this cave that apparently has Templar markings inside of it in Brazil. Absolutely phenomenal. Here's the actual footage of the the locals there getting you ready for your journey, all that kind of stuff. It was. Tell us a little bit about how you came from the world of art and painting, sculpture, which your work is amazing, Kathleen, but how did you go from that, to studying the Knights Templar to begin with?

1:56:22

Well, I always did decide to study when I was, you know, when I was getting my education, and during my undergraduate bachelor's degree, I was literally on the fence about kind of go archaeology or fine art. And I, you know, I had already sort of been offered a job, I had a pretty good idea that I was going to have a job in the art department locally. So I went with that and went ahead and got my Master's in Fine Art and focused on sculpture, sculpture and anatomy, because we needed an anatomy teacher up in the mountains, no one taught anatomy in the art department, any of the art departments. So that's what I focused on. But on all my breaks, my spring broke my winter break, I was out on gigs. You know, I was out on gigs locally in Sacramento area in the mountains and the Washoe people up in the Sierra Nevadas, above Auburn. I was out on gigs and studying and then I started traveling, going to France going to you know, excavating and just, you know, that was my life going out sites. That's really what my passion. I was kind of, actually my passion was kind of both and so that really fed my artwork, if you followed my artwork, it really is. Documents all of my research and study including my metaphysical studies. So you know, you look at my artwork I've got you know, the the Mesopotamian gods and goddesses, Sumerian gods and goddesses are in my work. The Nephilim, the Giants and the daughters of men was one of my art installations. The my study of Kabbalah, I did a huge installation that traveled all over the world. It opened in San Francisco in 1999. And wow, it was the union of opposites. And that just, you know, that just took off and all over. So it wasn't really a big jump. When I got that Brazil after after discovering the cave, and my house burned down. Nine days later, that whole property burned down. All my artwork, all my curriculum, everything that I had all 20 something years of curriculum and art 30 something years of artwork, and all my entire art collection, everything we own. So after that, six weeks later, I had a liver transplant. So I had a year I decided to give myself a year to recover from that. And in that year, I basically had to recreate myself. I really had to recreate a career. And shift gears completely shift gears. So the first thing I started doing was, I started taking people on tours, which I had already done a little bit of anyway, to Egypt and South America. And I started doing local lectures about ancient sites and their pertinence to our world today and why they why these ancient sites are so important. Anyway, and that basically led me into a decision to turn my discovery of the template cave in Brazil into a documentary. And that really was the turning point. When I made that decision. It just changed my whole life. And so I found someone that was willing to produce the film, which they did an excellent job, a beautiful job. Oh, it was great. Yeah, any x t and Neil Kibana were my producer and CO producer and they really did a fabulous job. So, we got it out on Gaia TV. And then everybody kept asking me, Well, how did you find this cave? You know?

 2:00:17
Yeah, yeah.

 2:00:18
The back story. No.

 2:00:27
You want to know the story by the book of just playing?

 2:00:32
Well, you know, people had been after me for years, because my life has not been typical. I have had a very, very interesting vibe, put it that way. Very, very interesting. I've and I've had people ask me for years, for the last 30 years to write a book about my life. And I thought, you know, that's, I just didn't see the importance. Well, so for me, I saw the importance I saw, okay. Okay. So this could really benefit people. Not only but they can they learn that their life, their life can be a quest. But also that, you know, you can really open yourself up to wonderful things, really wonderful discoveries, and people and cultures and so much more. When you just make a decision to just go with the energy, you know, that's what I did. I were to a higher consciousness and energy. And off I went, and I'm still on it.

 2:01:30
And, you know, it's, it's interesting that I love the fact that even even whenever we originally talked in you were talking about writing the book and calling it a grail quest. After hearing your story of meeting you and talking with you, I thought it was a fantastic title for the book because a great a grail quest is individual it is it is separate and unique for each person, there is no, it's, it is very much. I guess, almost like that Philosopher's Stone concept. You know, when it comes to alchemy, and the idea of you changing yourself so that you are worthy to receive?

 2:02:19
.....

Absolutely, absolutely. It's a series of surrenders, you know, look at the I look at the house fire. And I say, initiation by fire. I mean, literally, because it transformed, I did a painting of it, because what I saw the night that the fire was happening, which was September 11, of 2015. And I did a painting of it, because it was such a powerful impression that I got during a dream state of me being in the middle of this fire, with flames all around me and everything I own being changed back into its subatomic state. And I could manipulate those atomic elements into anything I wanted. And it was really interesting, because that really precipitated walking through a portal to a whole new life. And I stepped out onto you know, from that experience into a liver transplant, and then boom, you know, I lost some hearing a lot of quite a bit of hearing enough to where I had to have a cochlear implant, so I couldn't teach, I wouldn't be able to go back to the college and teach. And, and so it was like, Okay, you really have to do something different, you know, you really have to move in a different direction. So it it's changed my life in so many ways I can't even explain and the most recent 2021 When I went back into Brazil, to get gather more information about the cave, which we'll get into in a minute, I was actually invited by the Amazon tribe, the Hooni Queen people in Brazil, the Amazon jungle in Brazil. I was invited to come in and interview their chief in regards to how the Templars may have gotten from Bahia into Central Brazil. And it turns out that they're actually led into that into Central Brazil, with the Amazon tribes. So, what happened there? I had absolutely no, I couldn't possibly have foreseen but while I was there, I had been struggling with the anti rejection meds, the immunosuppression from my liver transplant. Everyone who has a transplant is put on immunosuppression drugs that are very, very, very aggressive.

2:04:45

2:04:47

They're toxic, basically very toxic to the body. So after you know, here I am seven years almost seven years post transplant at this point. In 2021, I'm six years old actually six years post transplant, I'm having some serious problems. I have hearing loss. I've had nerve damage, just all sorts of things. And so I had been doing some meditations and just some really spiritual things alchemy in regards to this. And I really wanted to get off production nets. So the chief basically said to me, what is your heart's desire? What do you want to achieve here? And I said, I want to get off these anti rejection meds, he said, Okay, so you want to participate in the Ayahuasca ceremony? I said, Absolutely. And it was totally 100% unplanned and I did. And this was my second experience, or actually, for my second experience, in going into the Amazon jungle, I will also the Amazon jungle in Peru, in 2013. But so I had experienced Ayahuasca before and healed some tumors and that experience. Yeah, this time, I actually had a healing from the anti rejection meds, and I haven't had to take them since. And it's been over two years now. So the doctors have all signed up on me and now, I have a lot for long term I have labs in my book, you can see it for documented where I my liver functions are normal. And I have been off the anti rejection meds sent so from my perspective, it is a that is one of the things that you know, is interpreted in Grail quest. For some people are healing and I've experienced to healing and as a result of my quest, and and I'm not done yet.

2:06:50

Well, you know, it's interesting, because when, when you talk about the Knights Templar Kathleen, when you talk about the quote, treasures of the end, don't get me wrong, there were massive physical treasures of the Knights Templar. All right. But when you are specifically talking about the Grail, when you were specifically talking about this idea in history, anyway, I am, I have always been of the mind that the Grail capital G was an esoteric concept that they brought back with them, it was a capital T truth. Weather that was based upon the kabbalistic teachings that they learned the esoteric, esoteric teachings they learned being there on the Temple Mount. Also being involved with Islam, all kinds of things, they came back with a new sense of enlightenment, and a new new concepts and technologies even even when last time we had Gretchen Cornwall on we were talking about her recent work into the Knights Templar and alchemy. And their use of alchemy, and I even made mention of the fact that one good reason for them to come to America is we're one of the world's best deposits of copper. And they actively used a, what a nano particles of copper inside of their color red, for for their stained glass, that is what made their unique color of stained glass was was nanoparticles. So like even even the technologies that they used for stuff like that, and they're building phenomenal and amazing knowledge that they came back with. And yes, very much the idea of having a grail quest, once again, the idea of purifying oneself and preparing oneself for that capital T truth.

