Coming from the city of the weird exploring topics from the esoteric and unexplored, two dimensions are known. Shining a light of truth on the darkest corners of our reality. Welcome to the curious realm

00:53

Well, hello, everybody and happy tuesday night as always. Welcome to the curious round Chris Jordan here coming at you live from North Austin, Cedar Park area. Hope everybody is doing well. God bless to all of those out there in the Baltimore area. I don't know if you guys have seen that video. Man. I've watched that this morning. And it? Yeah, I had to step back from life for a minute. And think about that. Because that was That was rough. And my heart goes out to anybody whose family was involved with that incident. All the workers, everything else. So prayers for all those guys out there. Our guests tonight I am very excited, of course to have. In our first segment our good friend, Reverend Michael J. S. Carter is here he is the author of the new book enlightenment. It is an amazing collection of sermons that he has written. We will be talking tonight about belief, specifically belief as it relates to the experienter and how things change how things hypothetically change with you. When something happens and even when something happens to family, friends, things like that. Worlds of belief are shaken and sometimes worlds of new belief are created. So we're going to explore that a little bit and after a commercial break, we're gonna welcome Samuel Chong Samuel Chung is the narrator of or not Narrator sorry, translator of the amazing book, that the Oba prophecy and this book is basically a translated journey. The the gentleman who had the journey was taken aboard a craft inter dimensionally to another planet called the oboe where he witnessed amazing culture and technology and was given a very distinct warning about humanity and our future. And where not only where we're at right now, but what the future holds for us. Should we stay this course. So we'll be getting into that after our commercial break tonight, and of course, trying to get somebody I should have just I should have just had you on pasture to talk about talk about the coming apocalypse with the with the with the Eclipse and with the eclipse, the devil comet, the lunar eclipse that just happened as well as the Murcia Mercury retrograde and don't forget the the the Mars Saturn na chelation, those who are meeting inoculating behind the moon as well. So it's a bit it's it's more than a trifecta a hatrnick. Apocalypse coming, be careful driving. That's it. Exactly. Zachary Costas drive.

04:01

04:07

But but that that kind of springboards us into the conversation tonight, which is which is belief, pastor, and it can it can, it can be hard sometimes because you know, especially over the last many years, the last decade in our country, politically, belief has driven a wedge whether whether you're talking political belief, or whether you're talking religious belief and where you live politically because of that. It's gotten to a point where people literally don't have holiday like we have Easter this weekend. You know, I've got my family reunion. I'm sure many people whether many others around the country do too and I'm sure many others won't be getting together for their family Easter egg roll or what have you because of what somebody believes. Yeah, it's It's it's Yeah, well remember, we were going through this too, you know, imagining people at Thanksgiving getting together their family. And yeah, I want to bring up politics. Or maybe you do want to bring up politics. It's a tough thing. I have a half sister, who is evangelical. And we love each other bunches, we love each other to death. But there are certain subjects we won't go to. And in his we're not going to talk about UFOs. We're not going to talk about that we're not going to talk about psychic ability of which she has in bunches. You know, she doesn't like that word. You know, she's a prophetess. Or, you know, you got to say it the right way. You did the thing about belief is it's about your experiences, you've heard people say, I don't know there's a God, I don't believe there's a God anymore. I know there's a God. And you ask them why. And they may say, well, because I've experienced this, that and the other. And see, that's the key. It's your experience. And and we're still we still live in a time, that's taboo. If your experience doesn't fall into the box that we that we have set for you, then it's not valid. And I'm speaking specifically of religion here, but we find it in politics, and what have you, once you and you being a seminarian? Once you once you say, once you come to the belief, the perspective that we live in a populated universe, that we are not alone. Once you accept that as reality, then your whole perspective of God has to change of why we're here. What's the meaning of life? It has to change. And we all know that that's one thing that people find it very, very difficult to do. When those sacred cows are being challenged. And I don't know the answer, you can do what I do. You know, it's like an unspoken truths. We just agree to disagree. So we won't go there. I think that's the most healthy thing, if you if you've tried it before, and it gets to be heated, or if you really evolved. And sometimes I'm good. I'm good at this. You have to give up being right. You have to give I don't I don't need to be right on this. Absolutely. There's some headway that can be made. But and now we see it in our political life. We see it in our religious life. We see it in our economic life. We see it in foreign policy. It's, it's gonna it's the challenge of the 21st century. And it's global. You know, what is what is what is truth? What is real? Who gets to decide? Well, and that is a huge, huge part of things, you know, is what what is real? What is I mean, that that's something that we get into on this show all the time is by all ninth grade science, man, we are not real weird, 90% empty space. So like, wouldn't you did just start breaking that down and then get into the thing get into your religious belief? You know, like, right, because, well, but but but but I'm talking about and you're correct. I'm, I'm just saying that that's heavy, what you're talking about too, but I'm just saying, Can we agree that okay, there are some things that were wrong to do to an individual 5000 years ago, and there'll be wrong 5000 years from now. Yeah, so but now it's situational ethics is relative. You know, we don't have to Jesus, yeah, I believe in Jesus. Jesus is my Savior. But I believe in this over a year. You know what I mean? Yeah, well, that's Christianity those teachings, but it's so if they don't fit my, if they make it uncomfortable for me, or inconvenient, then all of a sudden they're not true. Or it's relative. It's relative. And so any any any society that can agree on basic truths will collapse. Yeah. Any society and Do I sometimes think this is where we are? Now? What what's what's news? What is fake news? Obviously AI plays a part in this, but but it's just that we cannot agree anymore even to disagree. Or pardon me, what is real? Does two plus Tuesday still equal four? Well, and you know, that that that is that is where a lot of issues start is what what, what can we agree on what what common ground can we find it especially when it becomes a the fact of common belief and the want of common belief, the wants of commonality and acceptance, that that want of confirmation of what you believe, you know, and when you marry that with, well, just straight up cognitive dissonance, and the idea of well, this goes against what I believe, and despite all evidence to it being true, I will accept it as false. And, and that makes it hard because at that point, you know, and I mean, that was that was a part, I say it regularly on the show that that was a big part of me kind of stepping away. And following my spiritual path instead of my religious paths path at church was, you know, coming to somebody with evidence of the spectrum. And being told, yeah, we don't have a teaching on that. That doesn't exist. Yeah. And it's like, but But you asked me to believe in the spectrum without evidence. Yes. You asked me to accept on faith. Exactly. And that was a hard leap of logic for me. Well, because you know, you come to a point, yeah. Where you don't have to have faith, you can know. You can know, the thing, but remembered to know is subjective. Yes, I could say when I hear people saying they believe that there's, there's life in outer space, who, you know, you know, I, you know, I don't come out and say, Oh, come on, I know, as if I'm an authority. But I will say, you know, I don't even start from that point of departure anymore. Whether I'm lecturing, whether I'm doing a conference, I just come out with the point of departure. Remember that all seminary talk? Is that, that we live in a populated universe. Right? That's it. That's where I'm at. That's my jumping off. Now, someone may say to me, they don't believe in God. And I can say, okay, because I respect that. i But to me, I know, there's something greater than me and I use that word, why we'll use the word about explain what it means. But I'd be why because I've experienced. Yeah.

04:58

 08:49

 10:22

 11:51

13:11

At least what you what you believe to be God. Yes, exactly.

13:19

Yeah. And that's got to be okay. That's right. That's right. Well, God put it in many places, whether we're talking about UFOs and belief, and religion, or whether we're talking about anything, it's it's if it's not in our society, the measure of faith, it has to be you have to recite the party line. And heaven help you if you believe in UFO, the mode when I get people coming to me, I'm sure with you as well, with the religious background and training, can I still be a Christian? And believe in a populated universe? Can I still believe be Jewish simply? And I say, of course you can. But and I don't. I mean, that's the end of the sentence. But you're gonna have to get some flack. Because, yeah, obedience is measured, measured. Righteousness is measured. Faith is measured by you parenting, the party line. Yeah. And it's like, it's the greatest peer pressure you can ever have. Because you and I both know people who are in positions of authority. They could be religious, they could be even political or what have you. But if they come out and say, they believe in extraterrestrials, their tenure will be taken. They will lose their jobs. And I say that because I don't want to be so judgy because I know people who know, but I get it. They're not outline. Intentionally, they just have to say everything I've worked for, I will throw away and I don't want to do that.

