Coming to you from the city of the weir, exploring topics from the esoteric and unexplored to dimensions unknown, shining a light of truth on the darkest corners of our reality.

00:21

00:34

Welcome to the curious realm.

00:42

You Well, hello everybody. Welcome back to a live show. And we had a we had a serious series of on location interviews.

00:59

01:00

It was epic. It was awesome. We had a great run of stuff, everything from, geez, it started with Texas UFO con. Then right after that came, you know, Shakespeare authorship controversy with the Shakespeare author Oxford fellowship. Then right after that was the international remote viewing Association, 25th anniversary cruise. Then right after that was Texas Bigfoot conference, like it's just been amazing. And tonight, our second guest is also live on location from the amazing Symposium of the strange in San Antonio. That is a monthly series that curious events my company has been putting on with Ryan Edwards and Bayer county Bigfoot. It is a fantastic series great speakers. You know, it's a it's an intimate evening with the speaker on a Topic Last month, we were talking with Karen Wilkinson about her book, stolen seed, evil harvest, about her experience of being abducted by aliens, having a fetus implanted in her, and Then having said fetus taken from her, and what that experience was like for her. So we'll be getting into that in an on location, Q and A. We kind of turn the Q and A's there into a second part of the episode. So it's it's neat. It gives the audience a chance to participate, ask questions and give gives us a chance to look at things in a different light. So stay tuned for that in the second part. In our first part tonight, we are, we are doing a dedication to our good friend and guest. Dr Robert Duncan, many of you in the targeted individual community have reached out to me. I know y'all have reached out to Dr John Hall as well, asking about him. He unfortunately did, confirmedly, pass away a couple of months ago, and shortly on the heels of that, our good friend Ron Patton from MKZ, MKZ zine cast, as well as my god, Clyde Lewis reached out to us from Crown zero, and was, like a lot of freedmen would like to do an in memoriam episode with you and Dr John Hall. And I thought that that was an amazing idea, dr, dr Duncan came to be a good friend of the show, somebody that we texted outside of the program, chatted with things about just shared news stories with things like that. And it was probably about a year ago, Episode 73 that we did our final episode with with the good doctor. So we will be playing a few clips from that tonight, sharing his sage advice to the targeted community. I would like to welcome, firstly, to our show, Alana Friedman. She is the author of geo engineered transhumanism, as well as other books on the topics of transhumanism, on the topics of global geo engineering and other technologies. Welcome to the show. Alana.

04:36

Oh, thank you. It's free land, not Friedman.

04:40

I'm sorry. I'm sorry. Free Live.

04:41

You just reminded me of when I used to play duplicate bridge and I would go to a table and people would change my name. I've literally got it written down on a post it note in front of my face.

04:52

04:57

I am so sorry for that. Alana, no, it's okay. Okay,

05:01

yeah, thank you for having me, and you know dr Duncan was truthfully, is this a good time to tell my

05:10

Yes, share your, share your story of how you came to meet Dr Duncan. Yeah. Well, the truth is, I never met him in the flesh, but I definitely was in touch with him through email. And here's the weird thing that happened, I read his matrix on deciphered which I found on the Internet for free. And it was I have this obsession, because I'm sort of obsessive compulsive, that if something is not edited, well, I generally print it out and I just start editing as I'm reading. And I don't know what my scene is with that, but that's what I did with his matrix deciphered. So I'm editing away and and learning from him and realizing that I have not paid enough attention to the satellite question of geoengineering, and so he sent me on the right trail for that regarding the mind control going on. I knew things about geoengineering, such as that there is a constant broadcast over the last 20 years of three hertz coming from harp, the High Frequency Active Auroral Research Project up in Cocona, Alaska. And that frequency provides the background for a variety of frequencies that are then broadcast around the planet for different purposes. So, you know, he he really corrected me without knowing he was correcting me. And when I finished the editing of it and printed out a nice, brand new copy, and it was all nice on the internet. I found someone who had his email, and I emailed him and apologized for having had the temerity to edit his work, but I thought he might want to take a look at it, and, you know, if he wanted to use it, go ahead. If not, that's fine, but I wanted to admit that I'd done it, so I sent it off, and he wrote me back and thanked me and and said that he was really appreciative that I had done that. And that's, that's really the extent of my contact with Robert Duncan and when, when he showed up dead. I think it was September 5, and he had been so brutally targeted, I had already met his close friend, Dr Len bear an MD at a microscopy group in Australia that I'm allowed to attend in order to look at what they're finding in live blood analysis and other substances, because I'm writing a book on synthetic biology for inner traditions and and Len was, it was his really close friend, and Len was doing microscope work there as well. So that's, that's really the extent of it. I think, I tend to think that is his finest book. But then I've been through it in detail, having edited it, and I have my own copy. I don't know if the one on the net is from my edited version, or another version or whatever, but it turns out, as Len bear corrected me, that Robert had not wanted to have it free on the internet, but somehow it ended up there. That way it did. And I remember, I'm actively going through my website right now because he had actively given me permission to put it on my website. And I was so honored. I was like, Well, you know, like, I know it ended up on the internet. And he was like, no, no, no. He's like, let me, let me. And I believe he sent me the actual edited copy, because he was like, I had one that's better than than what's out there. Yeah, and gave me permission to post that on my website, in the in the knowledge vault, and it's, it's resided there since, since the days of, as Doctor John Hall told you, before the show off air of dudes and beer, the like that was when I first had Robert Duncan on, was dudes and beer. Many, many years ago, like he he would sit and have a drink with us on air talk about. Things. It was, it was great. Um, and like I said, you know, talking casually about very deep, thick, thick topics Alana, because these things are these things are rough. They are not easy to talk about when you start getting into gang stalking, when you start getting into some of the symptomology that Ti is. And even even Robert Duncan himself suffered, which I think this is a fantastic opportunity to introduce, once again, to the show Dr John Hall, and hear his story of how he met Dr Dr Duncan, because it, really kind of speaks to his targeted nature. So welcome back to the show. Dr John Hall, how are you my friend? Hey,