2:09:01

Right. Right. In the grand quest can be many things, you know, the Templar, the original Templars, of course, they actually organize back in 1049. I mean, this, this was far beyond what we've we've seen in documented in history. And, you know, they actually originated in Greece, which is interesting, because I found Templar process all over the place in albums when I was there, and then into Constantinople before they went to the Holyland. So this is much, much earlier than what we have typically understood the template and organized. So, so these things were going on, you know, prior and if my research that line of research that I'm working on right now, if my research is accurate, and I'm hoping I mean I have every reason to believe it is there were actually a order of nights that was that was organized by zero immovable at the second building of the temple in Jerusalem, and they were organized to protect the builders of the temple, the second building of the temple. And what I suspect and I'm going to be going to Portugal in October to investigate and research this, but what I suspect is that through Mason March, and through some old family records, I may be able to link that order with the order that rose in 1049. And eventually the one we're aware of into 99 I think that they were the same families, because so much information was passed down orally, especially with the Jewish, you know, people at that time, so much was, was passed down orally. And I think that a lot of information as to where to go and the Temple Mount. And they were they were right down into the tunnel system underneath the Temple Mount. How did they do that? How do they know to do that? Okay, that's, that's what I did the obvious, you know, I look at the obvious where does that tell me? Who goes someplace and artists just starts going and digging through the rubble and even knows there is tunnels underneath the Temple Mount, right. And then they come back, and all of a sudden, they've got all these new building, you know, building abilities, they start building ships. The Portuguese were the first shipbuilders that we know of modern shipbuilders. And they had the only you know, the only Navy I would be considered a fleet of naval ships. And they were traveling all over the world. I think they were traveling far all over far edges of the globe, not just the Americas, but I think they're in India as well. There's some evidence that there's template process and insignia and brick work in India as well. So my personal belief is that he traveled far and wide. They just kept it under their Pat. You know, with Brazil, when they went into Brazil, when they came back, they called Brazil that a cruise, which is the True Cross. But what they did was lead everyone to believe in Europe that it was an island. Now, not an entire continent, but and the reason they did that is because they didn't want interest in it. They didn't want anyone to say oh, okay, now we've got a big continent we have to conquer. And they didn't competition. And the same thing with the goal, which I think I talked about the disclosure of the cave that I found, being a gold mine. I'm pretty sure I talked about that with you. And it verified it absolutely was a gold mine. And at the time in 1307, King Dennis in Portugal was broke just about just all actually all the monarchies were participated in the Yeah, in the Holy Land in the worst in the Holy Land. And so it really fit into this scenario into the narrative that the Templars had discovered gold mines in Brazil, because they went I believe we're bringing back gold into Europe, they were making multiple trips, back and forth. And we also know now, as in Peniche, Portugal we also know that King Guinness, he actually promoted and paid for supported by a military base there in an kaneesha. He's on the coast of Portugal. And for the Templars. It was all quiet. Nobody, you know, this was not above four, because what was happening at that time is the Catholic Church was trying to shut down the Templars. So this was all quiet. It was all kept under the rug. And the jumpers were going back and forth with King Dennis his blessing and bringing them gold. I mean, Portugal, if you look at the later in the 1300s was a very wealthy country. Very wealthy. Yeah. Okay, so anyone who was bringing gold and silver into the country was valued, which I think probably had something to do with the fact that King Denis agreed to suppress the Knights Templar and but recreated as the, the Knights of Christ in tomar. Right? Yep. But it all fits. And I look at the obvious what makes logical sense in the narrative. What makes you know, when you don't have lack of historical records because they were suppressed? What makes sense? Look at the current you know, the chronological order of events and try to figure You're out how those things happened or how they could have happened. And so that's what I've been doing.

 2:15:06

Well, and especially tracing things back, like you were saying, from Portugal to the New World, like, as you were saying, they didn't want anybody to know that Brazil was the size that it was for fear that they would come in, well do what they did. You know, that's, that's just what Europe, that's pretty much what we all did, and still do. Kathleen. I'd love to say it's different from Century one, to now. It's horrifying. But it's true. And and you know, you you have to wonder, because we're even still prone to the same thing right now. I mean, the heck the conversation we just got finished having with our guests before, this was literally Hey, where are you getting the money from guys? Yeah, yeah, no, because apparently you've had this technology for decades, not been telling the people with the purse strings and yet still somehow sneaking money through. And, and that's just it, like, when you're talking about the king of Portugal, not only subsidizing these journeys for them, but keeping it on the Download because that is where they went after, after their persecution from the King of France, who, who wanted them to basically muscle the Jewish people to help pay off his debt. And they were like, yeah, no, that's not going to happen. So he declared them heretics. Had the pope come after him and fairly burned all of them, you got to catch.

 2:16:54

Right. And as many people know, now, it's been disclosed that, you know, the reason his reasons were entirely selfish. Oh, yeah. He wanted to become a Templar himself. He wanted to be part of the order. He was there, they denied that. And so you know, he got upset about that.

And also, he owed him a great deal of money. And he wanted me that that he didn't, yeah, it was like, hey, well, I'll tell you what you can from where you ran over these people take care of my problem. And any anything you look for him, you can keep.

2:17:16

2:17:26

Right. And so that's, that was the power of the king in our in the medieval timeframe. And then that's just that was already King said something that was that was it. That was gospel. So not only did he cancel that, but he also was able to get everything that they that he could get all their properties. He didn't he missed out on that treasure. But, you know, I mean, most of it anyway, I think it was, it was taken out, probably into lava shell and then to Portugal and wherever else they could get it out and how they could get it out. Tomar. And like, I think that, you know, it was dispersed throughout. And I think we're going to find out more about that Templar treasure within the next probably 15, five to 15 years. I don't know I expect that to just surface here pretty soon. We already have, you know, the Lost Relics, Carl Cookson and Hamilton white with the cache of Templar relics which show the other thing too, it showed getting back to what veteran was talking about. It showed that there was an esoteric aspect to the Templar. Oh, absolutely. They were ritual, there were ritual items in that cache. Yeah. That they that right, that the gloss relics program presented, and they were beautiful. They were they were amazing. They were absolutely amazing. And I think that we're probably going to see more of that, as more people are on the hunt. You know, there's a lot of people that think that I'm gonna discover it. I don't know if that's the if that's true or not. And, you know, I have told that I've let it be known that if I do discover it, I'm turning it over to the Templar Order. I have no desire to keep it or any of that for myself, I would definitely turn it over to the Templar Order, what I believe it was where it belongs. And so they can further their agenda, because I believe that they have rebounded, you know, come back together during this timeframe to assist in this whole process that we're all going through right now. The raising of consciousness changing of our evolutionary path, collectively, and I think that they're very they have a vested interest in that, you know, basically, my belief is based on interviews with with specific Pick Templars, and also the fact that what they did in Portugal was to create a nation. That was an example of that. You know, when they conquered the Moors and Islam in Portugal, they invited them to stay. They gave them land, they gave them farm land they gave them, you know. And not only that, but they took in the Jews, they took in the catheters, they took in all the people that were considered heretics by the church. Yeah. And they created a nation. That was it was a sovereign nation that was accepting of all belief systems and cultures and religious background. So here we have an example. The only example in Europe at the time, was in Portugal. And oddly enough, of the parties, though, where I found the cave in Brazil is exactly a replica of that same thing. We have people from all walks of life, all religious backgrounds, all cultural backgrounds, all living together harmoniously, in this area that happens to be a triangular form of Molinos. San George, all the batteries are in Cabo country. So here we have a replica, a replication of what they had done in Portugal, in Brazil. And it you know, it's it's no accident that the cave was right in the middle of it. Yeah.

2:21:25

Yeah. And now, when it comes to exploring the cave, when it comes to getting to the cave, Kathleen, what was it that led you to that cave to begin with?

2:21:39

Divine Order, I had absolutely no intention of exploring and looking for a Templar cave. That's I can tell you that I was out exploring with the girlfriend, we were just exploring the beautiful waterfalls, or ancient waterfalls in this area to pada. They called Chipata. National forestry area in Brazil, it's about three and a half hours outside of Brasilia. And it's one of the most beautiful areas I've ever seen in my life. I'm surrounded by waterfalls. And we wanted to see, we wanted to go and visit some of these waterfalls. We were heading up to see John of God and body Ania. My girlfriend Adele good was working for John got at the time anyway. And we had a couple of days to kill, basically. So we went up into the Chipata. And we ended up at this waterfall site of this man who said, Hey, you want to have some lunch, and we'll just talk about the waterfalls or whatever. And then during that conversation, he invited us to go to the neighboring property and see this crystal vein that was about a meter high by about a meter. And with that went into the length of about two, two and a half kilometers through the center of this property. And there were crystal chat, just all over scattered all of that. 1000s 1000s and 1000s. Anyway, so of course, you know, we knew that sounded intriguing. So we did that. And then we went down into the cave. And he said, let's just go club, drink some water, eat our snacks. There's a cave down here. So we said sure. Went to the cave, he lifts up the branches. And now I'll be darned if there was no Templars propped right above it. And then I'm looking at the cave itself. And the cave. It's been hand carved. And I'm just like, whoa, this looks exactly like some of the markings I saw in dome France, in the dungeon, where they held the Templars, especially the crosses. So, it was absolutely fascinating. I was just done. You know, especially I was not looking for it, it was just I feel it was divine. It was just part of my destiny that when I spoke with one of my researchers Jewelle at the at the Camelot Pousada, which is a hotel in just outside of out the battery. So he said to me, he said, This is your destiny. And I had also another person when I went into Portugal, tell me the same thing. And I really believe that it is because these things just fall into my lap. I mean, they really literally fall into my lap. And also, you know, I also believe in, we hold in our DNA, we hold aspects of our genealogy and our descendants or our, our ancestors, and I am a descendant of Templars myself on my father's side. So I think they're, you know, that plays into this whole thing as well. And, and I just I also Oh, I've been through it, I'm very open to it. I've always been open to energy. I've also always been open to. Well, energy, I've been open to energy ever since the near death experience, I had 9090. And I'm very open to where the energy leads me. And I've been led on some very interesting discoveries. Now, this cave that, as you said, was used for mining gold, things like that, does it? What do the locals say about it? Has it been there since prior to the expulsion of the Templars or was it there after?