14:59

You Yeah, because that means everything attached to it gets thrown away. That means everybody else's good work attached to it gets thrown away, things like that. You You have to be willing to admit that and you have to be willing to take that on shoulders, you know, and realize that and and you know, here's the thing. Yes, a lot of that I will say, even even when it comes to research, it's one of those you got to double, triple quadruple check. You know, I mean, they it was double, double, triple checked before we figured out that no, the guy with the room temperature Semiconductor was in a room, similar temperature semiconductor. But it took a few people and a few people trying to replicate and a few people going through and looking at math and going I don't know, man, this like this pretty close, is pretty close. And, yeah, and so belief, belief and experience are two different things. Yeah. They're two different things. And, and so sometimes they never meet, and sometimes they can, ideally they can, because that's what religious faith is about. I think that I, you know, Dr. King said, faith is taking the first step when you don't see the rest of the staircase. And I like that, of course, what Paul talks about in Corinthians, but faith is you can move beyond faith to I know, when I was I just finished reading a book on Plato. And they were talking about Socrates, obviously, you have to, and that Plato, Socrates that said, you guys go to live and I go to die, whatever is best. I don't know. Yeah. But the way that the serenity that Socrates had, of course, he had his moral compass, and his integrity and what have you, but he didn't believe that he would live on. He knew it. Yeah.

15:50

17:10

Yeah. Precisely. Precisely. And, you know, because he held that idea of, we are what we teach, we are what we put forth. You know, and I guess I guess that would bring up the the idea of, you know, especially whenever I asked people or whenever the conversation comes up, and people are like, oh, you know, I'm, I'm atheist number one. I've met very few actual atheists in the world most most folks are real, maybe hardcore agnostic, something like that. But once you get to the point of like, okay, do you believe that you can change reality around you? You know, and once once you start getting to the points of manifestation, once you start getting good points of you know, even Gestalt therapy, where, which which is very, which is very much NLP, you know, whenever, whenever you start looking at the modern practice of neuro linguistic programming. Okay, let's go back. Let's find a trauma recognizing you. You see it now backup from it? Has it gone yet? Okay. Yeah. Recognize it again.

18:27

Can you see us

18:29

moving away from it? And it's, it's interesting, you know, to, to feel those bands of attachment snap on something. And yeah, and I don't think enough people a give themselves the credit that that is possible. Through their own.

18:48

We're not taught that. Yes. We're not taught that it is. I mean, for me, it was the saving grace was, like you, I appreciate the life of the mind. Love it. But I also was using it to not feel the pain I was feeling. Yeah, you know, I was hiding behind the intellect not consciously. And that, you know, Gestalt, Gestalt therapy, addresses that. It's a whole body mind spirit kind of modality. And I opened me up I got rid of, you know, the language they use. You get rid of the armor, the body armor, so you can start feeling things. Yep. That you didn't know were there. So that that's I'm a proponent of if you can get a good therapist or counselor. You can add years of happiness to your life. But again, getting back to belief and experience I don't want to make it versus the experience.

19:58

No, no, absolutely not.

19:59

Yet. Yeah, it just it just makes all the difference in the world what? What is the paradox is it's like. I listen. if we look at religion. religion wants you to experience God. But if you don't like, listen, if we look at religion, religion wants you to experience fear. But if you don't experience the way the playbook says yes, yeah. And you are punished for that. Yeah. If it's not within the if it's not within the Kleenex box, yeah,

 20:26

God, and that's what's scary. And it's been scary throughout history. Yeah. What are you talking about? You know, the man we call Jesus when you're talking about Siddhartha, whether you're talking about Joan of Arc? Well, you know, yeah, yeah. If it doesn't fit this box, then the very thing we want you to experience. We will turn on you.

 20:50

Yeah, yeah. And some in a, you know, these experiences run deep these experiences are things that are frequently traumatic for people. You know, most of the books behind me Do not start off like a John Denver song. They start off like a Disney movie. Like, somebody dies, like horrible things happen to somebody at their things are redeemed by the end of it, and there's a happy song. But yeah, but yeah, yeah, they typically don't start off well for somebody involved in the book. And because it's what and this is for the atheist, the agnostic, those who don't know, and don't care, and even for the religious. Yeah, what we're talking about is the hero's journey. What we're talking about is this hero's journey. And so for people who you look at the Jesus story, which many of us will be looking at the Sunday, men tomorrow night, and Monday, Thursday. And you know, tomorrow night and Bible study, it's the hero's journey, it's you know, you come into the world, and the world has molded you are telling you what it's like to be a man what it's like to be a woman. And you take that on, what is it you're supposed to believe? What's fake news and what isn't? And you take that on, and then an event happens. And you start to question all that. And you start realizing that you are not what you were told you are by your parents, by your society, and whatever, and something wakes you up and snaps you out of that. And so then this this rebirth, it's this caterpillar becoming the butterfly, right? It's this metamorphosis, and then you become who you truly are. That is the hero's journey. And it's an all I don't care whether you're talking about Muhammad, I don't care whether you're talking about a Buddha, I don't care whether you're talking about Jesus, and we're all called for it to beat to walk that journey. It's the story of Luke Skywalker man. Exactly. Like it's like, that's why Joseph Campbell called it the hero's journey is because when you start looking at journey, heroic, Hercules Hara, cleis, they got all of them, Gilgamesh doesn't matter. All of these people followed the same arc of a journey. And they went from belief. Yeah, at some point to knowing. Yep. Yep. You know, and, and he also had to shed the beliefs that they were told to have. Yes. Okay, so that could be UFOs. It could be nd ease. You know, it could be anything. And so that's, that's where the rubber hits the road. Yep. And we can get away with all the dogma and the doctrines but when you get a clearer way, the fat and spit out the bones. Religion is trying to make sense of life to try and make sense of death. But but in between, you know, what's the old thing about the dash is, you know, on your tombstone? Michael Carter born 1957 Dash, maybe it's, you know, 2054 or whatever. Like, it's not about the 5720 34 it's about the dash.

 21:25

23:28

24:27

Yeah, it's about the dash in between them. Yes. And what you did your life well in the you know, even even the idea of a fourth degree now to Columbus, I'll tell everybody a little secret about the NADA Columbus momenta tempus fugit momento Mori. Frequently on old old crucifixes, things like that. You will you'll see a small skull and crossbones on the bottom. That is a fourth degree Knights of Columbus cross. That is the skull and crossbones. Owens have of course, you know, John the Baptist. But along with that goes the Latin phrase, tempus fugit, memento mori. Time flies remember death? Yeah. And that does that doesn't mean be morbid. What that means is, remember that the only thing you're going to be remembered for? Is your time here. Yeah. And what you did? So how will you be remembered? How will your family's name be remembered? How is how will your legacy be seen by your children? Those are the things that you need to always have on your mind. Because yeah, you never know the day or the hour, right? And death gives life and urgency I'm going to be talking about that Sunday. I mean, you know, it's not going to be morbid, and we're going to go into life. But but death gives life and urgency, knowing that you're not gonna be here forever, gives an urgency to life, that whatever Mark I want to make, I need to be doing it. Yeah. And as you get older, I need to be doing it now. And so but that's what we're here to do. And you're here to do it, whether you've had a UFO experience, whether you've had an ND E, whether you've had an OBE, all those things are good things to have along the way. But they're not the way. Those are things that happen to you along the way. But But life is to be lived. And it's easy to lose sight of that as you and I've talked about before, with all the distractions, the lunar eclipse, the Mercury Retrograde when I say no things aren't important, they're there, they are there. And they absolutely influence things. 110%. Yeah, look at how they are.