05:16

09:05

10:46

Chris, good and glad to be here. Memorializing Robert Duncan. He was a good friend of mine, and is interesting story. We had talked about it before. The way we actually met was when I first wrote my first book, which was really just a story about a girl that I knew that was being targeted, and written pretty much in a story format, a new breed, and talking about a new breed of surveillance and a new breed of targeting. And when this girl came to me and said, I'm hearing voices, and I've got people following me. From my experience, I kind of already knew what it was, and sure enough, you know, she was a targeted individual, and was being pretty well controlled, actually, as well. So the My first book was written about her story, and the first show I did based on that book was Coast to Coast AM, and was inundated with emails after, you know, we broached the topic of that time, we weren't referring to it as targeted individual, but as just, you know, a microwave or directed energy based surveillance. And I had two of the contacts that were made to me was one was an anesthesiologist in Kansas City who was fighting the same thing and doing research on the same thing, and had worked for the government as well on some of the topics. And so him and I kind of started to collaborate, and then I got an email from Robert Duncan saying, you know, well, I'm contacting you because I'm a victim, but I've also worked on some of the technology that, you know, I think we're dealing with, and, you know, which I had, you know, we immediately, you know, kind of collaborated, and it was me And him. I can't mention this other position by name, because he's kind of bailed out of the fight for his own protection. So I'm not going to mention him, but, but it was kind of interesting. He said, Well, you know, I, you know, did some work for the CIA on some of the, you know, the a little bit of the technology, or my part of the research and the technology, which was physics based, yeah, you know, all of my research had been more on biologic systems and the medical aspect, you know, of it. So we decided to kind of collaborate. And he read the book, and he said, Well, I'm thinking about coming out with my my own book based on the physics part of it, which was soul catcher. And then that that came out. Another interesting story is not long after that, Jesse Ventura, kind of bit on doing a show about, you know, targeting. And he called me and said, Do you have any other professionals you can kind of get roped into this. And so, you know, I pulled him in, and Fred Bell and, you know, and of course, you know, not, not realizing that they were going to kind of blame it all on Roberts research with the CNA on him. It's which kind of, kind of was destroyed him for a little bit in the targeted individual community, because the show kind of made him look like he was complicit with the CIA and development, yeah, and which, which he wasn't, I mean. And just for your listeners, the way, the way any of that research works in the government, there's nobody that has the whole puzzle. The way it works is they'll have one group working on one very minute aspect, another group working on another minute aspect, 100 other groups working on 100 other minute aspects, and nobody working on the minutia knows what the complete puzzle is going to look like when it's done. We figured it out because, yeah, because once the victim started coming forward, were like, oh, that's what they were doing with it, yeah, you know, that's why they needed to know how you could actually receive an EEG without putting electrodes on the scalp, and you know, things like that for heterodyning so and you know that actually is a you could not I it. It's almost like we planned this doc. That is literally my first clip is him talking about how he actively helped create some of this technology, and not in any kind of nefarious way, just doing his job in the way that he would typically do it. So let's, let's hear this from from Dr Duncan's own mouth. Here this. These are clips y'all from curious realm episode 73 which was the last episode that we actively recorded with Dr Duncan. So here is that clip weapons, which I understand they might come to that conclusion of what we call resonance, frequent residents, weapons or cavitation in the brain does the damage and etc. But what really bothers me is, you know, I've worked on a lot of these weapons systems, and this is all known. You know, the DARPA scientists like myself, cannot talk about it because we're under, you know, no non disclosure agreement and an oath. But it you can find it in all the CIA libraries and military libraries that this is well known of what we are capable of and what we can do. We are just trying to keep it out of the eye of the public and of the, I guess, third world countries to catch up. It's very disheartening to hear hear it and know the truth, but to watch how people are being programmed, you know the question, and there, there is a prime example of what he's talking about. You know, the way that people, people go about doing their regular everyday work within a program, and things get usurped and taken and made part of something else for nefarious means that they had no idea about. It was. It was years later that he found out that his work was being used for those purposes, and he left pretty, quickly after ringing the bells and becoming a whistleblower in that, right?

 15:35

 16:50

 17:26

Yeah, and he in the the matrix deciphered he, he says it's short and sweet that they had him work on those weapons, and then when he was done with his part, they turned them on him, yeah, yeah. And, and, you know that that's just it. That was one of the, one of the things that we talked about regularly was the idea of targeting, and why targeting? And it's a perfect time to bring up that question, doctor. Doctor Hall, why? From what we know right now, why? Why are people targeted? Is there any kind of pattern? Is there any kind of, I guess, distinct personality that makes somebody more or less targetable by these technologies?

 17:43

18:22

You know, what? From all the studies that we did early on on this, it seemed pretty random. Now you're, you're going to have both the odd whistle blowers, you know, like, you know, I'm pretty sure that, you know, my fiance was targeted because of me, and Robert, of course, was targeted for also being a whistleblower. So it's, you know, there, there are some people like, I've met with former agents of the National Geospatial agency and former CIA people, you know. And of course, now we've got, you know, COVID syndrome government employees that are being victimized. And it is, it is every bit the same technology that they're being victimized with. Most of them have gag orders on them, but quite a few of them have gotten through to me indirectly, through friends. And they're they're not hearing crickets. They're hearing voices too. So I mean, it's and they're being attacked, and they're having, you know, all the same traumatic brain injury and white track matter issues that anybody else is having that's victimized by this technology. But, yeah, I mean, if you look at a whole at the targeted individual community, I think it pretty much represents a random sample. And the way it's done, if you're not being targeted directly by the government, then you're probably being targeted by a private investigative group that has someone that is a former government employee, and that's, that was the, probably the biggest asset that I had with what was happening here in San Antonio was I did identify who was doing it, and it was, and it was a PI who was former FBI, his son. One was former DOD, former lieutenant colonel, and they were doing the stalking, and they were doing the electronic surveillance and the electronic targeting attacks as well. So, and these were people that were kind of known to me. So, I mean, it's, you know, that's one good thing. Because, I mean, I once, I wrote my first book, and I started talking to some targeted individuals, including, you know, Robert, you know, one of the few that had also come to the conclusion that, you know, this is, it doesn't necessarily have to be somebody in your neighborhood. It can be someplace on the other side of the country. Yeah, to you, which is, which is certainly the case. Now, the the only good thing that kind of happened to me identifying them, because you to get anybody put in jail, you got to be able to prove it. And this is a hard crime proof, but I by at least kind of shedding some light on the group here, I I think I did limit their ability to target people in our area, you know, because, I mean, I immediately after that book came out, I had quite a few local people going, well, you know who it is, it's this group. These are the people following us. And you know what, everybody that called me with that complaint were correct on who it was, on who it was. Wow, so, but John, is that pretty much how you finally figured out who it was by the what you were being told by people.