2:25:21

2:25:42

Well, there's, there's a lot of speculation about that. But I do know, when I interviewed the Kalunga people, which I don't know if you're familiar with explain that they are the runaway Kaluga people, which I don't know if you're familiar with explain that they are the runaway slaves that escaped the trade ships that came in in the 1500s. Oh, wow. They escaped into all the batteries. And guess where they hid out, they hid out in the Templar caves. So I know for a fact that they were there before the Kaluga came. And according to the Kaluga, the caves had been used for ritual purposes, that there were ritual sin, you know, symbols and things in the caves. There were spiritual places, according to them. That's what they call them spiritual place. It's kind of like a church, that places where people would go to pray and to meditate, and to, to do spiritual practices and initiations. And they were used for this all the way up until the 20th century. According to the locals, the old women still go into that area, the Spiritist in Brazil still go into that cave, and perform ritual.

 2:27:05

Fascinating, fascinating and to know that now, was it a preexisting cave that the Templars expanded on and turned into a mind or was it just a mountainside that they began excavating?

 2:27:23

Yeah, it looked to me like it was all carved about the same time that's hand tool marks, wow, look, you know, possible MIDI evil tool. And I believe that it was done by the Templars I, and I think it's sometime between 1290 and 1350. Is the dating that I, you know, that I have established at this point based on the gold finding and also the gold that was put into Dennis's coffers at that time, their ability and also the expulsion by the King of France, I think that many of them are also looking for, you know, they're looking for other places to go to escape the claws of the church. Yeah. Oh, the story goes. As the story goes in Brazil, the Templars came, many of them stayed and they married into the indigenous people that were already living there. And there's actually a farm right below where I found the cave that belongs to a woman. Her name is Leonia. And I interviewed her. And we believe that that was a Templar ranch or territory at some point, she has a sluice box comes down into her property. And also a mill wheel. That is a medieval mill wheel 1300s on her property that she showed me so I photographed Ken It's I think there's a photo of it in the book as matter of fact. Wow.

 2:28:57

That is that is pretty remarkable. And to know that, once again, we have we've talked with numerous researchers, even even Dennis stone recently, the owner of America's Stonehenge about the possibility of Knights Templar visiting America. Long before Columbus. Oh, yeah. Made it over here. That's something that even being a fourth degree Knights of Columbus, that's something that I remind people about over the over the bar at meetings all the time is don't forget that God was following a map. That dude knew where he was going when he got lost and landed somewhere that he wasn't that map it goes back to his relatives ancestor were Templars. So you know, well, even even the cross on the front of Christopher curl. Christopher Columbus has sales. Yo.

 2:29:43

2:29:49

2:29:56

Yeah, yeah. Other thing I found In the kid queue, which I wanted to bring up is the last time I went in because both the first three times I went into the cave was filled with bats and spiders that the first time I was literally covered in spiders, they're crawling all over me. And when I turned on the light, my flashlight, I was covered in the spiders. So I didn't go into the cave and really explored too much until the last time in 2021, when I went in with my battle detector, and, you know, and really explored the spiders were gone at that point. But what I found were some very interesting processes. Not only were they replicated in the down in down France, on the walls and down in France, but they're also replicated in pennies, and pennies, Portugal, here we go. Again, that's another Thai court, Portugal, and also in Istanbul. So which was Constantinople at one point? So here, we have these crosses and insignia that date back to 1099, at least 1099 on a church in Phoenician and in Istanbul, which, of course was Constantinople. So we have these process. So there is, there is a possibility that, you know, they could even carved this cave and done in Brazil even earlier than what I thought.

2:31:28

Yeah.

2:31:30

Yeah. And to, to know that, number one, they they didn't go anywhere without building. Anywhere they went, they built and even if this was the building that they were doing at the time, which once again, using it, I'll pop that picture up again, with the crossover and everything else the not necessarily using it because as as, as you said, sure there was gold mining going on there and everything else. But according to the natives, it was more used for religious uses. Things like that, which Yeah, you know, they made many a grotto everywhere that they went for prayer service, and initiation ceremonies.

2:32:18

Absolutely. And there's also the fact that there are three more caves too. And initially, I thought they were on the same property. On my last trip, I actually found out that they're in Cabo country, which is a town located about 45 minutes from the curve. So I suspect that these caves are probably scattered throughout the area. And they're probably on people's property. Because we're talking wilderness, we're talking, I mean, literally wilderness, there is nothing on unnecessary, very small towns in between 1000s of miles of nothing, but just you know, raw land. So the chances of there being more than just the cave i found are pretty good. I would say they're pretty good. And I have been told that there are three caves that the Kaluga stadion in Kabul, Concha Bay, they're on they're on Columbia, or yeah, they're on Columbia territory, land. And my next tip is to go in and investigate those.

 2:33:28

Now, during your course of investigation, not only for the Brazilian Templar mystery film, but for a grail quest. What what, what has been probably the most remarkable thing that you have found that has really changed your concept, Kathleen, because of course, that is a huge part of a girl quest is that, that he'll turn that happens in somebody's life and once again, to randomly stumble on this cave, on its meaning, for this thing to suddenly pop up in your life and to now basically consume your life and be a major part of your work. What what has been the the biggest change point for you amongst all of this?

 2:34:27

Well, I think what's happened for me is it's come full circle. You know, my PhD is in metaphysical studies, and I studied metaphysics, for Well, I still am studying for, you know, 25 years before I got my PhD, and I continue to just study it. And if I'm correct, if the Templars were organized by zero reliable and that would lead me to believe that there were probably an esoteric group of people that were bringing in for me ation forward, because you got to remember that the temple now that temple itself, the second and the First Temple, were both built according to sacred geometrical principles. Absolutely. This information you had to have, or been involved in some sort of secret society and whatever you want to call it esoteric group of human beings, that were interested in bringing these concepts forward in time to the present time. Okay, and I believe that's what the Templars were doing, again, in the 11 to 1300s is same thing by building all those temples and all those cathedrals all throughout Europe, they were bringing these concepts forward into the present time. But why? Why were they doing it? Why were they so interested? And I think that it was, you know, somewhere along the line, they believe that this is a timeframe that we're living in right now. That revelations would take place, and that there would be a change on you know, some people look at revelations, the Book of Revelations and say, you know, there'll be a new habit and a new earth. That's one possibility. I don't know personally, what is going to happen. But I do know that we are undergoing a tremendous change in consciousness right now. And I think the Templars were invested in that bringing forward of that esoteric knowledge, which is something that after I had my near death experience I've been committed to, that's a commitment that I made with my soul, and my heart at the time of my near death, when I decided to come back. And I have been been invested in that, and revealing the esoteric beliefs, and revealing the raising of consciousness and how you know, concepts or how to do that, ever since 1990. So here, now I've come full circle, with the Templars agenda, and my agenda have become one. And so what's happened is I've also embodied that in my own being, and now I move forward as not just a temporary researcher, but also a temporary researcher invested with the asset, the belief that we will have an esoteric change of consciousness on this planet. And that's, you know, that is everything to me. That is, that's my existence that my life. Yeah, absolutely. And it's one of those Kathleen, once you once you are awakened to that, and I don't I don't care what your creed is, what your belief is. metaphysically period, once you are awakened to that fact, in life, it's hard to look the other way.

 2:37:37

2:38:00

Oh, it's impossible.

2:38:03

Yeah, let's just say this, it takes a certain kind of person to look the other hood to look the other way.

2:38:13

First, you know, the first 17 years of that path, I had a liver disease, which resulted in four years of living with liver liver cancer at 29. cancer tumors is not a walk in the park.

2:38:27

How much of and this is a, an honest and spiritual question, Kathleen, how much of how much of your physical suffering Do you believe was a grill test upon your quest?

2:38:47

I think it was all for the purpose of strengthening my faith. And, you know, I had, I had a really interesting conversation with Ian Ferguson, late last week, we had a pub get a podcast. And he mentioned some concepts of that most of the people, many of the people in this world today that have, you know, volunteered to come back, have these genetic memories of some sort of psychic attack that was so bad, that it shattered parts of our soul. Okay. And I it really rings true with me. It really does. Because I believe that what's happened to many people when you're burned at the stake for one thing, when you're burned at the stake like that, or skinned alive or whatever, it is shattering to the soul. So when you die that way, it's so genetic, that it's difficult in your, you know, in your on going lives after that. Have faith again, you know, it's difficult. So I think I know when I was born into this life i was born I just had a belief in the Creator, I had a strong belief that there were certain things that when I started advancing in my quest, even as a child, that I started to turn back because I was afraid, I got, I became afraid. So once I had the near death experience, I was no longer afraid of death. That was it, I just lost that fear. And so all of these things, including the 17 years of liver disease, and cancer, et cetera, et cetera, what that served, the purpose it served was to strengthen me spiritually. And all of these things have continued to strengthen my resolve, as I've moved forward throughout this quest, and, you know, they challenges can do two things, they can send you back, or they can cause you to move forward. Yeah. They're either going to propel you one way or the other. You either give up or you mount the challenge. You know, you climb the mountain, and you get to the top. And you know, and you go the other side. So what happened with me was I continue to climb the mountain.