25:40

26:51

Yeah, you have to navigate it. And you can get caught up and all that, that you miss the day

Yeah, you have to navigate it. And you can get caught up and all that, that you miss the day. Yeah, you know, and so that's what we're here to do. And believe. In life, you could say believe in God, or you could put the L word, their belief in life to me, they're one in the same in many, many ways. To believe in life means to believe that. In the end, life is working out for you. Life is not against you. situations may happen. People may engineer, but life is not against you. Life is for you. God is for you. And if life and God or for you, or if you prefer life or God. Of what should you be afraid? Yeah, who can be against you at that point? Yeah. Of whom? Or what? Should you be afraid? Yeah. Yeah.

27:51

And, you know, once again, these experiences in sometimes, you know, even even religious experiences. Reverend, I've told my story to you privately and on the show of my religious experiences. And the first time that happened, I I don't I don't know that I was I would definitely had wandering off. I was definitely the old school concept of fear of the Lord. Yeah, Connolly was there where it was like,

28:25

I'm tremendum. Well, well, and you're in German. Yeah, yeah. And it's the idea of this is so much bigger than me. You know, like, they like literally the first time you step up to the edge of like, the Grand Canyon or something like that. And you, you get the 270 view of it. And you're like, Whoa, like the bottom just kind of falls out of you. And that was the first time that I felt that married with this sensation of I love you, honey, I love you so much. I'd love to say that that bliss is there all the time. It's not. And I can't even say that I've romantically felt it with somebody that I love or have loved. You know, it was a it was a form of bliss, and happiness and completeness and oneness that I don't I mean, I've strived for ever since.

28:27

You know, I read a lot of the Catholic mystics and the Catholic saints and they had that kind of love they, you know, they were beloved they God was their lover. I mean, they had a whole other thing going on man. Hill God, Padre Pio, Allah. Yes. You know, and that was a special thing for them. Yeah. Not everybody is supposed to have that kind of experience or wants to or needs to, but for them, it was the oneness. Yes. And so God was To the beloved. I don't want to please anybody. But you. I just want to be you used the word married a couple of times. Today, you know, so a marriage between my belief, my knowing and that of my Creator, who was that Augustine said that we're wrestlers. I'm paraphrasing until we find or when I rest in you, yeah. And so but they were heavy heavy hitters advanced. I don't know their stuff going on. But that is, you know, you, you wouldn't say to Augustine believed and God, you would say Agustin knew. Yeah, Padre Pio knew. And granted though, and granted that that's just Augustine is one of those that lived such a life before his Yes. Before his transition he chase, but not yet the you know? Yeah. Oh, no, no, I confessions of St. Augustine as a personal. I mean, I probably shouldn't have tried to live the book so much. But But quite literally, you know, when when you live such a life that before you convert, like, your mom becomes a saint because of your conversion.

 31:20

He was a rascal, but you gotta love him. His hero's journey it is it's the hero's journey. It's going through the illusions, everything he wanted. The sex, the wine, the living, it was all fleeting. And you hear that in Buddhism, you hear that? And all the contemplative orders, whether they're Buddhists or Christian, or Muslim or whatever, you know, I'm wanting to hold on to what's real. I don't want to get so sidetrack into what's a loser. illusionary? And then because I know, not because I believe I may started out believing Yeah, but now. Oh, well, and I, you know, I think that's what the UFO phenomenon. I think it's near death phenomenon out of a menu of metaphysics. Yeah, I think it's about justice. You know, I wrote I wrote a couple sermons about justice. And there's a there's a, you know, you can use it. But Theodore Parker, a 19th century, Unitarian. Universalist Christian said that, the more the arc of the moral universe is long, but it bends towards justice. That's a knowing that's an I may not even live this. But I know in the end, justice will be served. Yeah, yeah. I actually just the other day watched the movie. exorcist three. I love that movie. And one of the one of the lines between the the detective and the priest is, you know, it all works out in the end. He's like, when's that? The End of Time? Oh, that soon? You know? And yeah, you know, there there is that idea that, yes, stoically, it will, it will all level out, you know, all boats get ballasted with the same water in the air. And, yeah, and there is that.

 32:39

 33:13

That's the long view. Because you got to know I may not be here to see it. But I know, I know that life will work out in the end will assure because at the otherwise you can get you can get mired in a never ending Coriolis effect of of being drawn into horrible, horrible things, you know, and that's just it, though, is that both both with religious experience as well as paranormal experience, you do have that that pull of separation of where either people don't want to talk about it. Or when they do talk about it, they they are ridiculed by people and both ways can lead either people to great things, or to horrible things like addiction, and wanting to not share their story anymore. Wanting to not share their experience wanting to no longer feel their experience. Yeah, yeah, yeah, you're right. I, you know, I think, you know, I meet people who have had these experiences, and they're being told that it's the devil, that is Germans. And so they shut down. And they repress, which is not good for your mental health. And, you know, and but they I try to say, and it's not just me, there are other people who do this, and then not all clergy. But you have to find a place where you can be you where you're not going to be judged, that you used to be able to go to be able to go to church and do that, but those days Girl. Yeah. Why shouldn't be so harsh? But it's hard to find that, yeah. You know, a support group or it could be 12 steps. You know, I'm jumping around and have to be NDAs. It could be, but there's something healing to be around people to see another human face. That empathizes that that in and of itself is healing. Okay? That in and of itself enhances your belief, your belief in what you believe in human beings, you believe in humanity, that there are good people out there, that there are people out there who are listening. And people why I experienced it, I would do a 12 step program for codependency. And that, you know, 12 steps are powerful for sex addiction for shopping for whatever, yep, those it's and it's a spiritual journey. But I gotta tell you to be not judge. I mean, you sit around, and you tell people, some of the most some of the most embarrassing and worse things that you've done, or that have happened to you, most people run the other way. People come up to you say here, here's my number, give me a call. Yeah. I just told you that. And you, you know, but that in itself is healing, and then restores your belief, and human beings and humankind. Why? Because people can talk about wars and rumors of wars and whatever. And you can say, but you know, everybody's not like that. Because I remember so and so. And I had that experience. And so you've gone beyond belief. Yeah, you've gone to experience. Yeah.

 33:25

 34:16

 36:54

Yeah. And once again, those, those experiences, much like belief can change your entire world, they can change your entire worldview. And, and it's interesting to me how experiencers frequently tend to experience other things. After they've had one experience, specifically people who have been on craft then been on board craft been abducted, taken, things like that. And one of one of the concepts that I think kind of exploring, Michael, is the idea of that, what if that what if that trauma, that even that perceived trauma, you know, because because frequently somebody will say, like, they were telling me telepathically that they weren't here to hurt me, but it really, really seemed like, like they were, you know, they didn't, but I kept getting this feeling. And I wonder sometimes, if that traumatic situation isn't, isn't like the shattering of the matrix in and like the pulling of the matrix, the crystal out of the hard rock matrix, and the idea of with some with some minds, without that traumatic issue, there may not be the spiritual reset.

I can I can attest to that. I can say for myself, who certainly was. And you know, that that fear of just the bizarreness of where they looked and just the whole scenario, and you know, over time, my nervous system was kind of shot. But I had to put together the pieces of what I thought was real. And how I fit into that. What about my beliefs and something a creator or creation, all that I had to? It was it was like an initially it was a bootcamp where I had to it took away my false self, and it made me have to rebuild. Yeah. And it was trauma. And it was fear.

And I still have a little bit of that. When I'm home alone, sure, talk about that yet, but at night, but I wouldn't trade it. But like you. I was talking to someone last night. So it's interesting that you brought this up, Chris. They called it traumatic growth. Yep. Okay. Yeah. And I never really heard that term. But I think it's obvious what it means that, you know, there was some type of evolution and transformation that came through the trauma. That's what makes those incidences though. Is events so powerful again, but you know, the nd e the, we have the divorce, the death of a loved one yet the cancer diagnosis that you get those type of things, you're open to it. It can lead to doorway that can lead you to embrace yourself a larger reality. And, and and it can lead to transformation without stress on the plant. Fruits don't grow. They don't they have plants only fruit because of the stress on the plant. That's the only reason it happens. The only reason a Strengths stock on a flower strengthens is because it's been battered by the wind.