21:15

21:24

Well, I mean, I caught them. I mean, they were breaking into my house, into my girl's house that I wrote about. And I mean, and I live so far out in the country that when I would leave her place at two in the morning on a week night like Wednesday night, and have three cars follow me to my driveway in the middle of a ranch, you know, it was, you know, and they all came back to the same CI group. So, I mean, I know a lot of the targeted individuals, I think, think that it the CIA directly, or the NSA directly doing it, but it's, it's too widespread for one group to do it that way. And after getting kind of busted during MK Ultra, and Robert agreed with me on this too, that they were a little smarter this time around, because it's a continuation of MK Ultra anyway, cut it. And since they got busted by the financial records being found. What they did this time is just farmed it out through a bunch of private companies and stuff that could do it. Wow. That seems to be the way it is going because of the sophistication of the machinery needed in order to do the targeting. It like I've come across several sources recently that it's really Homeland Security now that seems to be the warehouse where you get the you get the machines that you need, the directed energy weapons, and then you go out from there. And I've been thinking that makes sense to me. They could approve it, say it's, you know, maybe it's a matter of somebody who's mad at somebody in a community and has some some contacts in order to get hold of one of those devices, and then do do some dirt to the people that he's targeting. And then you take the machine back, and, you know, you've got these contacts anyway. That's, that's sort of how I think of it. But sometimes, when I did a book tour, I got hit. But it was, it was simply to make me weak. Would be what I say. Nobody wanted to kill me. It was more that Bobby Kennedy was going to show up for one of my talks and in the LA area, and he didn't make it that night, but around that one talk, I was hit for five others talks that I was scheduled to make around there about geoengineering. And what they did is they made it so I couldn't keep any food down. I would projectile vomit everything up that I took in. So I ended up sleeping a lot in order to have the energy to be able to talk. And then once that that night, that one talk that they had been weakening me for, turned out to be he didn't show up. Then, I think the it ended, the electron, the electronics of it ended. But I was so weak by then that I eventually had to cancel two talks. So that was one of I've been hit twice big time, and that was one of them and and it seems like it's tailored to the person. Now, in my case, maybe they didn't want me to talk about geo engineering. It certainly is not what they're telling the public. It is. It's a massive weapon system on multiple levels. And, you know, takes four books to tell that story. But. I tend to think the I just heard from a family, the woman is dead, and what made her leave her house with no shoes on in the cold of December, no coat, no leaving her purse behind her cell phone behind, what made her go down to a river and either drown herself or be drowned there by others. You know that that kind of a certain kind of targeting that seems to be tailored to specific people with specific symbols in it. And I have noticed that too. Have you noticed that? John, oh, yeah, yeah, they they do enough research on you and and what I call data mining, or brain mining, to find out what your fears, your loves, who your family is before you ever hear a voice one or get attacked, they already know who you're going to turn to for support. And that way, that's kind of knocked out, because you know the most of the time for a targeted individual, their family is their worst enemy, and because they tend to blame, blame their family, it's designed that way, which kind of brings me back to another one. Robert and I both agreed on this. And it's funny, because I think the the quote that you the at least you sent me, Chris, I think he got that from me. You know when, when we were talking, and I said, You know what these people are? They're they're being told lies by the voices in order for them to attack a family member or to attack a stranger that has nothing to do with it, because that way they land in prison and they just get victimized for the rest of their days in one place. And I don't know if you're putting it up or not, but that was a that was a quote from him directly, yeah, and 26:54

25:49

I was actively getting ready to play a quote from him, talking about how consciousness itself can be hijacked. And when we come back from that quote, I'd like to get into some of the modern technologies being used for that, as as we let you go last time, doctor, we were getting into some of that. And I know Alana, you have some work related to that. So when we come back from this quick quote, let's, let's chat about some of the technologies that allow for this, basically mass control of consciousness. It's, it's pretty fascinating. Here is the quote from Dr Duncan himself, absolutely. This is the most important breakthrough and conversations humans should be having right now. They're very soul, if you will. Consciousness can be altered and can be manipulated, and passwords stolen through interrogated dream interrogation techniques and yeah, etc, etc, and nothing, just silent crickets that that right there I was just showing on on screen the the article from MIT about how MIT was able to actively communicate with dreamers, and how dreamers were actively able to answer questions while in the dream state, things like that. One of the one of the things that I've been talking about regularly on the show since our conversation last time, Doctor is the National Institute of Health study that was released during during the COVID pandemic, and right on the heels of that, where they're talking about, literally, the damage done to the hippocampus, the bruising of the hippocampus done by negative news cycles. And just the idea of psychologically, when you start looking at things like MK Ultra, when you start looking at other beginnings of mind control, the the first part is breaking somebody, you know, whether, whether it's the extreme of waterboarding, or whether it's the beginning of gaslighting, you know, but, But to have had that two years almost of lockdown with nothing but negative news cycle shoved in your face digitally if you were watching on an analog TV out in the woods. Didn't matter. There was nothing happy about the news for two years, and that, in and of itself, sets up for an amazing realm of control. It sets up for an amazing realm of didactic control of the way that brains think and of specifically the way that a damaged brain thinks. Yes, because once again, that negative news cycle begins that process by bruising your hippocampus. That that part that separates your forward thinking brain from the amygdala, the fight or flight response, you know

 27:39

 28:06

 30:15

Well and that's what we that's what we had kind of gotten into on a little bit on the last show well, and that's what we did kind of gotten into on a little bit on the last show, and they figured out that the hippocampus is exactly where they want to target, because it's essentially your Dewey Decimal System for the rest of the brain functions, you know, and it's what gives you his historical context and your ability to interpret your own personal history and your personal memories with what how you need to react for future. So, I mean, it, it can kind of erase your your past memories, and it can kind of create, you know, artificial future memories, yeah, too. And what they found out is that the SARS virus, whether you're actually printing it out because you have the mRNA virus on your own, to your own genetics, or you've been infected with the virus, you know, holistically, I guess, or through natural, you know, catching it that it passes through the brain, blood brain actually attacks the hippocampus, and they, I mean, I personally think that the virus was designed specifically to do that. And certainly the vaccine was designed to do that the spike protein, and I've got that up from Science Direct right now, talking about hippocampus alterations from SARS COVID 19.

31:24

31:35

And

31:37

it's

31:38

pretty fascinating when you start getting into that, and when you start marrying it with other things, like, like, like, a lot of was talking about earlier, the idea of the the three hurts being out there, I do, I do a lot of binaural beat therapy music, a lot of a lot of frequency therapy, music, things like that. But when you start looking at ranges below 7.8 hertz, when you start looking at things that are quite literally within your theta realm, stuff like that, yes, you would. You would have to have an antenna that is miles long, miles long, in order to generate that kind of frequency with any kind of transmissible intensity. But at the same time, so many things that we have, as far as passive electronics, smart dust, things like that, can be activated