2:41:14

Yeah, yeah. And and it's it once again, like you said, it's not easy. It's it's not easy. And I think I think that's, that's part of what most people don't understand, Kathleen, is that you might think, yeah, I want to go on a girl quest. I want to I want to do these things. Do you? You know, once again, the people I have spoken with who let's just say have had experiences with the paranormal, Extra Terrestrial things like that the people who populate these shelves in my studio, Kathleen, these are the Grails for people. These are these are the things that listeners are like, Oh my god, yeah, I want that. It's like, really? I don't know if you've read the book. Because? Because Are you ready? Are you ready for the 17 years of trial and tribulation to come to the point of realization, to only only to realize that, like, well, now I've got work to do.

2:42:34

And, and now and now things are getting really real. Yeah. So well, it's kind of like there there is. And just to make this parallel between the Knights Templar and masons, you know, there there is a, a rank in masonry that you hit where the whole lesson of that of that rank of masonry is for you to learn that everything you've learned before that is a falsity. Yeah, exactly. Because the only

2:42:39

2:43:07

2:43:08

way you're going to be ready to receive these next lessons is for you to understand it's all a lie, dude. And find out Yeah, that's signed out. And you just you just keep going because your search for truth becomes more important than anything else in your life. And it involves a great deal of sacrifice. It involves you know, it's not it's not a walk in the park. Many people we see a lot of people today spiritualists, they want to guide you here and there, they want to teach you how to you know, how to work with sacred stones and different they want to teach you all this stuff. That that really is all beside the fact. You know, those things are just beside the fact I like to even sometimes refer to them as irrelevant because they may be guiding you know, there may be guidepost. It's like, I may see a stone, you know, some type of sacred stone, like made out of lapis or something. Look at and go, Oh, that's interesting that that's placed there. Okay, something I might need, I must be to pay attention to something. And what will happen is someone will come in and say, Hey, I need to get to speak with you. And then there'll be a shaman or someone who's giving me instructions for something that I need to do, like when that happened with that nun, you know, but they're not in themselves. I don't know how to say that they're not in themselves the point you know, they're not that's not the destination.

2:43:20

 2:44:57

Yeah. Yeah. Yeah. but it's a well, they, they are a tool with a message. Absolutely. And that's just it, you know, it's kind of like a modern witch saying that that the power comes from an athenee or even even from the crystal. No, that is, that is what we do at least in the Catholic Church and what the, what the Knights Templar would call a sacramental? Right? That is that is what you were using to help fix your mind and your concentration on something. Same as using incense and lighting candles in church. That is that is to represent something that is beyond us, and to put us into a mind space to be in a certain place.

 2:45:53

Exactly. You know, and they assist us to go inside ourselves access the sacred, because that's where it is, you know?

 2:46:03

And that's just it. They know, are they necessary to do that? Absolutely not. You could you could go out and find that sacred, literally in the middle of an open field. If you want to do with the sands assistance of anything, however, do they help set a scene? Absolutely you can, you can watch Shakespeare delivered by a dude in a black turtleneck against a black curtain. And it's it's impactful, you can watch it on a stage with a huge production to write.

 2:46:38

You know, the purpose is to move you that realm of understanding the spiritual of allowing it to come in and to open yourself up to the spiritual. And that's the purpose of those things. And I'm even curious, you know, other which brings to mind is the Ark of the Covenant, you know that the Ark of the Covenant, everybody's searching for the Ark of the Covenant again. And one thing I wanted to bring up that I think is very important is the fact that the king of Ethiopia, used to Mali, numerous tracks into tomar, Portugal to visit none other than the Templars. And also the Templars made reciprocal tracks into Ethiopia. Yep. So this also leads me to believe that they were, they were involved in something very, very spiritual, esoteric belief systems, something very ancient, that they were aware of. I believe that they probably knew the location of the Ark of the Covenant. And I think that there that has something to do with and it may even be revealed during our lifetime. I would love to see that happen. But they were involved in in some very secret practices and had access to some very, very powerful thing.

 2:48:07

Oh, absolutely. Absolutely. And they and that's just it, they, number one were monks before warriors. And, and really understood if there is one thing that monks understand it is the warriors. And, and really understood if there is one thing that monks understand it is the aesthetic, the fact of losing, not having the fact of being able to get away from everything. live in poverty. Yeah. Give everything to somebody else. And it's interesting that their life as monks, I think, is what really opened them to this spiritual path in the way that it was. I don't I don't think that if you had a rabble of general knights that were even charged by the Pope, I don't care if they were all gathered together from the best of the best of just knights of Europe. I don't think that they would have had the same outcome, even even being called Knights Templar or what have you. It was their it was their monk status that took them down the path of the esoteric.

2:49:29

Yeah, there's two important things. There's two important aspects to that. Okay. One Yes. They were on a spiritual quest, and they hadn't you had to, you had to your elite members. These, these esoteric beliefs and practices were not practiced by all of the Templars. No, in order to establish their Grail quest. I believe that that was done via the Crusades because you were facing death. Every GAE every probably every minute, every second while you're over there, you're surrounded by, you know, you're surrounded by Islam. But what they chose to do was not only meet those challenges, but also they went and met with the Sufis and and the, you know, the Islam, the Masters is all are over there. And they actually join with their enemy on some level and communicated with them and came away with esoteric belief systems that they practiced. So they were also many of them were also very respected by by their enemies suppose an enemy right, I mean, they solid in certainly had a great deal of respect for many of the Templars, yes. Because of their ability to face death like they did. Yeah. So this is an important aspect of a grail quest. Because you do come face to face with your own death on numerous occasions, numerous types of incidences that come across that you come across during your quest, I know I have had countless experiences of facing my own death.

2:51:19

And those those experiences Kathleen, especially the ones, like you said, bringing you close to death, having having to face that and even even consider that the way that you were with your pancreatic cancer. How did how did that did that? Um, I'm trying to figure out how to phrase this question to you. How did those experiences and those brushes with death, change your relationship to wanting to find out this information and wanting to research this more?

2:52:06

surrender? Surrender. That was the key was every time I came across one of these situations, it was another level of depth of surrender to all of creation to our Creator, to see the quest to truth. It was just another continual level. And it just continues to be another continual level of surrender, surrender, which the physical death is the final surrender. But these are steps along that way. And the other thing that it's you know, that it's caused me to face which the Templar I shared with I share with the Templars is that you mentioned temptations, you know, I have given up patients I don't drink, I don't smoke, I don't have you know, I don't have any kind of anything in my system. And habit in 30 something years, just temptations, all the temptations you can think of I have managed to surmount and move forward and move away from those temptations. It's like, I don't have addictions, I don't have temptations in my life. I don't have compulsions in my life. And I think through with the Templars as well, is once you enter into this, this journey, that destiny, it's destiny. That's what happens, you know, Jesus, he went through the same thing in the desert, right. And he was 33, when he went through, I was 33, when I had my near death experience. And, you know, I think these parallels are important in people's lives. And, again, I want to emphasize that, you know, I think that anybody can step out of their life. Once they realize that they look around and they go, Oh, my God, I work at a bank, nine to five, I come home, I do the same thing every day. I'm indebted to my ears. I've got a mortgage. What am I living for? Yeah, what are you doing? What am I doing in this life? And, you know, everybody can't Well, not everyone, but many people come to this moment of truth in their life where they just by question everything. And, you know, we see so many people in our society, they start drinking, they start taking prescription drugs, they suicide, I mean, any number of escapes. There's a lot of ways to escape. But basically what you're trying to escape is facing yourself and finding out who you are. Yeah, be who you are the truth of who you are. And for me it it also involves going through a lot of near death or not near death, but past life experiences, and facing some pretty ugly things about my stuff that I really didn't see. But they were part of my journey. Yeah, right out many lifetimes they were part of my journey. And I had to look at those things and and just basically embrace that dark side and, and balance it within myself. And that's, you know that again, that's something that the Knights Templar did as well, I believe because, you know, judging from the way their demeanor as it's described to us, they, that's what they were about. They were a balance of good and evil within their own beings. So that told me that they went through initiations of their own to achieve that state.

 2:55:47

Yeah. And you're speaking of states and initiations, I think my audience would find it very unbecoming of me if I let the mention of ayahuasca and not just a single Ayahuasca journey, but a second losco journey. Kathleen, be mentioned without asking. Did you feel that your IO Wasco, journeys? Plural? A were individual. Do you think that? Do you think that they were individual or tied together? Did you have similar experiences in both of them? And how do you think they related to your Grail quest?