 40:50

Well, yeah, the 40:51

only reason you

 40:51

know, I do believe that we can grow through joy. Oh, sure. But it seems like we, we tend to want to go the other way. Well, we got to go that way in order to get to get the message. A lot of that I think, Michael is the fact of you know, our brains for millennia, have been wired to learn faster from fire is hot than fast than fire will cook my food. Yeah, make it savory. You know, we didn't need fire to necessarily cook berries, we need to fire to keep us warm at night. You know, it was it was for survival or brains, even even eye contact. And the reason why we have eye contact and things like that evolved out of a non threat capacity out of out of I am here to disarm you right now and show you I'm disarmed. You know, it came from a point of survival to risk being vulnerable? Well, it did. Yeah, precisely. And the idea that, you know, our brains are wired to learn more from negative feedback than positive feedback, you'll you'll learn a whole lot faster from from a negative situation than a positive or not that a positive one doesn't make you feel great. But there's also a reason why, you know, negative words by somebody that you love about the exact same situation mean 10 times more and hurt 10 times more than words of encouragement with the exact same or LOD of the same situation. You know, yeah, that's true. That's true. Because when you don't care about somebody, you don't care what they say. Yeah. Yeah, you don't take him serious. Okay. Well, you know, that's just Michael, who cares? Yeah, yeah. And, you know, there's even that point of getting to the point of being mentally healthy enough to not care what other people think. And that's why you're able to tell your story.

 41:07

42:28

42:38

42:51

That is that is growth, you know, you know, going back to the belief versus while belief and experience. You know, my congregation is a typical UU congregation. And we have people from a lot of diverse backgrounds there. But I gotta tell you, every Easter and every, every Christmas, that services packed, yep, it is packed. And we have some atheists in the house. And, you know, the reason is packed, is because I make those stories, which I'll do Sunday, and which I'll do Christmas Eve, I make that story universal, because it is a universal story. I'm thinking about, you know, what's going to happen this weekend in the Christian calendar. You know, the story of Jesus is the story of what it means to live a committed life. Yeah, that I believe in something so strongly that I'm willing to give up what what I think is precious, knowing that there's something on the other side. And again, you know, we all don't have to be crucified or assassinated or what have you didn't always have to end that way. But that is the story of someone who's gone through the hero's journey. And says, This is what I stand for. This is what I believe in so much, that I'm willing to invest all of myself in that, and we can all relate to that. At least on some level. Oh, you know, when we do at Christmas time, it's, you're going backwards. We're going backwards a bit but I'm born into this world. And my parents and my society tells me I'm one thing but as I grow, I start to realize They don't know me at all. Yeah, this is how I came into the world, I came into the world for something bigger for something much grander, just like we all did. And so when you approach it from that viewpoint, you can make that story means something to pretty much anybody because it's the story of what it means to be alive. Yeah. Belief, versus, you know, or knowing. Yeah. And, and, and I think that, especially in these times, when we're constantly in a world, that's telling us we shouldn't be who you are. To be yourself is a revolutionary act.

45:42

Yes, it is. Yes, it is. young enough to tell the truth in a world that's, that's that's being starting to be based on lives. Is, is a revolutionary act. It is it is an act of rebellion.

45:46

45:55

Well, and understanding that yes, there is a capital T universal truth out there. However, the truth we're talking about is your truth. That's the hard truth. And that truth is different than your sister's truth. You grew up in the same house. Yes, it's different. Me and my brothers truth. Same family, same parents. Yeah. Same type of college, different college. Just say yeah, yeah, no, I love that poem by George Manley Hopkins, the Jesuit, you know, a kingfisher. And this is the you know, I like it because it's not logical, but he says, you know, what I do is me that I came for that I came to be me, the unique, authentic. Me, that's why I came. Yes. Like, that's why you came. And I think people need to hear that over and over. And in a world where our religious leaders, not all our political leaders, our relationships, interpersonal, intrapersonal, right, we're all we were, we were being forced, or at least encouraged. To not be who we really are. Yeah, yeah. And very threatened someone.

46:25

47:19

I mean, don't get me wrong man up. Recovering cradle Catholic, you know, as I say, on the show regularly, I mean, it's the fact of if I could reconcile what I know of church history with, with what's in the big green book, maybe I wouldn't have such a big problem. Maybe if there weren't just wild things that happen, like, wait a minute, somebody just died. But it's the Easter season, only Jesus can have a funeral right now. So yeah, like no, no funerals till after Jesus rises from the dead. Never, never mind, the mourning of a family or things like that, like, those things strike me as odd and even still somewhat archaic. In a modern day and age, when we know what we know, you know about about mental well being of people, things like that. When when that's a holdover that, you know, is it really necessary is is it integral to to the faith? Is the question and, you know, we have you for about 10 more minutes in those last few minutes with things like that being said. How do believers, hardcore believers? Talk with experiencers? How do experiencers learn to express their experience to hardcore believers? Reverend? How do we how do we build this bridge between the two?

It's a great question. I think that we have to give up being right. I think that both sides have to give that up, even if it's just for that conversation. And just to listen, not to judge I forget who was it who said that it's the mark of an educated mind, to be able to listen without trying to fix or I'm paraphrasing. And just be there with that individual. And you can always your mind, look, hey, I'm telling you what happened to me. I'm not saying you need to believe this. Sometimes I don't believe it. But but I'm trying to tell you what I'm going through. I think it has to be just that Frank. Now. Let me be clear. Because they're the onus is if I know that this person this in dividual is not going to hear me. Because either they can't or they don't want to, then I need to be able to not share that. Yeah, you see what I'm saying? Um, you know, that's a big part of it. Because you can't share everything with everybody doesn't make them bad people, though they're not there. And I'm not talking about a hierarchy. No. Well, I've had all this and you know, you don't know. I'm an experience. And you y'all come on Stop it. No, I'm just talking about that. We're all the different places in our Yes. And our growth. Yes. And so you have to know you. There's a spirit of discernment. Right? Yeah. That you know, what to say? What is it? Knowledge is knowing what to say wisdom is knowing when to say it. Right. You know, I think all those factors can help build the bridge. But if I know someone cannot hear, and I'm not saying people don't change, but it'd be like me going to my sister. And keep forcing this on her. Yeah, yeah. For what? Why?

51:15

For what reason? I want to get you to see, this is what No, she's stressed out what she wants to hear. Let me say this real quick. It's a story. It happens. Oh. And I'm aware of the time it happened. About five years ago, I was asked to speak at a Presbyterian Church for lands. And the minister asked me to come speak for land. And I decided that I was going to talk about Jesus's last week before sure if you're asked, yeah, what he must have been going through. And it was well attended. I was treated well. But on the way out, there was a gentleman who said, What are you doing here? You go to that church down the street. And you don't believe what we believe? I said, Sir, you have a problem with me being here. You need to talk to your minister. I came here. I'm, you know, I'm here. I don't know what else to say to you. And when we went back and forth for about three minutes. Sure. And and, and then that was on a Friday was Good Friday. So Easter Monday, when I went and open up my laptop at church. This guy had sent a letter to all the churches in the area, saying to watch out for me that I was a heathen. I was a blast famer, and and he didn't even know about Unitarian Christianity University. And I was I was I was angry. But I took a high road. And people apologize profusely because he embarrassed them. So the point I'm trying to make is sometimes in our quest to be ecumenical. What he did was rude, and it was uncalled for, and historic. But in some ways, in our quest to be ecumenical and be inclusive. There's the actual timing. This man was a devout Presbyterian. This was his Holy Week. Yeah. He didn't want to hear a guest preacher. Yeah. He wanted to hear the story that fed him. Now, again, I wouldn't have bothered me. But for him, but you've got to appreciate how I want to get here the tried and true. That's right. I want to hear your interpretation of what you went through. Yeah. So So you know, we're, you know, how can we build that bridge to talk to each other? You know, yeah. My narrative and story is important. And so is his. And yeah, I was I was upset with the way he came off. But I kind of thought about it. You know, I want to hear what happened. Do you have to, and that Albert Schweitzer No, no. And it's also effective. You've got to love that man, for the conviction that he has of his faith. You know, and that's just it. Like, when this when this whole crazy realm started as dudes and beer reverend. The whole the whole protocol was the fact of we are here to have a conversation. And we may agree, we may disagree, but next week, we are still friends. We will come back he just he didn't have to handle it that way. Yeah. But I thought about what he said. Yeah, you know, if, if you know if I'm going to celebrate Christmas, I'm not going to have Have a Buddhist speaker that day. Yeah. Yeah. But I mean, I guess I wasn't that far away. I mean, I was identified at that time as a Unitarian Universalist Christian. You know, I like the intellectual life. So I used a little Albert Schweitzer a little Howard Thurman. And you know, let's imagine what it must have been like going through that week. But he didn't want to hear that. He wanted to hear his gospel. Yeah. Yeah. No. I want to hear Matthew. Yep. And so I think it was a lesson all the way around for the minister who invited me. Well, me well, and of the idea of true empathy. From all sides there, you know, under a once again, you coming to the understanding of, oh, wait a minute. That ain't what he signed on for today. When he got up and put on his Sunday best, this is not what he was banking on when he walked in. He didn't want the philosophy and intellectualism. Yeah, but again, but but to be fair, he needed to handle it a little differently to there may have been other people felt that way. If they did, they never voiced. And I'd like I said to to send an email out to the different churches in the area. I think that was a bit over the top. You couldn't get more church? No, no, but But you know, I get it and you know, over, but it stuck with me because I think it was a lesson learned.