32:42

by these my territory exactly

32:45

got you right there. Alana,

well, the isn't zero to three. Hertz, isn't that the theta, yes. Wave, yes, yeah. So what that is, is sleep as I recall, and that's, that's the that's how I interpret that three hertz pulse that harp is putting out, which goes into the atmosphere and is resonating throughout around the globe, is a sleep one. You know it's like that. There was some movie, was it 1984 in which this broadcast is coming out, saying, sleep, sleep. Yeah, that's how I think of it. And the but, but the really scary part is this, definitely, now we know that nanotechnology, there was a huge nanotechnology revolution that happened probably in the 70s, or a little after that, maybe the 80s. A lot happened in the 70s. Boy, I'll tell you. So the the nanotech is is really very favored by the military and intelligence Appa Rai, because it's cheap to make a nano, you know, which is 1,000,000,000th of a meter in measurement. They can make a nanometer, and they can, they can use, then the, say, one to 100 Nanos laid in a row. And what those are is they're made of atoms. They're actually an atomic level technology. And that's, you know, where have we heard that word before? Well, that was the Manhattan Project, when they were able to make these huge bombs. This is very different. This is a capability to build things with these Nanos. But the problem with the Nanos is that one they are not natural and. They are. They are not. You can't kill them and and they are so tiny that you can't perceive them unless they're operating in what I call a phalanx. I saw a wonderful video from during the California fires, particularly the paradise California Fire, in which a drone is filming what is going on with the building of these fires, and then the how the phalanx of what looks to be embers, because they're like ignited, they're like burning, and they're going along, very much like a Roman phalanx, with that sort of shape, that V shape, and they're going along and it looks like, wow, is the wind blowing those how are those embers going? Well, it turns out they're not embers at all. There was no wind that day of the paradise fires. And these things are climbing up one wall, and while more of their numbers, millions of numbers, maybe billions, going down the road to skipping the next house, to not burn that one, and going to the next house and crawling up that wall and starting a fire there. And what they were, were nano that was nano tech, and it was being run remotely in order to start these fires. And meanwhile, on the narrative going on during this was a guy named Jamie Lee who is no longer with us. I miss him, and he he's talking with a nano materials PhD retired who insists on remaining anonymous, and he's talking their way through this and explaining how the nano technology is is basically two way two way communication. It never operates alone. There is no such thing as a nano doing one thing. They all operate as a as a group mind, as a hive mind, and they are direct, directed in that way. Okay, so now that's, that's them being used very physically on actual buildings being ignited. Now imagine that coming from the chemical trails Above us are billions, millions, trillions of these things, all on a scale, all falling down, the ones that don't end up circling the planet around the equator, which they do, they are building a metallic ring around the planet, much like Saturn, but the rest are falling down and we're breathing these in. This is our atmosphere. It's the only atmosphere we have that we all have to breathe from it. So goes in our lungs, goes in our blood, because of the size the Nano is easily crossing the blood brain barrier. So this is a new thing that I really want targeted people to understand that it isn't just from the outside, and you're having something happen to you, just from the 5g or 6g system that you know is using very tiny waves in order to get into your brain. It's also that you're loaded. We're all loaded, all of us. There's nobody who has escaped this with these nano bots, and these can be controlled remotely, either from satellite. No problem. Doesn't matter how many hundreds of miles it's up, but from triangulating here on Earth. Yes. And so this, the Nano problem, to me, is the thing that we need to really concentrate on now and learn as much as we can about this technology, because it's also known as a biophage. And what that means is, it eats life. It eats life with destroys life. So that's, that's number one on my mind, I'd say, right next to electromagnetics. Well, yeah. And you know, especially when you start talking about, once again, that hive mind, the idea of, like, oh, you know, it's a, it's a small nanobot. No, yes, but it's a, it's a small nano by it's, it's kind of like looking at an ant somewhere. There's a colony of those things, you know, that that react in a totally different way than the individual ant does, you know? And, and once you get a colonization of nanobots inside of you, let's say now, instead of a tiny antenna, you have an antenna array, you know. And, and, like I said, when you're. And by the way, the the one to three hertz is Delta, Delta. I just had a chart up. Just had a chart up on screen a second ago. I just, I want to make sure we get our science right now, right, but when you're talking about because that's what I've tried to explain to people, you know, is that in order to hit a brain wave of that size, in order to transmit something of of that wavelength, just as like a CB operator, you would, you would need an antenna of almost double the wavelength, you know, so like you'd be looking at, like a six mile long antenna, almost. But when you're when you're looking at harps like or arrays like harp when you're looking at, once again, a receiving array like a whole bunch of nanobots put together, you could easily assemble something that long without it ever taking up any amount of space inside of your body. Well,

 41:01

I think that's our condition now, is the these nano antenna are everywhere, and that includes our hair. That includes the hair on our arms. Yeah, it's it's a constant. It's a much larger picture of how we need to think of the electromagnetic nature of the assault going on through chemicals and through nano tech? Yeah, absolutely.

 41:27

And you know when you when you start looking at especially things like resonant field technology, stuff like that, things like voice to Skull technology, things things like being able to implant a voice in somebody remotely, yeah, the technology like that would be a prime candidate for that which, which leads us into a fantastic clip from Dr Duncan talking about This kind of technology and how it is used on so many shooters, like Aaron Alexis, the Navy Yard shooter. Here is a here's a quick clip about that. Way, when questioned Chapman's own recollection of the night's events, quote, he could not coherently understand why he felt compelled to shoot. John Lennon, Chapman did not remember pulling the hammer or aiming, said Waylon, all he could remember was a voice in his head saying, Do it? Do it.

 42:30

There you go. Yeah. That's the technology, Voice of God weapons, controlling people's emotions and thoughts that we've been working on for a long time. It's the ultimate political and war weapon. What purposes would it serve to kill like on Lenin or try to shoot President Reagan or assassinate JFK? Or this is called social engineering, and it's how to make people react. So a lot of the the shooters you hear about on television, that's the a lot of them hear voices. Well, let's lock up crazy people, whatever the reaction is, or take away guns. And so it could be as a mechanism of disarming America, so we can't overthrow it here in this government.

 43:24

And you know that is, that is something that, once again, you have to consider, because you don't necessarily need everybody that you target to. You only need one, you know. And if you're, if you're targeting a good 50 to 100 people with that same message, with the with the same ideologies, things like that, to get one out of 50 or something like that, would not be that incredibly hard, I don't think. And when you're talking about, once again, the marriage of these technologies together, things things like that, that constant, negative news cycle, things like the the Nano, smart dust. They things like what you're talking about, Doctor John Hall with, with other remote control possibilities. It is it there? There's a whole panoply of things out there that you can do to literally steer society people into a panicked state. You don't, you don't even have to get them to pick up a gun anymore.

 44:34

Well, and when he, when he mentioned the voices thing, and how the voices can can control some people in themselves. And we had at length discussions about that, Robert and I, and that's, you know, a little story. I think you already know this story, but, you know, he had called me and he said, we, we need to start going out and doing these shows and telling people not to listen to these voices and do what they're saying. You. Try to prevent some of the violence that, you know, that we've saw from people who claim they were, you know, listening to the voices, and the voices told them to do this or or told them that they would stop being attacked if they, you know, performed a, you know, a violent act. And what kind of precipitated that is after Robert and I were both kind of known in the community, and I guess in society in general, for our activism, we actually started having target individuals start complaining that we were the voices they were hearing, yes, that they were hearing the voice of Robert Duncan harass them, and they were hearing the voice of Dr John all harass them. Because, I mean, there's plenty of sampling that can be done with both of us. You know, as we've done a lot of interviews,

 45:45

I mean, even, even the recent targeting of you and your work by other doctors, writing, writing, writing a study about the Hall effect and and the idea that, you know, these, these experiences of tis and things like that are are tied to the same thing as people having poltergeist experiences and mass nations and hauntings, you know, that kind of stuff. And it's like, what, like, you could not get a more public form of of targeting than that, which doctors to have them on the show with you, a group of psychologists from from another country, actually, based on my books, actually came up with the the Hall effect as a, as a, you know, psychological diagnosis. I don't know if to be mad or be honored. I know, you know, but they used to, they use pictures of my book and in my life and my likeness, you know, in do, in doing it, but never contacted me once. Yeah, yeah, any press is good press.