 2:56:31

Well, the first time I went into the Amazon jungle was in Peru, and it was very different. The Ayahuasca is mixed differently. Yeah. And Ghana was going specifically I was going with the intention of a healing and the shaman, the iOS scatto, three months before the trip, and I had been preparing myself with by, you know, not eating meat and sugar and white flour and all these things and preparing myself, spiritually, I talk about it in the book, this preparation that I went through, of, you know, empty myself of identities and personality. So artists, teacher, mother, Woman, wife, blah, blah, blah. And so I went through this emptying until I got to Peru, and then I left I arrived basically empty, you know, without this a little identity as I could do, right. And so when I surrendered when the first Ayahuasca ceremony and die WASC, by the way, is not a recreational drug. No, no, no, no, yeah, don't go into any backyard parties. Things like that.

 2:57:37

2:57:42

Not a noise, definitely not a recreation of spirit. Yeah, it is, statistically for a spiritual quest. That's what it's used for. And that's what happened to me. The first three were linked, the first three experiences were linked, and I talked about it in my book, I really am very, very open about what the experiences were about in my book. And first, it was an emptying seeing past lives. It turned out that I had had a an experience where I was related to the ghetto in a previous slide, 5000 years ago, many, many 1000s of years ago, involving children, Child child sacrifice on I was not proud of my participation with. So, you know, we were able to make amends. And it was it was a beautiful experience was beautiful. And that opened the door somehow to the next part of the next phase The following night, where I went in, and that's actually where I did the healing of the tumors in my liver. I had seven when I left the US I had when I got back. So I was able to go into my own genetic makeup. And I saw like little PacMan, it was really, really interesting that we're just eating these, these tumors that are just eating the tumors. And it was really I was kind of comical when I think back on it. But anyway, and then the third experience, I actually did a little bit more healing of my liver, kidneys, my spleen at that time. Enough. It actually was enough to keep me going until I had the actual liver transplant. I think if I hadn't gone through that iOS experience, I don't think I would have made it to the transplant. I really don't think that would have happened. Wow.

2:59:45

You don't think you would have made it to the not through the transplant but to the transplant?

2:59:50

I don't think I would have survived. No, I know. I don't because Western you know Western medicine at the time their cure for these tumors. Where did she take me in and do this chemotherapy embolization and shoot the tumors full of chemotherapy? And they were destroying my body. I mean, literally. Yeah.

3:00:15

It's it's a destructive process. It's horrifying.

3:00:19

And there were still a little bit to the tumor. And so there were, you know, that were left residual pieces. And so I was continually getting more tumors. So after this experience with the iOS going through, I didn't have another tumor for like nine months, that was the longest stretch. I did not have any tumors, but then they started up again, because I had a liver disease. You know, and I think to this day, I really believe that if I were to stayed in the Amazon jungle at that time, I probably could have healed my liver entirely. But I just I was teaching skill, I still had responsibilities here in the US. And I didn't financially I wasn't, that was not something I could do. Yeah. And that's remarkable because they I mean, indigenous in the genic medic medications are remarkable we are just now starting to microdose people with mushrooms and and things that native cultures have used and they've they've looked at ayahuasca, Ibogaine is one that they are seriously considering for withdrawal, that kind of stuff, it's really interesting to see where the into gins are being used and how they are being applied and modern scientific use.

3:01:07

3:01:44

Absolutely. And, you know, I think one of the biggest, one of the most potent properties of Iowa because it puts you in just surrender state it's beyond, I think it's even more more powerful than a theta escape. So you are in a state of receptivity for healing. And then you also understand and realize that you are in control of your own biological processes. And you can go in and do things and manipulate things. And in the fourth experience, when I was in Brazil, and 2021, that's exactly what I knew exactly what I was doing. At that point. I mean, I knew exactly what I was doing. Surrender, I get it all in one Ayahuasca experience. This surrender process went in, I emptied myself fear, and I described it in my book as well. And then I just opened myself and surrender to the power of love of the universe, and of all tribe was surrounding me with love. It was beautiful experience. And I asked for this healing to take place. And I literally went into my own body and made this sliver my own. So it's a done deal. Wow, wow. And like you said, after that experience, no more rejection meds, or anything like that, which is remarkable. My brother a couple years ago, went through a full immuno transplant. And the science that they have now even now, Kathleen, with that he had, I believe, stage four lymphoma. And yeah, it was it was one of those we have about an option and maybe half of another one. One of those options is very extreme.

3:03:02

3:03:45

Yeah, it's very extreme. And how does that you know, you get the second part of your question was how does that relate to the juggler? Or, you know, the Templar agenda, temperate quest, and again, it it just tailored right into the Templar agenda of the initiation experiences? And here we go. I mean, there is some what did they use this chalices for you now that they that Cara Cookson and Hamilton wipedown? Right, what was contained in those chalices would love to be able to get some samples if there was any possibility of getting some samples about what was contained in those because I would suspect it was some type of a you know hallucinogen of some sort, or possibly even Ayahuasca who knows, if they were in jail. They certainly had access to it.

3:04:41

Oh, most definitely. And aside from that, they had asked, like you said, had they had they gone to the Far East or anything like that guaranteed would have been running into traditional uses of mushroom. All kinds of things for a niche Xi ation ceremony, even the use of acacia wood from the Middle East, like not not many people realize that the whole experience of the burning bush with Moses and the bush that was non consumed by fire that was Acacia that it was in Yes, it burns very uniquely when it's on fire but it also emits a pretty hallucinogenic smoke. Moses did not converse with God. I mean, I had my own religious experiences, aside from acacia wood, but but these things are used. They are used for numerous things. I mean, the ancient Greeks as well as the the Egyptians both used lotus petals and wine, all kinds of things to bring themselves to another state for for religious initiation.

3:06:02

Absolutely, absolutely. It was used all over the ancient world for 1000s and 1000s of years. And you know, I fast forward to the 20th and 21st century and until ego we are starting to break those walls down, you know, you're starting things and Graham Hancock goes into those a great deal. I have a lot of respect for him and his basic mission now to attempt to break those walls down. And to educate, you know, our world today on on the use of these because they're very powerful medication, medicine, medicine, this isn't you know, this isn't pharmaceuticals, you know, synthetics, pharmaceutical, these are natural elements that grow here on our planet, for the benefit of humankind, you know, they are natural substances. And, and I do believe that, that they enhance our world. The fear and the propaganda that has been so widespread in our world for many, many years. I mean, this has been going on for centuries, you know, fill the world with fears. So they're afraid to do this, and they're afraid to do that. And they're afraid to step out pretty soon you're afraid to step out of your own door.

3:07:27

Yeah. Well, in that, and that is quite literally where many people are Kathleen, that is a conversation that we have regularly on this show is that we are we're beyond a tipping or a boiling point, we're at a roiling point. Right. So humanity right now, I mean, the conversation that we just had before this one that we're having right now, the existential conversation of whether whether you want to believe that non biologicals means that it comes to that was my air quotes. There are folks with non biologicals who are just listeners. When it comes to non biologicals, the reason groups keeps that open, is because, yeah, they may not be of this planet, they may not be of this time, they may not be of this dimension. All of those are extra terrestrial outside of this earth. They could be from another earth. They all sorts of things, but to narrow it down and just say, Nope, they're aliens. That Well, if you really examine that, I mean that all throughout the Bible, we'd got these people showing up for God's sake. Yes. Do you know all of them? Yeah. Yeah. They had people visiting, you know, Sodom and Gomorrah, they had people visiting and angels were visit Who do you think these were?

3:08:34

They weren't from this planet. You know, they weren't three dimensional figures that we were comfortable with. Otherwise they wouldn't have made such a big deal, right? Yeah, yeah. Well, and for some reason, everybody was struck with fear upon seeing them despite them being a divine messenger their first initial reaction is always fear. And once again, you you think you want this quest you think like, I want to go on a girl quest. I hope you're ready to be tested. No.

 3:09:09

 3:09:38

You come to grips with your fears you it really brings you face to face with all with all your fears. You know, you really have to you really have to face everything that you never wanted to face. Eventually. You will be fearless at the end of this journey. You know you won't be fearless and you will embrace death when that time comes as just a little hop, skip and a jump into another dimension. And you know, my plan for this fight is to have that transition be very smooth, I want to be very aware of everything that's going on in my death. I don't want there to be any elements of fear. And I just want to make that transition as smoothly and as awake as I possibly can. That is my ultimate goal in this life.

 3:10:33

That is beautiful, Kathleen. I can't say as I've ever heard somebody's life wish put so poignantly for you, what, what is the Grail? Kathleen, have a Have you attained your Grail? Have you found your Grail yet?

 3:10:57

aspects of it, um, I don't feel that I have ultimately embodied the full understanding of what the Grail is because I, you know, it can be understood by different people in different ways. And so for me, I don't know, I just know that I'm still searching. And so I don't believe that I have obtained fulfillment in my Grail quest. And again, the Grail quest, I think the Grail itself, the Grail can be a quest, it can be a healing it can be I think there's some truth to the bloodline of Jesus Christ and Mary Magdalene?