54:13

54:51

55:35

56:24

Well, and it's not only a beautiful lesson learned, but it's a beautiful lesson to show and share. Because yes, it is it is one of those. We need to learn to take a step back, we need to learn to not make decisions in the heat of the moment. Not Not, not have conversations in the car on the way to the dinner table. Right? You know, these are all things that lay a firm, firm groundwork for a wall before you've ever gotten to share a project space with somebody, you know, like, yes, you have built a firm foundations for a wall before you ever came to a handshake at a table. No, it's true.

57:05

And so, you know, I think that all those things that we talked about this hour contribute to how we can talk to one another but contribute to believing in something or someone and experiencing something or someone. Well, they're not they can be the same. But they're not always Yeah.

Yeah. And one can lead to another thing. Yes. One can detract from the other. It's it's an interesting yin and yang relationship between belief and experience. And that's yeah, I love exploring that topic with you. Because it is beautiful. It's deep and convoluted. And yes, it is one of the most beautiful mysteries that we as humanity have, is the idea of we we can explore this we can we can be there for each other and explore reality together without muddying each other's waters, so to speak. So yeah, before, before we let you go, the last minute or so let everybody know where they can go to follow you where they can go to keep up with things where they can go to get their copy of enlightenment.

Our guest in this segment tonight is Samuel Chung. He is a translator and he is specifically the translator of the tube of prophecy. First published is abduction to the ninth planet by Michel de Marquette. This is a fantastic account of abduction of abduction being taken specifically to another planet, learning of alien cultures, alien technologies and what their warning message to humanity is. I have been reading through this since Samuel was connected with me and it is a fantastic account. Samuel, welcome to the show. How are you doing today?

1:03:20

Very good. Thanks for having me here.

1:03:22

Absolutely. Well, number one, thank you so much for your tireless work and effort and translating this into in to other languages so that it can these messages can be sent around the world because some of the messages that Michelle garnered during his time on the Oba are absolutely amazing and really things that are popping up in the world around us right now. So what how did you how did you first become aware of this work? How did you first meet Michelle?

Well, the first time I was aware of the book was back in 2014 when I was searching on Amazon for a book written by et contactees hoping to find information, advanced technologies from people who have contact with extraterrestrials that have advanced civilizations. So I was searching random keywords and I found this book, and I checked it out and couldn't put it down is fascinating, has a lot of valuable information that applies to was going on today, even nowadays. And I read a book I found a lot of specific verifiable information. And the in the postscript or the book is set or more incredible things that the author Michel De Marchi wasn't allowed to write about because we were far from understanding them. They got me extremely curious, and and I was so curious that they decided to track him down to ask him in person, whatever as he knew, but wasn't allowed to write in a book. So that's when I looked for him on the internet. And I found him to be living at a time island in Vietnam. And I grabbed a photo on the internet of the bungalow that he was living in at that time. And I flew to that island. And I showed that picture of the bungalow to the taxi driver and asked him to take me there. And then on the second try, he successfully located a place and then there I met Michelle dimeric at Arthur. Wow.

And, you know, that is an incredible amount of determination. Samuel, I will definitely say that when it comes to authors, things like that it was a, it was a point of pride for me for a long time, as far as being an on air producer that I could track people, I tell people all the time that I've spent my time Google stalking you. Because that was my job. At one point as an on air radio producer was my host would be like, find the person that wrote this book. They'd be like, Okay. And that began the long trail of tracking down representation and contacting them and how to move. So the fact that you went through the effort to contact this contact D and experience or to find out more about his experience is beautifully moving to me. That is that is absolutely awesome. And now that information that he wasn't allowed to share, Did he share it with you?

 1:06:38

No, no, my first visit, but on the second visit, after I successfully helped him to sign a contract with a Chinese publisher. Then he decided he said that he received a message, allowing him to share that information with me. So on the second clip, he did, okay, wow. And before we get into that information, let's let's get into Michelle's experience to begin with, and let's start with how the abduction itself happened.

 1:06:58

 1:07:13

So it occurred without him knowing anything that was about to happen. So he was sleeping at his home in Australia, specifically in Keynes, Australia, in a very remote area. And then he woke up suddenly, he didn't know why, but he woke up suddenly. And then he wrote, like a note to his wife, saying that he will be gone for 10 days, and there will be absolutely no need to worry about him. And then he left a note he walked outside of his house, to his yard, and then he was lifted up to the middle of the air. And then he saw this kind of very tall, like nine or 10 foot tall, beautiful beam, which Scholten told him that he was going to take our journey, that very few earthlings to female recent years. So and he went to a parallel universe first as a transfer station, where he saw a lot of very strange people wearing medieval clothes. And he was told that people who have gone missing in the Bermuda Triangle or in the national parks in the US or Canada, they were sucked into this parallel universe. And I found that to be very interesting, because if you know David colliders he wrote a book. He wrote several books, yes, the missings 401 series of books, and explained that there are three inch and cases in which people just can vanish. And even dogs cannot smell the scent of the people. They stop in the middle of nowhere. And I think this perfectly explains by the ETS. Why's that? Some people just come vanish? And then you went out and during it we went to the spacecraft of the ETS, and then began his journey.

1:09:08

Wow. Wow. And how long did his journey elapse? Was it was it a lost time situation? Did he not know how long he was gone? Once Once he remembered the experience did he know Lau how long he spent on this other planet and the parallel universe.

1:09:30

He spent about nine days on the planet. And he was counting for about 10 days because there was also traveling time, even though they traveled at the speed faster than speed of light and all us also use the teleportation there was still like time needed to get to that planet and then came back. So he was calm for about 10 days or so.

1:09:53

Wow. Wow. And during that time, on on the Uber Oh, what did he learn what I mean, he was exposed to AWG. Let's, let's first get into the culture of the alien civilization there because I think that will lead us to the technology of the alien civilization. And then that will lead us to the warnings that the alien civilization had, which will lead us eventually to what he wasn't allowed to tell you. So, let's start off with with the culture of the alien civilization themselves, how were they different from humanity?