 46:27

 46:50

 46:54

But John, what is the Hall Effect? What did they say? It was basically the phenomenology. Go ahead, doctor, yeah, a form of haunting, essentially, that's kind of what they said. Yeah. I mean, did it that it was a combination of psychological and paranormal? Yeah, so, but which, which, which, which was probably some research thrown out there and paid for by the CIA, because the CIA and the NSA, their big, their biggest fear is that somebody's gonna believe all this. Yeah, so, yeah,

 46:58

 47:02

 47:26

wow. When did that happen? How long ago was it?

 47:28

About two years ago now,

 47:31

yeah, maybe a little longer, yeah, yeah, I remember. Well, that was after the New York Times, yep. Actually did an article and basically said that I was the Pied Piper of the mentally ill for trying to reach out and and help people they were combating targeting. And then not two years later when Havana syndrome hit. Then they said, Oh, it's Havana syndrome is obviously microwave weapons. So well after it was crickets, and then the poison to kill the crickets and other other things like that. And you know that that before we stray much further, I'd actually like to use this moment to play the clip from Dr Duncan about the voices and and what to do if you hear the voices. So this was his, his last advice to targeted individuals on this show right here, our targeted individuals that are listening to this broadcast do not believe the voices of God, so to speak. That's the weapon classification in your head. It is not those people who use voice morphing and which is now broadly accessible technology along with deep fakes, to trick the target into assassinating or harming the wrong person, and they need to know that do not you can't believe your senses anymore. They've been overthrown.

 48:00

 48:32

 49:11

And that is a that is a prime example of the, once again, the sage advice that he would give on shows about about these situations and how to handle it. If it comes up in your life, you know it was, it was always great to to hear the care that he had with that.

 49:33

If you pop up there, there's a picture of him and I when we were really young, and we were we actually did a conference together in Las Vegas, and that was one of the things that we kind of tried to push home there, was that you know, that this technology, you know, kind of overthrows the faculties of a neurologic system where you really can't trust what your eyes see or what your ears hear, and that we, I. Hmm.

 50:01

And it does not take much.

 50:04

The one of the frequencies I talk about regularly on shows, whenever I've guest on shows, talking about my frequency therapy music, and even using frequencies of other things in my avant garde, music is 19 Hertz. 19 hertz is one hurt below the range of human hearing. Some very good audio engineers like myself can hear it, but it's one of those that it's also the frequency at which the water in your eye begins to vibrate. It's the frequency at which you feel another presence in the room with you. It's the frequency at which we begin to have visual hallucinations, you know. And that that that is just one hurt below the range of human hearing of 20 hertz to 20 kilohertz, you know. So it's not like you have to get all the way down to three Hertz to drug, to quote, psychically drive somebody, you know, yeah, yeah. And I, I've, I've taken to say, when people say to me, I have thoughts that just don't seem like me. Yeah. Is that possible? And I'm I'm saying to them, oh yes, that's entirely possible. So really think about it. Is this my thought, or is this just coming through me? And I just wonder how far it extends. Like there's a woman living in my apartment complex who's obviously having some sort of mental breakdown, it appears. And I'm actually happy that she's not in a psych ward where they dose her with a lot of drugs that she's she's kind of facing it herself, but sometimes her thought forms that she has that I just hear about through hearsay from third party sound like some thinking that I'm doing, and it definitely has me concerned, because I think of all the twinning going on between your, what they call twinning between your your thoughts and your your consciousness, and this virtual consciousness of you that is being purportedly built to be like your consciousness, so that they can then virtually send thoughts. This is what I think it's going to be, virtually send thoughts to your human body consciousness, and you won't know the that it came from a computer 1000s of miles away, and somebody on some monitor or something, I wonder about that, how many, how much twinning they're doing between people's consciousnesses, just just right now, just just As a sort of ongoing experiment with with different thought forms in different people's heads. So anyway that, I mean, that's how far it's gone, and most people don't, don't know that, and maybe they don't even want to know that, you know, yeah, well, and, you know, I think I, sadly, a lot of that is, that is one of the things that we bring up regularly, whenever we have Dr John Hall on, whenever we had Robert Duncan, people don't. People don't want to know you are correct. As a matter of fact, I can tell you that my partners in my former office, when my second book came out, they're like, This is crazy. You're nuts. You know, This just can't be. This can't, can't exist. Well, then once Havana syndrome came out, then they're like, Oh my God, those, those that book you wrote eight years ago, it all came through, and I said it was true from the get go. Yeah, true now we're just, they're just victimizing some federal employees that are getting a little more of a limelight, which, by the way, for some vindication, as I know initially, they tried to say that, well, it's, you know, it's not microwave, it's not directed energy. It's pesticides, or it's crickets, or it's stress. CIA actually presented an article to Congress saying that it was stress and anxiety. But they actually do have a form through the defense health agency called a BHA form, 244, which is the guidelines on how to examine somebody that's actually complaining of an anomalous health incident, which is what they call targeting in the military. So and it. And it specifically says directed energy, you know, effects and effects from possible microwave energy in it interesting. They're not doing any radio frequency scanning of those people looking for any implants, yeah, and, and, you know, I will, I will say the the couple of people that you have sent me, the the couple of people that have come to me as far as having things scanned, having properties scanned, um, you know, even, even when nothing is found, uh, I have, I have found it such an interesting bridge between the family and the experimenter at that point, and then my follow ups even talking with families to to hear them open up, you know, because, because I come in and show them like, no, look, there's not a gas leak in your house. They're like, there you aren't sitting on top of a uranium deposit somewhere you don't, you don't have any stray electricity like and then we get to the point of scanning for radio frequencies and things like that. But just the fact of somebody has taken their family members so seriously to come out and do this scientifically, changes their mind and changes their perspective on it. Oh, yeah. And thank 56:26

51:16

53:33

56:24

God, that has changed some it used to be that I would almost always get a call from a family member saying, If my son or my daughter comes to see you, you send them to a psychiatrist, the one,

56:36

the one that you initially so long ago, doctor, that's exactly where they had been. Was he had been hospitalized, he had come out and, you know, they were they? Were they? That was the first time that I scanned something in the first time that I saw a family member flip between my visit and follow what, where, where their attitude about it changed, and their attitude toward their family member and toward their experience of the reality that they were having changed. And that meant a lot to me, that that catalyzed me in a wholly different way,

57:21

um, much like the the first

57:24

letter I got from somebody, the first email after the first time I had you on doctor where, well, hey, you changed the name of the show. Yeah, yeah. Quite literally, quite literally, you know, and, and the, that's the thing, is being willing to have the conversation with somebody being willing to understand that these technologies exist. You may, you may think that somebody is absolutely Lulu, everybody, but, uh, I'll give it to you real quick in A and another quote from the good Dr, Robert Duncan about what some of these technologies are, and exactly who uses them and why.