 3:11:47

Sure. No, I

think there was definitely there was definitely some truth in that genetic testing, at some point, I think, could very possibly reveal that that is a fact. And if that's a fact, there's probably millions of those people, descendants today, millions of them. So again, it goes back to the genetic background, their genetic makeup that brings you to this lifetime. And I believe, you know, that we come forward with all that genetic information and memory. And we're prepared for to live the life that we've been given this particular lifetime, whatever it is, by all that stuff that we carry forward. And DNA. Yeah. All that genetic makeup and preparation, I guess you could call it on over every single one of us are. And you know, and we we can, we can not cookie cutter, we cannot apply a cookie cutter principle to this experience. Because for every single human being, it's different. Yeah. Let's say, this is a drill press, you go up to this road, and you make a left and you connect with this monk, and that monks gonna send you to this and that, and eventually you're gonna find this beautiful go pack. Yeah, that's not how it works. That's just not how it works. Yeah. And if there is a cause to be found, I think that what it may contain is blood that can be identified and done DNA sequencing. And it may help us to identify at some point how many people there are, that are just sort of this bloodline. Yeah. If that is an aspect of the grill quest, and I don't know that for a fact, because I haven't experienced that myself. But it makes sense. You know, again, I go back to logic, and and what do we have today that we didn't have 100 years ago? We have DNA sequencing, right? Yeah. So it is an actual cop that does hold residual blood from the bloodline. From however it was obtained, because the Jews did not. They did not allow they did not allow people to blood was not something that they want them anything to do with after someone's death. So it may not even be Jesus's blood. You know what I'm saying? I wouldn't be. It just doesn't make sense. It would be, but it could have been one of his descendants. It could be one of his descendants. It could be something else. We just don't know.

3:14:36

Absolutely. And that's just that now and once again, I am not dismissing the fact that yes, there's a cup from Joseph Aveiro mithya brought over by Mary Magdalene was Mary Magdalene, possibly his wife. Absolutely. I think it would be hard for anybody of proper Jewish faith especially at the time to be Calling him capital our rabbi and not be married, cannot be married it literally would have been unheard of really timeframe in life. Because if you even just study Kabbalah, which he obviously was, you know,

3:15:05

3:15:19

I think that's the only reason a bunch of high priests were listening to a 12 year old, right? You had to be a certain age, you had to be married. I mean, there are still rules today that apply when I first started studying Bala. I was not allowed in study groups of Kabbalah because I wasn't a I wasn't a certain age, I wasn't male. And I, you know, I didn't I didn't fit into that, whatever. So I started studying on my own. But it it but that wasn't a possibility back then.

3:15:24

3:15:51

Yeah. Yeah, Precisely. Precisely.

3:15:55

It's nice to be recognized as a rabbi, and have those studies under your belt, or not a possibility unless you were married? Yeah.

3:16:06

Yeah. And once again, I think that there is likely a physical object what is the Grail quest, what is what is what the Knights Templar were after in chasing? I think was enlightenment and and their path to enlightenment, their spiritual path, an esoteric path to enlightenment, in the understanding that, though, there is this truth, there is another truth with that and that is entwined with another one that is greater and capital T and goes beyond race creed religion. Goes goes beyond all that. And when it comes to the philosopher's stone and alchemy, when it when it comes to the Grail quest itself that what you're trying to attain is the purest you absolutely. transfiguration.

3:17:05

3:17:07

Yeah, yeah, it's the frame, the transformation of you this base metal, that could be gold. You could be this beautiful shining thing that never deteriorates, we're just away from it. Just so close to it leaden gold are right next to each other, you know? And that's the ideas that yeah, we're, we're so close, so close to spiritual and not even just spiritual perfection, Kathleen, but just spiritual openness, openness and awake and being awake and alive and, and embodying allowing that to be embodied within ourselves. You know, we are I think we are on the verge of a global Transfiguration, humanity all across humanity. That's, that's going to involve the entire human race. And I think that we're, we're just, we're right on the precipice of that. Absolutely. Right now, I really do I really believe that, you know, we see that this, this 3d paradigm is very mental 3d paradigm, patriarchal, dominated paradigm. That's been out of balance for 1000s of years. And what we see now is crumbling, we see it crumbling all around us. They are trying to build themselves up that pompous bunch of baloney, and make themselves look bigger than they are, and they have control the media and they have control of this, they have control of that. And they have control of what we see. But they don't have control of what we feel and what we actually see around us. And if you've ever I was a child of science, even when I was three and four years old, I watched a bug a bee at one point in my life I was probably about five or six. I don't know how but anyway, I watched to be in it. It obviously stung somebody because his missing the stinger and I watched his bee for I don't know, 45 minutes or an hour spinning, spinning and grasping at the grass and grasping it little sticks and grasping to your thing on delight. That's what's going on with the patriarchal paradigm right now. Alright, they are disintegrating. I had been contacted by the Illuminati four times in the last two years. I blocked them.

3:17:44

 3:19:40

Now Now hold on, because I've gotten an email once but I'm pretty sure it wasn't the actual Illuminati one email that was like, Hey, we're interested in you, you should come down. I was like, I don't know if this is the edge. I don't think that's how this thing works. works. But

 3:20:03

I don't know. But I know that for different times, you know, by these groups inviting me to, you know, meet with groups and telling me that they can enhance my career, give me money and all this other Baloney, and I just blocked them. Yeah. Yeah. Just that happening is an indication to me of desperation. And I think it's just, it's just another indication of desperation. And I see it more and more, I just see it more and more. They're, they're so out of touch, many of them are so out of touch, they have no idea what's going on with humanity. And in doing that, they're creating such an alienation with people with humanity on this planet. And such a, a hatred and an A. A dislike and and hatred. Yeah, in me is being focused at that. Yeah, absolutely.

 3:21:07

 3:21:12

And I've always been a believer that evil will bring about its own destruction. You know, similar to what you see the Dow you know, the Dow that you and I see our world right now flipping, we are flipping, and we are everything is changing under the rug, or is this whole consciousness that rising up, while at the same time this whole? I guess you could call it dark energy is disintegrating because it's just destroying itself? Yeah. It cannot. It's not supportive of life. It's not supportive of anything that's positive. All of the motives that go into the deeds, and they're what they're doing are selfish, greedy. They, they're based on, you know, perversion, and just all this other stuff. It cannot sustain itself. Yeah. Yeah, it's gonna bring its own destruction.

 3:22:23

It is, it is definitely not the path to growth. It's not the path to spiritual fulfillment, or, or even spiritual journey. Really, it's much more of a quick fix path to I guess, spiritual desperation, Kathleen, we are we're at a state. And this is a conversation that I have with people not only on the show, but regularly outside of it. We are at a state on both sides of the aisle. Where a nobody wants to hang out in the middle of the aisle anymore. Politically, spiritually, doesn't matter. And there's a, the middle of the aisle is where the visible spectrum is, you know, that's where the spectrum of light that we can see and processes, not in the infrared, not in the ultraviolet. Those things exist, and they're there, but they are not healthy to exist in either one. Extreme things bring about extreme mentalities and even whenever you were talking about the mentality of I don't like that guy because of what he believes. Man, that's kind of disturbing. Yeah. Especially if it's somebody that literally you've never met. That is, that is psychologically a point that you really need to consider like if you use the four letter word, aid, right, and somebody's name, and never met them, like shook hands spent, you may be familiar with them, their work, what they've done in life, things like that. But if you've never like, hung out in the same room with that person shook their hand and said, Hi, my name is Chris, nice to meet you. And you like hate them to the point of expending energy on the daily? Right. You need to think about that psychologically. You do.

3:24:37

Like, everything for one thing, it's gonna come back on you.

3:24:40

Yeah, it's a well, it's just not a healthy you are not living in a healthy mentality.

3:24:46

Right. That's the nature of energy. You know, that is nature of energy. Yeah, exactly. Also, you know, I see and I you know, I also have a background in psychology. I was an art therapist for years while I was working on My master's degree. And I also worked in, in law back in my early 20s. And I did investigative investigation for defense attorneys. So I had at my disposal at any one given time, parole, paperwork, you know, parole reports from different defendants Sure, noticed what I what I paid attention to was that any of these people that were really, really, I guess you could call, you know, really horrible people, or we want to call that murderers in blah, blah, blah, blah, blah, every single one of them had a bravado. And that when I met them, and interviewed them, and spoke with them, was based on fear. And they were very fearful and had been damaged children, every single one of them. And so that led me to start looking at some of the people that that we see in our world today, that have become very powerful. And you know, and they may be part of this dark world, or this dark energy or whatever, their route of that to make a decision to go this easy route, and join the club, they simply give up your soul or whatever it is, to be a part of this Illuminati or whatever you want to call it. Take fear. It is a decision. It's based on fear. Right there. Yeah. It's the root of it is fear. And so, you know, I look at those people as in truth, very, very insecure. Absolutely, yeah. And so that's not a powerful person, that's not a person, then when push comes to shove, is going to act in a way that is going to benefit anybody, including themselves. And so when all of this stuff starts come tumbling down, you know, and, and we, we move further into our evolution, our consciousness raising, I think a lot of these people are just going to crumble and knuckle under you. Now I really do. They may even come to their own spiritual awakening as a result of the pressure, and whatever it brings into their life, you know, whatever, devastations, whatever, whatever, because people don't usually come to the quest or come to the spiritual path without having some sort of reason to be there. In other words, they usually it's a divorce or a debt, or they've been through it a really devastating experience in their life that causes them to question. What they've been doing. It's it's a, it's a path. It's a crossroads. Yeah.