Well, they are extremely beautiful and tall, and they're very compassionate and loving people. They can perform all the miracles as documented in the ancient scriptures, as performed by Christ, they could communicate through telepathy, they could levitate, and they could read their minds read people's minds, and then they can heal different all kinds of diseases, they can travel at a few times faster than speed of light. And they can also use their technologies to to do all the different miraculous things that we can not even imagine. And they can project images to to Michel De Marchi, and just to show that there's real magic has performed in ancient past on Earth. And they explained all the different things that happened on Earth, in the past, as documented in the Bible, in the incident scriptures in the Bible. And they are hermaphrodites, meaning that they have both male and female sexual organs. And they can materialize objects. And they they live on a beautiful planet. mean which Michela called is the golden planet, because as he approached the planet on the spacecraft, he saw a Golden Mist surrounding the planet, very beautiful and very colorful, like golden color. After he arrived on the planet, he actually had to wear sunglasses, like the facial masks, like sunglasses, filter out the strong colors and lights on the planet. Otherwise, he would have been drunk. And by the strong light, he described that the colors on the planet to be extremely beautiful, I'm having strong vibrations and to be more colorful than the colors on Earth. So it's very difficult to describe according to him, because he you can only know about it when you experience it because it's nothing like anything that happens on Earth.

And in his in his descriptions of this, the one thing that struck me was yes, the gold in the atmosphere, the gold shimmering, it reminded me a lot of the stories from Zechariah Sitchin and the Anunnaki and about how they came to Earth because they needed gold for their atmosphere. And for it, because the the gold in their atmosphere had gone away. And they needed to mined gold to be able to put it back in their atmosphere. That was that was one of the first things that struck me. But I'm so so glad that you brought that up. Because it's it's a it's a very interesting parallel to what stories that we've heard in humanity. Once again, like you said, they were telling stories of the technology being able to work miracles, like what we've heard about, throughout all of humanity that we would consider magic.

1:13:49

Yes, and certainly they wouldn't need to mind go down Earth because they can materialize all the different kinds of things that they need. So they wouldn't need anything from Earth. They're actually in the role of mentors or or professors or guidance, like guardians to us, and helping us to, to grow more spiritually and to live a more kind of spiritual life.

1:14:17

Well, and that that kind of, of course, begs begs the question of why instruct us Samuel, but you know, even whenever we had Kathleen Martin on one of the founders of the experience, a resource team with MUFON, she's the niece of Betty and Barney Hill, some of the first experiencers to ever come out with their story of abduction, you know, and it's, it's interesting how even she talked about with when they had their conversation with the Council of eight that there was there was a lot of spiritual content, there was a lot of direction for humanity. Why the extreme interest in humanity amongst the cosmos, by these by these advanced races, because the universe is like a schooling system, educational system, their universities or high schools, middle schools and elementary schools, actually, they're divided by different categories of different planets. Earth is actually a category one planet is the lowest category in the universe. And there's the Thielemans, they live on category nine planets, such as equivalent to the university level. So they're like professors in university is trying to guide us and to, to induce us to live the right way so that we can become more godlike, we can follow the the real purpose of life, which is to experience and to learn different lessons, and to respond to the challenges in life so that we can accumulate different knowledge than to send a feedback to our higher self and to God, which is a creator, and also the greedy ether, in which people always talk about, also in the ancient scriptures in the Bible to so each of us has a sparkling of God, because when God created every one of us, it inserted a tiny portion of itself to our astral bodies. So we not only have our physical body, but also astrobiology. Absolutely, and, you know, that is a concept that we discuss on this show regularly like it, probably at least once an episode, it comes up in some way shape, or form Samuel, the idea that, that we are unique in the universe, because we are at least here on earth. Because we were breathed into by God, when you when you look at ancient civilizations, when you look at ancient Hebrew, things like that even even the stories of Annunaki everything else, it's the idea that not only were we shaped and created, but we were breathed into by the Creator, which means that we take part in that creative spark, as opposed to a dog not saying that a dog doesn't have a spirit, a soul that it doesn't go somewhere that its energy doesn't amass somewhere else in the universe, absolutely. energy cannot be created or destroyed. That is physics. However, the fact that we take part in that creative spirit makes us unique, and gives us a very special set of skills to be able to access keys to that universe.

1:17:55

Yes, so we are a part of God, and God is part of us. So you know, since we don't need to follow rigid religious leaders of organized religions, we don't need to follow the doctrines of politicians, we just need to look inside for answers when we encounter challenges. So there are ways to do that. One is to pray. And the other is to meditate. And the third way is just to have a nice sleep. Because in dreams we connect with with our higher self. And when we have issues or problems, sometimes our higher self will guide us and to give us the answers if they determine that it's good for our spiritual development. Yeah, yeah. And, you know, with that in mind, let's let's start getting into some of the technology, specifically that Michelle came across in his experience over there, and how that technology can kind of help us get to that spiritual point how how this culture had come to this the point that their technology and spirituality had come together to allow their society to become what it was to, to advance to a different planetary level amongst the brotherhood of planets in the universe. Yeah, so the technology is mentioned in the book are to help our spiritual development and not to destroy us. This is actually one of the reasons why Michelle DeMarco was chosen. And he was a farmer, a landscaper in Australia. He didn't have a lot of college education. He didn't even know how to use a cell phone or a mobile phone when I met him, and so he was kind of like, what so to speak of a redneck a Australia. And the reason why he was chosen was that if a physicist was chosen, and he was told that the physicist would have brought information or knowledge that would destroy us, because we are Now spiritually evolved to handle those technologies, rightfully or maybe appropriately. So this is why the book mentions a lot of technologies that are going to help us to grow spiritually. One example is the use of color. In the book, it says that when the shutter murky entered into their spacecraft, he was disinfected using blue light, and yellow light. And then did some research, it turns out that Harvard Medical School had a research paper showing that certain wavelengths of blue light have antibacterial antiviral effects. And also later, I found out that certain wave of wavelengths of yellow light also have antibacterial effects. So the ETs are showing us that we can use different lights to or different colors to do a lot of wonderful things that are more effective and having less side effects than, like antibiotics. And also, he talks about the effects of pink color, which has the effect of reducing muscle strength. It's very interesting because one football coach in the University of Iowa, used to paint the locker rooms of the opponent opposing teams into pink color. And he never lost a home game. And he had the knowledge to do it. So the colors are really, really effective. And, and people should pay more attention to that. In fact, in the 1920s, chromo therapy or color therapy was very popular in the US in treating many different kinds of diseases. But since the discovery of antibiotics, the FDA crackdown on color therapy, and I think it's time to revive it. Yeah. Yeah.

1:18:36

1:19:13

1:22:02

I mean, I myself, I appear on a lot of shows because I do frequency meditation, music and binaural beat therapy music. And one of the things that I explain regularly I do audio and video for a living. There's always a battle and rock and roll between lighting and audio. And I always tell them like guys, we're the same spectrum, where the exact like your frequency of color is a tone in the musical scale, like we're the exact same thing. Why are we why are we fighting each other? You know, but it's the also the fact Samuel that we see and hear a very small slice about 450 nanometers of of wavelength amongst the entire electromagnetic spectrum. And the vibration of that whole spectrum affects us, you know, ultraviolet, infrared, near ultraviolet, far ultraviolet, they affect us in different ways. You know, and all of these wavelengths. Yes, you know, there, there have been I did a lot of studies into subliminal and abnormal psychology for a long time. And colors, specifically, like there are reasons why colors of paint are used specifically inside of school buses, and inside of school classrooms and institutions, things i It's because it has a calming effect on the brain like that that seafoam green that you see inside of a school bus like puts you inside of a meditative almost trance like state, you know, things like that it's supposed to have a calming effect on you and make you more tranquil. So yeah, it's it's interesting to see that this alien race is encouraging us to get back to that get back to understanding that, you know, chakras. The whole idea behind chakras is there's a color to each frequency that responds to different parts in your body and helps you align your energies. Yes, it is safe and effective and expensive or cheap. And if people use the color therapy, there is definitely going to going to disrupt the existing medicals system are the pharmaceutical companies interest. So I would encourage people to take a look. And I don't think that the big pharmaceutical companies are going to encourage people to pay attention to this because they will lose a lot of money. But on the other hand, if you're a shareholder of pharmaceutical companies, you definitely would protect your own interest and a lot of the LED light therapies or color therapies are just, it's gonna cost like $20 or $30 to buy a light like that.