57:29

57:33

 58:04

And this is what the NSA does, the National Security Agency, or No Such Agency, but they've been collecting samples of all voices of all humans throughout the world so they can throw those, you know, like a ventriloquist. And that's the danger of government not truly having oversight. Yeah, we we accept that in war, we did it to some, you know, during Desert Storm, you know, this is all a throw down your weapons, and they believed it. And you can say, well, it causes less blood sugar. But now, if you really want to manipulate a particular target innocent in order to be an information courier or whatever, the CIA does a lot of tricky things, and the disclosures there from the 1950s and 60s. This is the perfect tool to do that, and innocent people and families unfortunately suffered the brunt of something they will never be able to get justice for or even know who's behind it. And that's what sends me. I at least know they'll be angry, they'll feel betrayed all that, but they can get over that with an apology from a president, future president, for what this president's doing, kind of thing. And that's how they all do it. You know, Obama, I'm sorry. We tortured some folks. Well, he didn't stop it. We still are president. Will say down the line, well, I'm sorry. During his administration, we were torturing folks. And it's just the game that's played in politics on the news media and.

 59:59

That is so so sadly, the truth in the case is it, it all gets to be shuffled under board, you know. And like we've said so many times. Dr John Hall, it, it sounds horrible to say, but much like disclosure with UFO, UAP, anything like that, until we get a strangle hold on funding for such things, until we get a strangle hold on the funding for contractors and stuff like that. How are you going to have disclosure until we get a strangle hold on the funding for these kind of programs and the the contractors who are doing them and funding them and using the technology for these nefarious purposes. And what I believe is, as we've said numerous times on this show with Dr Duncan and you dr Hall, that it's basically just a mass swath of a test, you know, and unfortunately, until we get people interested, there won't be a law passed that prevents the experimentation on the American public. There is no law people. Other countries have them, we don't. And that's a pretty remarkable thing to think of, that there is zero law that prevents the government from spraying stuff over your skies just to see if it works, or just to see what it does, or for other means and other purposes. When we fully have laws in place to prevent subliminal advertising, because we know it works, and it's still used. Oh,

 1:01:43

 1:01:44

yeah, absolutely, it's still, it's still fully used. Just just, you can't do it in a flash frame anymore. You can hide it in background images and all kinds of stuff man, but, but you can't just say

You can hide it in background images and all kinds of stuff, man, but, but you can't just, say, drink coke in in one flash frame of of a movie anymore, you know? And it's funny that there are laws against that, because, once again, we know it works, you know.

1:02:11

So there, there's

1:02:13

that peel of the orange that they're fully gonna allow you to see and smell and everything else, but, oh man, the juicy segments of fruit and the seeds underneath, and the things and the orchards that can come from that, you know, it's, it's pretty nefarious, and it's, it's pretty, pretty mind boggling, once you get into it, even in the many years Since I've known Dr Hall and Dr Duncan, the research I've done, and the thing, the the rabbit holes, I've gone down with it. It is, it is massive. And now meeting you, Alana and and talking about the the whole harp and 5g connection and things like that. And we, we've talked with Doctor Hall about the the connection, and the idea of, especially that being able to activate parts of, of things that were there to help fight a pandemic, you know, um, so, yeah, yeah, it's, it's fascinating, the idea of if, if You didn't get them with the news cycle, did you? Did you get them with a needle? Yep,

1:03:26

you know, and the Nano, yeah,

1:03:28

yeah, precisely. So

1:03:29

it's a trifecta of um, either way,

1:03:34

we're going to find a way to find the susceptible people and to make sure that, once again, we don't, you don't have to put a bunch of voices in their head. I think that's a very old school concept. You can bombard them with enough to literally just fog their mind and their brain and keep them from reacting as normal either come election time, what have you you know?

1:03:57

1:04:01

Mm, hmm. Definitely.

1:04:04

So we have a few minutes left, I would like to thank both of y'all, number one, Alana, I would like to thank you for reaching out to to do this episode. It really means a lot. I'm glad that we got a chance to connect in this way, and I'm glad that we all got a chance to sit back and remember our friend tonight, and remember his work in memoriam and and try to pass that on. And yeah, so it's so important now because, because we're having this internet type of relationship, it's not a physical relationship anymore, and people pass and you don't even know for years that they have gone. And you know it's so important to remember these people, because that line between this life and the next life is just not. That thick, you know, it's a pretty thin line and and I want them to know that we definitely appreciate their work and the risks they took. I mean, you know, Duncan did, did a lion's share of making me aware of how remote neuro monitoring works, and that's super, super important. And thank you so much for doing this show.

1:04:32

1:05:25

Oh, absolutely, absolutely doctor,

1:05:28

any, any last bit before, before we went into Yeah, one thing, and I'm fine. I certainly wish Robert Duncan the rest in peace. I know the the last few months in his life were, were kind of turmoil. I mean, with some health issues and and targeting, and he was being severely targeted toward the end. But, I mean, you know, he was a very good friend of mine, and, you know, co Patriot in the fight against this. And I certainly am going to kind of miss bouncing some things off of him. I think I had a he made a pretty big difference in my life, and kind of the way I look at some things through the physics realm of it. And I think I made some difference with him looking at it from the medical aspect. You know, his father was a physician, yeah, and I don't know if he ever told you that, but so he, you know, he was, you know, he was, you know, jokingly. I don't know if you remember, on my Facebook when I had to go do a lecture at Harvard, I went around in front of all of the buildings holding a sign in front of me that said, I'm not Robert Duncan, just, you know, jokingly, you know. So if anybody goes through the pictures on my Facebook page, you'll see that this would have been four or five years ago, but you'll come home, but, but I am gonna, I am gonna miss him as a friend, you know, and as a colleague in the fight against this technology.

1:05:33

 1:06:56

And, yeah, yeah, definitely, yeah. He, he once again, catalyzed me in this show in a different way. And even even whenever you told me of the news, whenever you first found out Doctor Hall The about his death, I told you 110% whatever you need. I'm in, I'm in full throttle, because it's, it's only through these conversations, it's only through talking about this. It's only through bringing it to the light of day that we ever get any answers, you know, and and people called MK, ultra whistle blowers crazy for years, until the church committee hearings, you know, people, people called people crazy for years about, you know, how we got into Vietnam, until we till we found out how we got there and that it was totally faked, you know, so yeah, frequently, until years and decades later that we find out that our crazy uncles and crazy friends were not that crazy, because there are patents for it.

 1:08:15

 1:08:19

Well, in one tidbit I would like to share with any of the target individuals that are happen to be listening, yeah, tonight on the show, if you go to his Facebook page, for those who have it, or His Messenger, you are going to see a green light still on it that looks like he's still accessing his Facebook page. We you and I talked about that. But even after you're gone, if you haven't left control of your page to somebody else, that it will still look like there's somebody getting on it. And another thing there, there is somebody sending out messages claiming to be, you know, his death bot, or something weird like that. But, but it's, it's somebody that obviously is trying to mimic him or pretending to be him. So I just wanted to assure that the targeted community that he is, sadly, yeah, there,

 1:09:10

there are no

 1:09:13

grand conspiracies about his whereabouts or anything like that, folks. Unfortunately,

 1:09:19

I'm so sad to say,

 1:09:22

but he was an amazing individual. He has catalyzed so many people to this cause. Alana, before we let you go, please do share with us. Of course, we'll be adding your books to the curious realm store on our website, but let everybody know where they can go to pick up your books, where they can go to keep up with everything that is a lot of free land.