 3:28:15

It is a very existential moment.

 3:28:17

Absolutely, absolutely. And so, you know, I keep an open mind that, that many of these people that are involved in these things right now, for very fearful reasons, when push comes to shove, they may very well come to their knees as well.

 3:28:36

Yeah. And that's just it, you know, that is that is, I believe. One of the main reasons why NASA hired 12 theologians not really hired 12 theologians, they gave money to a group of 12 theologians that were part of a study group to talk about the the impacts that it may have upon humanity, should we find out about life outside, you know, men, if you're going to talk to any group of people about what one message is going to do to the whole world, how it's going to reverberate? how that how that message can even telephone wise because of cultures change from place to place. Yeah, go talk to religious leaders, you know, because, yeah, they, they have that connection where they're all over the world. So, we have to be ready for that we have to be ready for that shift Kathleen, that is the conversation that we have with so many researchers that we have on the show especially whenever it comes to the topics of exopolitics whenever it comes to the topics of ancient technologies. And And yes, I would even say the the teachings of The Knights Templar the esoteric teachings of them are in and of themselves in ancient technology, it is an ancient knowledge of rewiring oneself and how you react and interact with the world around you to participate in the divine.

 3:30:19

Absolutely, absolutely. You know, in Freddy Silva talks about this is something that we, we both agree on that, that there was an inner circle of Templars of Knights Templars across Europe at that point in time, not just in France, and not just in Portugal, but I believe in Scotland and many other countries as well. We're finding underground tunnel systems underneath these trees all over Europe right now. So you know, these were hughster something. Yeah. And I believe that they were used for the esoteric practices, initiation practices done by the Templars, and all over all over the world. And I think that, you know, as Freddy Silva says, that, you know, they wanted these initiatory practices to prevail in the consciousness of mankind. They it was, it was important to them to bring this forward. And, and to, you know, continue these practices and to open these up eventually, for our timeframe. I think. They were, you know, one of many groups, you know, we have all sorts of different groups that have brought this stuff this Stevie's Did you know, the, the Ethiopians have they've done their part? You know, we have Shinto. In Japan, we have all different every single continent for where you go. One of the things I did when I was preparing for my doctorate was I studied spiritual belief systems, the roots of spiritual belief systems, throughout the globe, all over the world. And if you get down far enough, you'd go back far. I mean, they're all the same. They all teach basically the same thing. Yeah. The initiatory practices of the inner groups of all of these spiritual belief systems aren't there. If you look at Native American, I don't care if you're looking at Shinto, I don't care what are basically all the same. And these people practice the same, the same thing, exactly the same things. You know, clear your mind, surrender, open to the creative consciousness, you know, resist the temptation, so that you're not dealing with all these worldly temptations coming at you all the time. And basically surrender, you know, to the Almighty, and truth, become a student of truth. And then this is age, all this has been going on since the beginning, I believe a physical manifestation of mankind.

3:33:05

Yeah. And, you know, just to loop back to an earlier part of the conversation about Christ and being a be it being a Kabbalistic student. Once again, I don't think that the high priests whenever he got lost from the count, and suddenly in the caravan, Mary and Joseph, oh, where's yet and of course, he's in his father's house. As it says in the passage, however, I don't think the the heads of the church would have been listening to a 12 year old, right, who a they probably would not have believed was the Messiah. They weren't listening to him because he was the Messiah. As much as I hate to say it, folks, the high priests if they if they thought that they wouldn't have killed him. Let's be clear, let's be really clear, they wouldn't have had the Sanhedrin wouldn't have been cool with killing him if they were like listening to him earlier. And I think this guy's the Messiah. No, would have possibly been a very hot, very learned early Qabalistic student. Sure, very rare, but especially in a in a Shiva school or anything like that. If somebody shows the propensity for that, they will be moved forward. So that makes sense. And especially whenever you start reading those big red words, you certainly start to see a lot of Kabbalistic teaching. A lot of teaching of you are directly connected with the Divine you participate in the divine. Those were dangerous concepts to be giving the common people when they were paying good money to come burn a dove for a birth sacrifice.

3:34:58

That's what's continually gotten In a way, yeah, we happen in Egypt with our canonteign Taking we saw

3:35:05

happen with the Knights

3:35:07

Amarna. And and recreating the One God concept, you know, he wasn't, he wasn't bringing anything new, he was going back into the ancient concepts and bringing it back to life is what he was doing. You know, then we see this again, we see this every single civilization amongst the Jews that that you know, during buildings a chapel, whenever you have people who are invested in the material plane, and what it can give to them in terms of money status, et cetera, right? You're going to have resistance.

3:35:41

3:35:44

Because they want to hear on just like we're dealing with now we were dealing with the yen. The reason why is they want to hang on to what they have, they want to hang on to the illusion that the world believes you know that the masses who are supporting their lifestyle, right? They don't want that bubble to be popped, so that they can continue so so thanks so much. They don't want the apple cart being upset. They don't want that apple cart being turned in. This was certainly true in Jesus and then in his time, Oh, absolutely.

3:36:23

And that's just it, that's kind of the parallel that I'm making here is the same way that eventually the Sanhedrin had to do something. The Romans weren't going to do it. They don't care. They were kind of like the Templars, whenever they came in, hey, keep your tempo, we don't care, pay your taxes. That's what we care about. Oh, and by the way, that corner, that's where our temples go. And just so you know, you know, pretty much the same way the Templars pretty well respected the local religion, whenever they came in. They were they were sent as a means of protection. Things went crazy with the Crusades, all kinds of stuff, however. They, they pretty well absorbed a lot of teaching from the religions of the locals that they were around.

3:37:16

And there's, you know, there's a great deal of reason to believe that that they brought that back into it, especially into Portugal precisely. And once again, why why the church would be buddy buddy with the with the King of France, as soon as he used the H word and said heresy as soon and were there some wild thing? Sure. Absolutely. There were some interesting esoteric practices and thoughts going on amongst a group, a very tight group of Templars. Absolutely, it was not the common practice of all of them.

3:37:25

3:37:53

.....

This is true in any organization, but people time again, I don't know how many people have come to me and say, well, Kathleen, budworm to Templars evil, weren't they? You know, they would say to say we're killing people, blah, blah, blah. And my answer to that is I don't care what group I don't care if you Masons. I don't Rosicrucians Templars, I don't care who you who you want, I guess young, whatever. You're going to have people who are altruistic and practicing the principles for this for the purpose of surrender to the Almighty and destiny and their journey, their initiatory journey, and you're gonna have people who are abusing the system. That's just the way life is you escape it. It's hard to escape the physical plane, Kathleen. And as Augustine said, until we get rid of these horrible skins, these horrible sin sacks in which we live.

 3:38:41

 3:38:53

You want to hear something interesting about the skin sacs, right, that we're skin sex carry our DNA and what my belief is, during my esoteric discoveries and research, is that that DNA is is our covenant basically holds all the information that is going to lead us back to our original state, eventually, because if you think about it, yeah, our our skin is based, it's recycled from the soil and blah, blah, blah, right? We now know the science we know that sells called memory, right? Yep. There's every reason to believe that our DNA could actually hold the memory of everything that's ever happened from the beginning of physical manifestation. So that when we and I say when we access this, because when I went through the ayahuasca experiences and access my past life experiences, not just with Ayahuasca but with other practices I know that that information was withheld within my own game. So where is that? It's got to be in my DNA got to be. And I believe Jacob's Ladder, they talked about Jacob's ladder in the, in the Old Testament, Jacob laid on the rock, which was Bethel, which be at Bethel is portal can also be interpreted as portal. Okay. And the ladder I believe is DNA, our connection between heaven and earth. In other words, other dimensional reality and physical three dimensional reality. Yeah, yeah, action is our DNA.

 3:40:35

Well, and that's just it. And and to know, once again, that that esoteric concept that, that concept that because we amongst any other animal in the creation story were the ones breathed life into by the Creator that spoke life into being, we have that unique spark of creator inside of us. And once again, that's a dangerous knowledge, if given to a common man. And if used improperly. And once again, a big reason why sure the church would would want to do the same thing that the Sanhedrin wanted to do when a guy was roaming around, telling people that they did not need the hierarchy in order to participate in the divine, or talk to the divine. Exactly. You don't need the man with the caller in order to do that.