1:24:17

1:25:06

Yeah, yeah, precisely and you know, but it also says something Samuel to the fact of which, which was one of the messages from the race at the oboe was get back to nature. Like, get if you're outside, you're exposed to these frequencies. You're like, there's a reason why are Why are ancient races here on earth ancient civilizations things like that had this connection It's because when when the sun went away they saw the full night sky, that that's what they had to live their life by if they weren't connected to the night sky, they didn't know when to plant they didn't know when flood season was they didn't know what animals done. You know, they were integrally connected to the world around them. And we are not.

1:26:04

And actually one of the best medicines is sunlight. Yes, a lot of people say that sunlight causes skin cancer is not the case at all. I can explain why. Because if it did, then a lot of people in the past would have skin cancer. And actually it started at this one of the most healing lies in the world. Yeah, I'm a redhead. And it blows people's minds that I don't use sunscreen. Like, I make the joke all the time. Eventually all these freckles will grow together into a nice tan. But no, like, I don't think my ancestors use sunscreen. I don't remember a lot of skin cancer in my family. Just to let you know that freckles are not caused by the sunlight. But the liver liver function. Yes. And besides this, the EP is from Tilda also, it was trying to help the US scientists to develop successfully a time machine.

1:26:22

1:26:45

1:27:04

To do that real quick. Yeah.

1:27:06

You know, in the in, in a book, it says that the US scientists were trying to develop a time machine, but they were focusing too much on the wavelengths instead of vibrational frequencies. So it talks about that when the planet start started to form, there is a cycle sphere in which the fringe author coined the term cycle sphere, liabilities, at the speed of light seven times the speed of light around the planet, recording everything that happens on a planet. And then if people can just match the frequency, the vibrations of the cycle sphere, as speed seven times the speed of light, then people would be able to access the word what they would call the Akashic Record, to go back in time to see what happened in the past. This actually reminds me of the Philadelphia Experiment, in which they were trying to project a certain wavelength of the signals into the ship, and that ship disappeared, and then reappeared at a different location, different time. So I think, I think the ETs are trying to help the US government trying to successfully develop a time machine so that we can learn the lessons in the past.

 1:28:33

Interesting, interesting, once again, the fact that this planet exists in a parallel dimension. Is is fascinating to me, because that is that is one of the one of the biggest going hypotheses with UFOs UAPs everything else right now and that's even what's been posed in the and very openly posed in the hearings that have happened in the US Congress is you know, we we keep saying alien, but these may very well be from another dimension. You know, and and even the ideas of Dr. McMahon, Dr. Masters, who says that they they may be us from another dimension coming here trying to figure out what we did in order to fix it. You know, and that's just it the the Oba prophecy is very much and that's why I love the fact that it's prophecy because it really is prophecy in the proper way. You know, a lot of people I think misused that term. Just so you know, folks, it's not technically a prophecy if there's not a way out. If, if it's not a warning of change this or else then it's not a prophecy like it you may be a seer like no stray dog Thomas may have seen some things, sure. But he's not a prophet because he never gave a way out. And the message of the Ethiopians is the fact of there is a way out humanity, there is a way to change this, there is a way to steer your course correctly. So that instead of staying at the lower vibration you are or going lower, you can raise your vibration and join the planetary brotherhood on new levels.

 1:30:30

Yes, exactly. In the book, it says actually implies that the past is fixed, but the future is changeable depending on our actions. And there's a way out, there's a way to change the world for the better. And it actually provides us a better solution, how we can change the world for the better how we can act together through collective consciousness, and also through concerted action of nonviolent resistance to change the whole system. For the better. And first, we need to know the real danger of tolerance first. Number one is money. Number two is politicians. Number three is journalists and drugs. Number four is religions. So once we know the issues or problems and the dangers on Earth, we can have a general idea of how to respond to the situations that we are seeing nowadays. And the book provides a lot of specific details and information that will help you to make the right choices in the future. And the future is actually when people say there's going to happen, something that's going to happen in the future, I tend to give some grains of salt, like because it's really something that we can handle, we can determine it's like we are just like ants walking on the ground. And, and the human beings can see the ants was in front of the ants like stone or river or fire, the ants can change the direction the course of direction, and we can do the same, we can we can change the course of our future, through changing the ways we live. So this is the essence of the book, sending us messages and how we can respond, how we can change our ways of life.

Well, in specifically, though, again, I mean, just to get into a few of the topics that it gets into that I highlighted here that are specifically relevant to modern society, violence, sensational reporting, materialism, drug usage, individual and universal evolution. Those are just a few of the things where it's like, you need to focus on these like you need you need to you need to stop sensationalized reporting. And that's something that we discuss here regularly is the idea of, and that's a big, big reason why the branding color of our show is purple Samuel, is because that's the color that's in the middle. It's not, it's not red, it's not blue, it's not infrared, it's not ultraviolet, it's it's directly in the middle of the two, you know, which is where our where we need to be, it's, we need to be able to see things from both sides. Because if we don't see it from both sides, then we've lost empathy. We've lost empathy for each other, and it's not feeling sorry for each other. It's understanding simply why somebody believes something and in wanting not to change what they believe or why they believe it, but just wanting to understand why.

1:33:40

Right, we are all created by God, the Creator and how we are all the same. Whether we are Chinese blacks and yellows and Caucasians and Jewish people, they are all created by the Creator. So once we know that, it's probably better to establish common ground. And also another important concept in the book that there is reincarnation. So each lifetime we learn different lessons, and then we accumulate the knowledge we learned in this lifetime to our E into our astral body. And then so when we are asked about it, we realize there's a higher self we can have a reveal process, like life a real process after we die after we give up our physical body. So we're going to see what happened, how we behaved in the last lifetime and what other people how other people felt when we did certain things onto them. It's like a more more like a holographic film projecting everything happened in your last last lifetime. And so you're going to if you if you did wonderfully helping a lot of people on the street or maybe others you're going to have a celebration banquet. Just to appreciate all the all the compassion and love you gave me in your past lifetime. Yeah. So you're going to feel highly appreciated, because you're going to feel how other people felt when you help them. On the other hand, when you're cured a lot of people or when you're injured or hurt other people, you're also going to feel the pain and sorrows of, of those people. So this is the life review process. So once you have that process, you're going to be either very happy or regretful of what you did in your lifetime, last lifetime. And then after a certain period of time, you're going to decide which lessons to learn in your next lifetime. And then which family is you're going to be pouring in to reincarnate reincarnate into. So this is a the whole process of learning, and constantly trying to accumulate spiritual lessons. And this is what the book emphasizes is that life is a learning process. There's no right or wrong. I mean, everyone learns to lessons even Hitler, even he killed a lot of Jewish people, he would feel extremely remorseful and regret for what he did. And he would probably want to staffer dependents in his next lifetime. And so this is an ongoing process, what kind of like karma, what you give out has to come back. So this is something that people can read about and learn more about.