 1:09:48

Well, the books, I would like it if people would buy the books at a tiny bookstore in a guy's backyard in Seattle, Washington, the route I. Steiner bookstore. He carries everything I've written, every book I've ever written, including the sub Rosa. Sub Rosa America, a deep state history series which is fictional at base, but is really about America since John Kennedy's assassination. He's got everything I've written there, so please, please support him a little teeny weeny bookstore. And then I only have two. I have a site called Elana freeland.com that's a historical site. I no longer really keep it up anymore. It was created by a very creative individual, and because she created it. I'm keeping it up to show people her talent and how, how much work she put into it. And then I have two social media sites, one Facebook site, they're still allowing me, called EMF planetary engineering, you have to ask permission to join. And then my Patreon site for Elana Freeland, that's it for me. Okay, well, thank you so much once again for your time. I would love to have you on again and again. I have thoroughly enjoyed our conversation tonight. Yeah, thank you so much. And John, so great to see you again. See, hear you around with you. You as you as well, glad you could make it on and rest in peace. Robert Duncan, that's right. Take care of Robert peace, yes, brother, until the next great adventure. And thank you so much, guys, I will go ahead and disconnect from y'all now. I'll be sharing links to the show and everything else with you all via social media. So okay, alright, take care. Thank you so much a lot. Bye, bye, bye, bye, once again. Doctor Duncan, such an amazing researcher, such an amazing individual, catalyzed this show in a totally different way. So thank you for all that you have ever done, Doctor while you are online, checking out everything from Alana Freeland, everybody, as well as all the books from Dr John Hall and Dr Robert Duncan on curious realm.com, forward slash store, make sure to stop on by curious research. Curious research.org is where you can get your official copy of the curious research observation and encounter log. When we come back from this quick commercial break, we will be joined by Karen Wilkinson live at last month's Symposium of its strange in San Antonio, talking about her book, stolen seed, evil harvest and the idea of alien abduction, alien embryo implantation and removal. Right after this, you the key to good science is good research. At the heart of good research is a good data set with the field observation and encounter log from curious research, you can easily keep track of your investigative information all in one place, making it easier to review cases and readily see comparisons and contrasts between them, whether out in the woods, watching in a back room, gathering EVPs or using high tech gear to track UFO, UAP activity, this easy to Carry pocket sized scientific data log is the perfect companion for any field researcher. You can find your copy of the curious research field observation

 1:11:08

 1:11:16

 1:11:23

 1:11:31

 1:11:46

1:11:40

1:11:50

1:13:08

1:14:22

You it's been fascinating to me, Karen, since we met, I guess about a year or so ago, when I had you on my show to see your story develop, to see you develop, even with your story and the fact that you you've even come to a different point of acceptance with things than when I had you on my show the first time. Oh, absolutely, definitely.

1:14:51

You know, there was something that you brought up

you know, there was something that you brought up

that I think bears a lot of importance to pay attention to, and that. That's the whole concept of CE five. Raise your hands out there if you're familiar with the CE five protocols. Ce five, just so you know everybody, there's a for many, many years, Doctor, I believe it was Heineck originally came up with the with the CE scale, the the close encounter scale. Basically, you know, Close Encounters of the Third Kind means that you've seen a being things like that. And for those who have had CE three and four experiences where you have been taken aboard craft, where you've actively been abducted, things change in life. And the idea of CE five, I've said regularly on my show. I'm a big believer in physical UFOs. I'm a I'm a huge believer that there is a bipedal hominid creature, call it Bigfoot Sasquatch, whatever you want, roaming the forest of North America and beyond. But I think that there is also something else that is out there that is fully willing to hijack the tropes of our mind for that consent that you were talking about, where, if you're out in the middle of the woods and you're Sasquatch hunting, well, it knows that you're Sasquatch hunting and that you would be perfectly okay with seeing a Sasquatch but if you saw me as I really am, it, it would do A number on you like no other. And it's interesting to me, the idea that now we have CE five, where people, ce five is human initiated contact. That's That's what CE five stands for, is close encounter of the fifth kind, where we have initiated the contact, and that's normally a group of people like us sitting around in a state of mass meditation, inviting a craft to appear to us. And that was something that you brought up, that you you do not abide by this. You do not believe that this is something that should be practiced. I kind of consider it almost like carrying a Ouija board around. You know you could, but should you, you know, where do you come in on the CE five protocols and with how somebody should engage the situation like that? Karen, that's a great question. I personally do not think that CE five is something that anyone should do or mess around with, and because what you're doing is you're inviting in something. You're literally asking, inviting and opening up to invite something in, but you don't know what it is that you are inviting. And the issue with this, too, is if you get something negative, if you have a negative entity then attached to you. You could be bringing that home to your children, your family members, your loved ones, anyone who's ever experienced a haunting of any sort. I mean, I have, I remember going back to my grandmother's house after she passed, going up to her room where she would get ready, and there's a makeup table and a bench, like about that size. And I looked in the room, and the bench moved across the room by itself. I'm like, Nope, I'm out of here. That's it. You know. You know you feel that when it's it's evil, when it's not good, you get, you get that immediate fear. For a reason, little children, babies, they show them pictures of rattlesnakes and bunnies, and they see the rattlesnake, and they jump back, but they see the bunny, and they're like, oh, you know, they you're born with an innate sense of danger, of what's safe and what's not, and it's important to listen to that. But we can be fooled, because that rabbit could be rabid. You don't know, and you don't know what you're going to get. Like I said, the bad guy doesn't come and announce what he's going to do. And you're with that in mind. One of the questions from the audience was in relation to, specifically, the halting of your abductions for a while, regarding faith, things like that, and the fact that things picked back up again, they stopped and they picked back up again. Do you believe that a you can still be abducted anymore? And do you think that people can still be abducted? Oh, absolutely, I could be abducted tomorrow. Anyone here could be it doesn't matter what your faith is, what your background is, what your personal choices are. The only thing that matters is that I when I realized they had the same creator that I did, and I had to call on my Creator to stop it, and that they had to have permission to take me and I could enforce that, then they were like, Oh no, okay, it's over. It just as a religious student and somebody who was a seminarian for the Catholic Church for a while, when you're speaking of that agency, specifically the idea of, I mean, even in the Catholic Church, we still have excommunicated, or not excommunication, but exorcism, the casting out of. Spirits, things like that. Do you do you think that all of these alien species are dark?