 3:41:34

Right. And they had a best best interest, you know, is it again, remember, in the Middle Ages, the church was, was was God strictly aligned with the what's royalty? hierarchy? So they had a, they had a total Stranglehold over the people's minds. You know, their the propaganda was absolute at that point. Well,

3:42:00

you weren't King unless you were coordinated by the Pope,

3:42:03

King on 3:42:04

one hand, that was controlling everything. And he had a church that was backing him up. Yeah. And right. And they both were telling you everything that you needed to know that you didn't know anything, you're just a peon, and get your butt back to that piece of land and work it so we can have 50% of the proceeds because you owe it to us because we're debarking Yeah, right. Yeah. And we're not going to give you enough time to question it. So you get your butt out there and you work 12 to 14 hours a day. So all you have time for us to sleep.

3:42:36

Good Lord, we're gonna make sure you never learn to read so that you don't question it.

3:42:44

You see a parallel in today's world?

3:42:46

Yeah, no. And that's just it. The cycle has never changed. Kathleen, the cycle of hell, the light of truth is obvious skated. I mean, even even our motto not not many people, I think, see it a whole lot whenever they go to our website, but it's right there looks very otitis, Lucia into NIBRS. Veritas, the light of truth shines in the darkness. And that's because whether you like it or not, it may hurt your eyes, it's still going to shine. That is what I consider this show. I'm sorry, we will we will talk about truths with capital T's, I'm sorry, if you don't feel comfortable with some of the things we're talking about, about the persecution of Christ by the Sanhedrin. And why it may have happened. The persecution of the Knights Templar by the church and the motivations that both the church and the King of France had, sorry. Those are truths, they may be painful. Hey, I spent my first year in college as a Catholic seminarian, and spent many years after as a Catholic youth minister and taught CCE in our CIA and sponsored people for confirmation. And many people were a caller who I Yeah, you should go join the seminary, you should think about that. But there was definitely campaigns to keep some of that knowledge down. And that's horrifying. And I yeah, I can't deny that. Right.

 3:44:29

Yeah. And that's, you know, and I think that's really important that we, that we understand in this particular time in our life, that these entities are trying even harder right now to oppress by what happens when you oppress. The more you push someone down or a group or the masters the more you attempt to oppress and deny access to these things, the more that they're going to search for it. and it's just it's just the Yin Yang reaction. Yeah, it's just gonna happen, that anybody you try to press become stronger in the long run. Because all these hoops that we're jumping through a nice 14 hour days and all this stuff is also making a stronger, because we're surviving this step, these other people that that have a vested interest in keeping us down as slaves or whatever you want to call it. They're certainly not getting any stronger because they're sitting back. You know, they're they're doing whatever they do in their lifestyle, but they're not working hard. They don't know what the what that even means. They're physically weaker than we are. They're mentally weaker than we are. And they're emotionally and spiritually weaker than we are. They are weaker, they have reason to fear.

 3:45:52

Yeah. Well, I was just having that conversation the other day with somebody, Kathleen, the fact of I don't think that the the proletariat, so to speak, understands the power that they hold. And we were making the allusion to here in America, you know, what could what could fix the problem in a heartbeat? And I brought up the the I was very small, probably about three years old when the trucker strike happened. Yeah, 48. I think that was like, 1977, seven years when the trucker strike happened. However, one week, like, that's all it takes, man, I was like, I would put out the challenge. If you were asking me like, how to fix it, like what protests could we do? To show the government was like you need, you need not a single bullet, not a single firearm. What you need is, every single person, the person I was having that conversation with literally is calling me right now telling me that's not weird. But every single person who was deemed essential air quotes during the pandemic, don't go to work for a week. Right? Everybody just call in sick. Don't do it. I see what happens. See what happens when the toilet paper runs out? Nobody's driving it across the country. Because they're in a state of protests. We'll see what happens.

 3:47:24

Right. I started. You know, when I was in Egypt in 2011, during during that, the whole revolution,

 3:47:33

oh, wow, you were there during the Arab square. And I was interviewing people in Tahir square. And you know that they were just sitting there peaceful and quiet with their families, having picnics and just sitting there solid in what they their truth. Yeah. And the people that were frightened, were the guards that were walking the perimeter with machine guns shoved down their pants, you know, and their suit jackets opened up. And the military, they were the ones that were afraid. Well, yeah, cuz, even got near enough bullets for that many people guy. Right.

3:47:36

3:48:07

3:48:12

I mean, it was, it was one of the most powerful moments in my life. Yeah, it was really a transformational see. And that, for me was no accident. That was no accident. You know, I was there. I was there during that revolution, that I had to actually manipulate the tour guide at that point to stop there because she didn't want to stop. Yeah, so everybody on the bus, I says, Well, doesn't, don't y'all want to buy T shirts. This is a moment. This is our moment in history. You don't want to miss you. Everybody wants T shirts, right? And so they all went, Oh, they want t shirts. And so, you know, I really did a manipulations, what I did. And the tour person, she was pissed off at me really pissed off. But you know what, we stopped into your square. And I got to interview the people and listen to what they had to say, wow. And it was powerful. And I knew that it was powerful. And I knew that I didn't want to miss that opportunity and miss that moment. And I don't regret it. And, you know, the other thing that I was I was in Bosnia after the war, too. And, and that was a completely different experience. But again, I saw the strain and the people that survived that war. And I also understood the political system that was going on, you know, behind the scenes and why that whole war took place. And I'm not going to get into that whole political thinking right now. But no, but when I was picking up a Russian artillery and Russian hand grenade, my husband found a hand grenade in the river. Wow, Russian and I was picking up, you know, shell and empty shells that had been expelled that were all Russian. Everything I picked up was was Russian artillery. So, you know, but But what I saw out of that devastation of that war in the people's eyes was a strain. You don't want to mess with those people. You don't want to master those people. Yeah. People know how to survive.

3:50:27

Yeah, and that's just it. The Knights Templar knew how to survive they knew how to militarily keep secrets. They knew how to keep secrets amongst themselves. They get it's kind of like we've discussed that I believe we've discussed it with you and with Gretchen Cornwall to think that they did not know a not only what their military might that they had, but they every single one of them almost came from royalty. Yeah, so they had spies in every court. I try to think that they need to think that they found out when they heard the hoof hoof prints coming down the cobblestones right that it was going down I don't think so. Pretty sure that they had the military intel that hey, there's people coming you need we need to get out of here.

 3:51:21

You know, and and we were each and every one of them a tempered sword. You know, they were a tempered star to be able to train like they did for battle, the fearlessness I mean, solid in made numerous comments about the fearlessness of the Templar soldiers that came through the Templar Knights, that fearlessness, absolute fearlessness. And you know, what would motivate someone who had been raised in a royal family? Or, you know, these were all the higher echelon in Europe, these Templar Knights they were all from Oh, it was it was honor of honors for you to give a for you to give a son or a nephew.

 3:52:03

 3:52:10

what would motivate you to walk away from that life and become a Templar Knight? Great. There had to been something that was really powerful for that motivation, that inspiration to lead you away from a cushy lifestyle. Yeah. Yeah.

 3:52:33

And once again, I think a lot of that was each knights own Grail quest. Kathleen, I think that they all understood the fact that they were they were all in their own refiners fire, they were all searching for their own Philosopher's Stone. And their own on their own Grail quest, looking for their own truth of where they belonged, within the divinity of the universe.

 3:53:03

Take care, and like I said, they're their sword, their, you know, their sword was was, was like, you know, a metaphor for, for what they were. They were perfectly timbered internally, from as a result of their quests, individual digital quest, but they can each look each other in the eye, and they knew that they had all gone through their own individual journey, their individual progress, and they were surrounded by brothers. And we saw this during the Inquisition. You know what these people just didn't give it up? Yeah, they just didn't give it up. Yeah. And none of them ever gave up the real truths that were going they none of them. Yeah, no.

 3:53:50

Yeah, there, there is. No, we and we have numerous Chronicles from, you know, inquisitions, all kinds of things. But when it comes to Knights Templar, that were caught, tortured, burned at the stake, what have you. Yeah. And none of them gave up nothing.

 3:54:13

3:54:13

Right. They, you know, they agreed to some of the things that they were, you know, accused, what was really going on anyway. And then, you know, what were their death recanted and said, you know, that was all baloney, you know, anyway, I mean, Jacqueline, Dina lay. At the moment prior to his death, he recanted. You know, that statement that he made and along with many of the others, but my point is that none of them ever divulged the true secrets of the or be initiatory secrets and what was really going on? None of them. None of them yet.

3:54:50

Yeah. Yep. Kathleen, thank you so much for such an open, honest conversation. I mean, of the stories in your book and your journey of the creation of not only the Brazilian Templar mystery, documentary, but the book are absolutely amazing. And the story of your healing is phenomenal. Thank you so much for sharing in such an intimate way. So much. I appreciate it.