Yeah, and it's also, it's the idea of, yes, once again, to bring it back where we were at the beginning, there is no destruction of energy, your your soul never stops be. So whether or not an incarnation of it, or manifestation of it ceases doesn't mean that you don't see that your learning doesn't cease, and that you don't learn more from your next incarnation, in in a different physical form, or in a different manifested form, whatever that may be. And that that's kind of the idea, once again, is to use that technology, so to speak, to raise the empathy level, and raise raise the vibrational level. Because yes, even though you've done bad things, even though you've done horrible things, you ain't going anywhere. You know. So bringing you back to that point of empathy through that life review, bringing you back to the point of look at what you did, can you see the harm? Can you understand the harm? Can you try not to do it this time? Here we go, you know? And yes, that does help bring that new vibration into the new place, wherever those those souls those beings are going, you know, and that is that is a form of technology. Knowledge is a form of technology, no doubt. Yes, knowledge is power, and no rash. This knowledge is so important to everyone to know. And I think a lot of people at the top of our world, they probably don't know this, they think that they need to have more longevity, they need to live forever, they need to have more power in order to gains such technologies, so that they can keep their control, I think they need to have this kind of knowledge that when we die, we accumulate, we bring the lessons we learn in this lifetime to our astral body. And then this way, we can progress at a much faster pace to the next level. And there are a total of nine different levels in the universe. So when like a loving and compassionate person dies, such as Mother Teresa or somewhere else, maybe Martin Luther King errs, who contributed a lot to the peace to the world. And I think they're going to move up the ladder and go to us, Callaway to a planet, and then they're going to live a much better life. And the higher up the more kind of paradise. The planet is paradise like the planet is. So category nine planet, it's a true paradise in which people live forever. Like the theme is, they don't die at all. They just live forever. And if you read the Bible, the Old Testament or the Bible, in the very, very beginning, people lived like 800 or 900 years old, because the Jewish people the Hebrew people originally came for our category three planet, category three planet, people can live up to like 1000 years or so. And then gradually, spirituality kind of became more decayed and and they their longevity was reduced. So I think I think living forever is not probably The goal or the end, I think the spiritual lessons that we learned is probably the most important thing to get well and understanding the fact of, you're already going to live forever. Your consciousness lives forever. It never ceases. It cannot cease by all laws of physics, it cannot cease your consciousness. That's all we are, is by all ninth grade science. Samuel is an assemblage of electrons. That's what this is. This is an illusion. I'm 90% empty space, by by all science that I learned and made a in and ninth grade. Yes, we are 90% empty space. You and I, despite distance are sharing an electron shell right now.

1:40:08

1:40:53

Yes,

1:40:54

we are by locating in the same space despite distance. That's the actual physics of it. So to we are by reading in the same space, despite distance. That's the actual physics of it. So to think that your consciousness goes away, that I can't grasp that. I can't grasp it. And and I am a former Roman Catholic seminarian. I taught religion for years. And yes, I taught Catholic religion, I taught the teachings of the Church, I can still teach the teachings of the Church. But the thing is, are people ready for this? Because this is the actual truth of it. If you need those doors, and a man with a collar to bring you to this understanding, okay, you know, if that's what it takes for you. All right, I hope that works for you. Unfortunately, this is the actual truth of it, that you never go away. It never stops, your consciousness shifts, it moves to another state, and moves to another state and continuously gets higher and higher and higher. So yeah, it's that too to hear the message of the Oba is beautifully harmonious to me, Samuel because it gives so much beautiful hope. Where there is so much doom and gloom from so many religions, and specifically it brings science or religion together, it explains what ghosts are, and explains the process after person dies, what happens afterwards, it talks about like when a person's physical body dies, the astral body reunited with the higher self in three days. To be more specific 81% of the astral body reunites with the higher self. And the astral body is made of electrons. And the other 19% remains in nature until a person reincarnates or when the electrons are recycled by nature. So when people see ghosts, those are actually the remaining 19% of electrons of the astral body of the person. Yeah, which resemble the appearance of the person and also has certain memories. And so the this is why people frequently say that ghosts haunted places they live they loved or hated.

 1:43:18

That's right, that's right, the ones that had the most impact on them adversely or conversely, you know, and which one meant the most to their life and even even how llama sunglasses are chosen. Samuel, you know, like, this is how the the, the title of llama is passed on as items are placed out, that belong to the former llama. And the new llama is brought in and if they get, they have no idea what these items are. But the real llama always finds them and can tell the story of the item. And it's it's absolutely fascinating man to see that and to like, I've got goosebumps right now thinking about it because like, I will I will see that in my lifetime. Like I will see a new Lama in my lifetime and to see that process is is interesting. You know, we've we've got you for about another 1012 minutes let's we've gone through the culture of the oboe. We've gone through the technology. We've gone through the prophecy. Let's let's get to what Michelle was not able to write. What were the messages that he was given on the Oba that were verboten for him to put on page Samuel.

 1:44:44

If he believed that the TOS book was not that popular in Australia back then or wasn't really kind of read by more people was because of the Catholic Church. And actually this He away kind of encourages people to follow the teachings of Christ, but also be aware of organised religions. He is so specific and named for Catholic church council meetings in which he intentionally distorted the original meanings of the ancient scriptures in the Bible. Yep. So, so So you know, since he was pretty cynical about the organised religions, specifically about the Catholic Church, and whether the second time he did reveal something that he didn't share in the book, in which he said to me that, how allowed him to tell me but asked him to tell me that now to share with anyone else. But what he didn't say was that he didn't say I couldn't like, write article and review as many clues and give any give as many hands as possible. So this is what I did. So I wrote another article, like, which talks about kind of give a lot of hints to what Michel de mer Kay told me without giving the message directly. And the title of the article is the second coming of Christ or something like that. So people can look up, look it up, I can, I can send you the link of the article. And, but it's more useful to read that article after reading the book, because you're going to have more background knowledge and information. A lot of people are talking about the second coming of Christ, and, and to my, according to what Michelle told me. And I think some of the descriptions in the New Testament of the Bible, essentially, diff four gospels are extremely accurate to a certain extent, especially towards the end, which is the something like the tribulation and things like that. And I think this is happening right now. But what's more in the evidence is how we respond to the situation, which is one of the key things that a book tries to encourage people to do, which is to follow the teachings of Christ, no matter what others do unto you. You always respond by giving love and compassion to that person. Because everything is about love and compassion.

1:47:24

That's right. That's right. I say it regularly. Feel free to keep the big red words. Yeah, keep the big red words, the ones in Corinthians and all that stuff, where there's Hellfire damnation if you don't believe all that, you know? Now we got to know we got to get into that personal belief. And what a belief is, you know, but when you follow the big red words, you know, it's really funny because Jesus was Jesus was a radical man. Like, the establishment did not like him because he didn't tell the religious status quo line. He was basically giving the mystical teachings of the high priests of Israel, the the concepts of the Kabbalah, everything else to the common man. The direct connection to the divine not not like you need to give a burn sacrifice, you need to go out to the courtyard, oh, that's what you need to sacrifice for go over there, buy a goat from that dude, part of that money is going to come to the temple, then bring your money sacrifice to the temple that will burn your goat, make sure God hears your prayer. Christ was like you are directly connected to that. You're directly connected. And that was a problem. That's a big problem. When you're talking shaken up status quo, when you're talking about where we're going to get tax money, when you're talking about all kinds of things that the Oba is talking about. Get rid of the partisan politic, get rid of, you know, start focusing on the spiritual side of life and start focusing on what's better for humanity as a whole spiritually, then what's better for religious line? You know, and yes, as, as you said, following that, that Christ consciousness that that idea, the, the actual teachings of Christ, you know, pretty funny because there was next to no judgment in any of those big red words.

1:49:42

That's right.

1:49:43

The only thing I remember distinctly one line of judgment, which was prevent any anybody who prevents a child from coming unto me is better to have a millstone put around his neck and cast into the abyss. So if you're keeping people from capital T truth of the universe, you are better off having a millstone put around your neck and cast into the abyss is basically what those big red words were saying. So, yeah, yeah. Thank you so much for your time Samuel and for translating this for getting this absolutely important message for the future of humanity out there for a massive culture to be able to read. It's so, so important to be able to get these concepts out there to be able to open hearts, open minds to the conversation. Let everybody know, of course, other than the curious realm store where they can go to purchase the book where they can go to keep up with your writing. Because you've got some great stuff, as you said, talking about Christ consciousness, everything else. And great follow up articles to the Oba prophecy the golden planet. So where where can people go to find the books, you've got an upcoming convention that you're going to be at as well, talking about all of these teachings, so let everybody know about all these things. But yes, people can find me by searching. My name is Samuel Chong, CH o ng on Google, and also on Facebook. And they can find my website and articles. And I'm going to be appearing on the indie alien event in April 11. To the 14th in Los Angeles, I will be speaking about the book and also the human energy fields. And this relationship is traditional Chinese medicine. And actually, this book talks about the hours and human neutrophils as well. So I'll be talking about those two topics. It's, it's going to be very interesting.

1:51:54

A fantastic that Samuel, thank you. Thank you once again for your time.