 1:17:14

 1:18:46

 1:19:14

 1:19:43

 1:20:07

No, and that's why I don't recommend CE five or things like that, because we don't have the ability to discern between them. I had an encounter after my near death experience in the hospital, where I was coming out of that and I was on the recovery room, and after about four hours, they still hadn't gotten me through recovery, which was highly unusual. I was in so much pain, I was just every time I'd come out of the anesthesia, they'd have to put me back under so I wouldn't have a heart attack or a stroke. And I remember the last time they did is because I woke up and I said, God, please help me. Finally, I had enough strength to just pray, and all sudden, there were these two young men, orderlies at the foot of the bed. They had no tags, no IDs on, just these young orderlies. I remember looking at him going, Oh, you look like you could be two of my boys. You know, they were so sweet. They helped me through. They were they calmed me down. They I don't even remember that they even actually spoke to me, but I was talking to them the whole way up to the room. I get to the room, I grabbed my husband and my daughter in law's hand. I'm like, you have to meet the boys. I would not have made it through without him. And I look up, and they're not there. And I looked at the nurse and the other orderly, and I asked him, I said, Where did the boys go? And she's like, who, honey, who are you talking about? I said, the boys. I've been talking to him all the way up the orderlies that were at the foot of the bed. She's like, Well, honey, we wondered who you were talking to. There was no one else here this whole time. You know, I think those were the good ones, the good angelic beings. I asked for help, and all they did was help. They didn't interfere. They didn't do anything ugly or negative. They did what they were there to do, and then they were gone. And so I do believe that there are both well, and I guess one of the reasons I was asking was, once again, because of that agency, like you said, the idea that because these things were created by the same creator, they had no agency over you without your permission. And that's kind of one of the things that we speak about regularly on the show, is that that a the idea of consent, you know? And hey, you know, you can consent into having a horrible attitude every day. And guess what? You'll probably have bad days pretty regularly because you have consented into that system of negativity, but this is a system that, like you never consented into being taken at five years old. No, not at all, but somebody did, and that's why I think things like the greata Treaty are important, because that is a like a blanket consent, because he's speaking for his country as a president, he can do that, or he's given someone else the authority to speak for the country. So they're looking for any little crack they can get in, to get around, and loopholes in any way they can. I've always found it interesting, as someone who covers a lot of targeted individual things like that on my show, we have laws against subliminal psychology. We have laws against subliminal ads to make sure that they can't put like drink Coke on one frame of let's go out to the lobby like they used to do. They do that because they know it works. But it's odd that we don't actively have a law that prevents the experimentation on the American public Exactly. There's zero law to actively protect any of you from the government experimenting on you. And it's pretty fascinating. Yes, sir.

 1:21:45

 1:22:28

 1:22:52

 1:23:41

Oh, absolutely,

 1:23:47

all of the above. I could feel them before I saw them. Sometimes I could smell them before I felt them. Some of these grays did not have a good smell about them. Some of them had a smell of almost like a dead animal, sulfur urine, kind of combination. It's, yeah, it's hard to describe because, yeah, the only other time I've I've ever smelled anything similar, was when we were in Tennessee, and we stopped at an RV park and our dog wouldn't get out of the RV and we ended up leaving that RV park anyway, thank goodness. But I got the worst feeling, and then I left there, and I someone said, Oh, you're in Bigfoot territory. And I'm like, oh, you know what people describe smelling, yeah, the Bigfoot. And I'm like, that's a really similar to what they smelled like sometimes, but not every time. And you know that that brings up something, especially with numerous species having visited you, things like that. You brought up something earlier that specifically with reference to the reptilian experience that you had, and I wrote it down here. Let me get let me get to it exactly because you you specifically mentioned them being. King and beautiful. And you know, it's it's fascinating, because the stories of reptiles and the connection of reptiles and humanity, and the passing of even, whenever you go into the story of the book of the Garden of Eden and the fact of a snake, gave us the choice right between the Tree of Life, the tree of knowledge.

 1:24:35

1:25:23

And you can be like gods here. Just try this with that shining one aspect. Do you? Do you think that there are good and bad reptilians? I think that there are good and bad of all of them, because what we're talking about is there are fallen and non fallen, they're good and bad. And the ones that were taking me clearly were not the good ones, right? I mean, yeah, but then the experiences I have had, so what we're looking at are just variations of the species that God created, and these happen to be the fallen ones. There are so many different kinds. And, you know, they kind of blur across. We put them in these little categories, reptilian and sectylin, yeah, and Nordic and gray and so and so. But some of them look more like a cross between some of those, and they're all different, different heights, and some look more feminine. Some look more masculine there. I couldn't no two. No two of them ever looked the same, you know? I mean, yeah, so we're looking at a vast array of of creation that was made for specific purposes. And you know, that's, that's kind of the example that I've always given is a, even when it comes to CE five, is, I refuse to believe that a, all species of aliens have our best interest at heart, or that all aliens are evil. I refuse to go to the didactic infrared, ultraviolet. I'll stay right here with the white light. Maybe that's why my show color is purple. It's directly in the middle. But the idea that when it comes to our involvement. Why? One of the questions that was asked by an audience member in our in our online chat was, why the interest in our DNA, if they have technology to travel beyond the stars, to work time and space? Yeah, why us can? Why? Why are we such a linchpin?

1:25:26

1:25:35

1:26:28

1:27:22

That's a great question. You know, we don't know how far they travel, and we don't know where they travel from. I've never been, to my knowledge, to another planet or another solar system or another galaxy. I've been underground. We don't know how far we can be taken in our human bodies. We don't know what their particular bodies are capable of handling in our environment. We don't have a lot of information to work with. We have those of us who have been in their presence, who have not been told anything useful by them. So what we have to go on is that they do want our DNA, but why? Well, what I've seen is that they are trying to create a race of hybrids. Why are they doing this? This is not something new folks. This is something that happened. This is something that started back you mentioned the garden, when the nakash showed up and said, Do you want to be like the gods, the little g gods, the sons of God, the beneha Elohim. These are the angels. The angelic beings also were called bene Elohim, and some of them fell. And those that fell are the ones that I believe are interfering with us now in ways that we don't want. And after that fall, you get to Genesis 315 where the pre incarnate Jesus says, in the garden, okay, your seed will be at enmity with the seed of the woman. You will bruise his head and he will crush your you will bruise His heel, and he will crush your head. This is setting up a seed war. This is the whole biblical narrative, right there, folks. This is it. From there. You get Genesis six, where the sons of God saw that the daughters of men were beautiful, and they came and took of them wives of all who they chose. And these became the mighty men of old, the gibberim, the Giants. You all hear about the giant bones and all those things that have been found. I mean, I grew up knowing those things were there. Grew up in Ohio, around the mounds. We knew that those bones were there. We knew the Smithsonian and the British Museum took them. That's what we're talking about. And then when the flood happened, of the time of Noah, because there was so much corruption of the bloodline from that seed war that starts there, and they're corrupting the human bloodline. But why are they doing it? Why do they want our DNA? Why are they corrupting the bloodline? They wanted to stop Jesus from being born. It was just that simple, and they wanted to take back this planet who was here before we were Where did all. These giant pyramids and all these things come from who built them? We still can't build them today, and we don't know, and everyone's got all these fanciful ideas, but we weren't the first ones here, and they want it back. Yeah, they want their birth right back to this planet. This is conjecture on my part, but it's based on a lot of fact, and not just the Christian Bible, but on almost every civilization across the entire world and every continent has stories about these very same things. They've just got different words for different things and different names for different things. But we're talking about the same thing. Everyone's got a flood story. Everyone's got giant stories. You know? You all know Greek mythology and all that same thing. Yeah. And so since that point in time, it's been a seed world, and to this day, they still want our DNA. After the flood, something happened, and I write about this, something changed, and they weren't able to do things the same way that they were before. And
